SLAIN, NOT KIDNAPED

Body of Alma Kellner Found.

Plumber Makes Grewsome Discovery in School Cellar Near Her Home.

Almost Every Bone Broken and Lime Used to Conceal Crime.

Janitor, Who Disappeared Soon After Girl Was Lost, Is Sought by Police.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 30.—Mrs. Joseph Wendling was arrested tonight, charged with being an accessory to the murder of Alma Kellner, whose mutilated body was found this morning in a cistern in one of the parochial buildings of St. John's Catholic Church.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The body of Alma Kellner was found today in the cellar of St. Johns' Parochial School, five blocks from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Kellner.

An examination showed that the child had come to her death at the hands of some fiendish murderer, who had taken the body into the cellar through a trap-door after wrapping it up in the carpet.

Almost every bone in the body had been broken, as well as the head. Part of the skull and limbs had been seared as though they had come into contact with fire and there were evidences of quicklime having been applied to the body.

The finding of the body of the little girl, 8 years old, who never returned to her home after leaving to attend mass at 9:45 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, December 8, clears the link of the mystery only to lead to another, which may prove even more baffling than did the disappearance of the child. This second link is to find the murderer.

SEEK FUGITIVE JANITOR.

Joseph Wendling, aged 27, who was janitor of St. John's Roman Catholic Church at the time Alma Kellner disappeared, is a person whom the police of Louisville and the entire world will seek to find. It is suspected that he has some knowledge of the crime. Wendling disappeared from this city in January, leaving his wife, who is housemaid for Father George Schumann, pastor of St. John's, without so much as a word.

It is alleged that the carpet which was wrapped around the body of Alma belonged to Wendling, and the police have found clothing of his which they believe is blood-stained. Microscopic and chemical examination will be made of the clothing. Tonight it is believed that the identification of the body as that of Alma Kellner has been made complete. On account of the decomposed state of the remains this was at first difficult; however, strands of hair which have been washed, are declared to be the same tint as little Alma's hair, and a shoe, the same size as that worn by the little girl, adds to the identification.

PLUMBER FINDS BODY.

The body was found by Richard B. Sweet, a plumber, who was pumping water out of the cellar. He was engaged in scooping up mud on the floor when his spade struck a bundle. This bundle contained the remains of the child. The ground underneath the body had been scooped out to a depth of six inches, making a shallow grave.

Frank Fehr, a wealthy relative of the girl, who had been notified by the police, was among the first to arrive on

BALL PLAYER SEEKS DEATH.

Jumps to Watery Grave After Friends Had Tried to Prevent.
Had Been Drinking.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Overcome by a peculiar desire to jump overboard, yet restrained by friends for about three hours, Tony Silva, a well-known, young, amateur baseball player, managed to break away from those who restrained him and jumped into the Stockton channel from a launch, which carried the Holt baseball team from Stockton to Isleton and back.

The party had a most enjoyable outing, but Silva, who had been drinking quite freely after the game, declared he was going to drown himself. Friends restrained him until the launch was nearing the landing here late last night.

The members of the party believed Silva had forgotten his peculiar desire and everyone was getting ready to land when they heard a splash and saw the young man swimming toward shore. The machinery in the launch had been stopped and it was with difficulty that the boat was again set in motion. Silva had disappeared and while his body was brought to the surface inside of ten minutes and rushed to the Emergency Hospital it was impossible to resuscitate him.

OH, YOU FAIR SEX!

BROWN EYES TO AUTO DRIVER.

MERE MAN WITH EITHER HAS CHANCE.

Thirty-one Barnard College Graduates Confide Fondness for Men of Profession Who Have Taste and Sense of Humor in Ideal Husband Summary Which Has Wide Range.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Barnard College girls want to marry a man:

With a sense of humor.
With brown hair and brown eyes.
Who is six feet tall.
Who wears a necktie to match his eyes.
Who has $3000 a year and is prosperous.
Who smokes, say eight girls, who does not smoke, say thirty-one girls.
By occupation, a chauffeur, say two girls, a stage manager, says one girl, a professional man, say thirty-one girls, anything but an undertaker, says one girl.

Barnard college girls are rather particular about the men they wish to marry, according to a vote recently taken and announced today at the class day of the graduating class of 1910, held in the college gymnasium. Few men can hope to qualify, as the accompanying tabulated list shows a range of requirements running from brown eyes to being a chauffeur.

The thought of matrimony seemed to be in the air. According to the vote two girls are already engaged, nine are hopeful, four refuse indignantly to answer, nine eschew the world and marriage, one declines marriage to go on the stage, and four claim marriage their highest ambition. But it is understood that only men with brown eyes and a sense of humor need apply.

The average height of the class is five feet three inches. The average weight 130 pounds and the average size of shoe is 4 1-2. As a whole the class disapproved of the suffragette movement. Some girls say the vote on this question, however, was padded.

ACTRESS LEASES RENO HOME.

Virginia Harned Sothern Leaves for San Francisco to Fill Engagement.
Will Return for Divorce.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After leasing one of the most beautiful residences in the city, on Mill street, which has become known as "Divorce Row," because of the fact that fully twenty-five members of the local divorce colony reside on that thoroughfare, within a distance of three blocks, and adding many features to its elaborate furnishings, Virginia Harned Sothern and her companion, Miss Gordon, departed last night for San Francisco, where her six-weeks' engagement will open on June 6.

Mrs. Sothern's name has become known as the scene of frequent entertainments. At nearly every performance in the local theater, the well-known actress sat in a conspicuous box, the cynosure of all eyes.

At the completion of her present engagement she will return to Reno to complete her enforced legal residence, before she can secure the divorce refused her months ago.

AFTER THE JOBBERS.

STEEL INDUSTRY IN THROES OF BIG WAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The biggest fight of years in the steel industry is on, in an attempt by the United States Steel Corporation to drive the iron and steel jobbers of the country out of business.

The jobbers are backed by the Republic Iron and Steel Company, the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company and other large independent interests.

Preparations for the fight were inaugurated two years ago by the steel corporation. The steel corporation, through its subsidiaries, has inaugurated a plan which, it is believed, will eventually put out of business at least a large majority of the iron and steel jobbers of the country.

The steel corporation proposes to deal directly with small consumers. The policy of refusing to deal with steel brokers was inaugurated by the Carnegie Steel Company previous to the steel corporation merger.

The Carnegie Steel Company, a subsidiary, is completing a large warehouse in Pittsburgh and will handle at retail there all sorts of finished products except a few heavy tonnage lines. Two years ago such a warehouse was completed at Waverly, N. J.

It was said then, as it is now, in regard to the Pittsburgh warehouse, that it was merely for accommodating the retail trade, because jobbers failed to keep full stocks and were often unable to fill orders promptly.

Similar depots are also being arranged for at St. Louis and New Orleans by the American Steel and Wire Company, another subsidiary concern.

YOUTH'S SINGULAR ESCAPE.

Chief Artery Severed by Electric Shock, Which Sears Ends, Saving His Life.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Percy Cosgrove, 18 years old, lost his balance and fell over the edge of the platform of the Brooklyn "L" at Chauncey street, rolled over and struck the third rail just as a train came along. Cosgrove was caught on the shoe of the rail and lay with his hands clutching the deadly piece of steel while the heavy charge of electricity shot through his right leg, near the thigh, which rested against the rail. The current was so strong that the flesh was burned to the bone; the femoral artery, which is the chief artery of the thigh, being severed as with a knife. Ordinarily this would have caused the victim to bleed to death, but miraculously as it may see, the death-dealing electricity acted as the man's savior, for it seared the wound thoroughly, just as wounds were seared in the early days of surgery, before the science of ligature was introduced. This prevented the flow of blood. Dr. S. A. Lewis, who is in charge of the case, said today that there is a good chance for him to pull through.

BY APPOINTMENT.

ROOT CALLS ON COL. ROOSEVELT.

HAVE LONG TALK AT HOME OF AMBASSADOR REID.

Former President Later Observes His "Usual Reticence" When Asked What Conversation Was About—Rough Rider Takes Tea With Mrs. Humphry Ward.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, May 30.—President Roosevelt had an opportunity today to hear something of affairs in the United States. By appointment, he met Senator Elihu Root, who is passing through London on his way to The Hague.

Mr. Roosevelt and his former Secretary of State had a long talk at Ambassador Reid's residence. Asked later what interesting subjects kept them together for so long a time, Mr. Roosevelt laughingly replied:

"This is one of the cases in which I must observe my usual reticence."

Upon his arrival in Europe, Mr. Roosevelt wrote to Senator Root, asking the Senator to meet him. Acceptance of this invitation only came last night by wireless from the steamer Lapland, on which Mr. Root was traveling.

Mr. Roosevelt, early this evening, made a call on Mrs. Humphry Ward, with whom he took tea. He dined with Lord Charles Beresford, whose guests included many prominent citizens of the United States.

Ambassador Reid was present, as were Admiral Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, Admiral Sir Gerard Henry Noel, Vice-Admiral Sir Hedworth Lambton, Lord Roberts, Lord Alverstone and Lord Rothschild.

DEAF-SEATED.

SAY BIG SENSATIONS ARE STILL TO COME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Deneen today announced his abandonment of preparations to make a State-wide campaign against the Republican legislators who bolted the party caucuses at Springfield last year and lined up in a bi-partisan commission to elect Edward W. Shurtleff Speaker of the House and William Lorimer United States Senator.

The reason given for Gov. Deneen's change of political campaign is that he does not wish to do anything that will detract attention from what he considers the main issue—the Senatorial bribery question. He believes Senator Lorimer's speech in the Senate was designed to provoke a political controversy which would divide the attention with the investigations into alleged corruption.

MORE PREDICTED.

High State officials intimated today that the surface only had been scratched in the legislative bribery scandal and that the big sensations are yet to come.

Men have confessed that they received from $700 to $900 from the "jackpot." This, it is said, was a fund for general corruption, and there is anxiety to know how large this fund was, who contributed it, what they got for their money and who shared in the loot.

That it must have been an enormous fund is plain to every one, but so far there is no clear hint of what various uses it was put to. More than forty Democrats voted for Lorimer and it is desired to know how many of them had been "persuaded." Aside from the Lorimer wrangle, however, an immense fund must have been disbursed.

BRODERICK IN CUSTODY.

State Senator John Broderick, under indictment on a charge of paying $2500 to D. W. Holstlaw, another Senator, to vote for Lorimer, reached Springfield tonight in the custody of a deputy sheriff from Sangamon county.

On the way down to the capital Broderick admitted on the train that Holstlaw came to Chicago about a year ago to see him and that the two met in Broderick's saloon.

State's Attorney Burke considers this important confirmatory evidence as to the truth of the Holstlaw confession although Broderick denies he paid Holstlaw or anybody else any money to vote for Lorimer.

For the next few days the important disclosures in the bribery scandal are expected to develop in Springfield. Prosecutor Burke went from Springfield to the sick bed of Senator Holstlaw in Iuka today to check up on some of the details of the Senator's confession. He hopes to procure further admissions from the self-confessed banker.

INTEREST IN PEMBERTON.

Broderick, Senator Pemberton and Representative Clark appeared before Judge Creighton in Springfield today and gave bonds. Senator Pemberton, who is under indictment in connection with the deal for furniture for the State House, is the center of much anxious interest. If he should ask to

ARRESTED IN EAST.

YOUTH OF PASADENA CLIPS GIRL'S BRAID.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Seward Churchyard Simons, Harvard 1911, after competing in the Knights of St. Finbar games, today, is said by the police to have cut four inches of hair from the long braid of Miss Lillian Santangelo of Somerville. He was arrested for assault and battery and later bailed out in the sum of $500.

Simons, the police say, stated that he was at times possessed with an unconquerable desire to cut whiskers or hair, and that he was unable to resist the impulse when he saw the long, black braid in front of him. Finally, against his judgment, he took out a pair of scissors and cut off the hair.

Simons, who comes from Pasadena, Cal., is the son of wealthy parents and has distinguished himself in athletics, being a member of the Harvard relay team. He lives in Dana Hall.

Miss Santangelo is 16, and Simons is 20 years of age.

During the ride in the patrol wagon to the Police Station, Simons denied his guilt, but when the pair of shears he is alleged to have used were produced he begged Miss Santangelo not to prosecute him, offering her a large sum of money that he produced. The girl refused the money.

Four of Simons's friends rushed to the station, arranged for bail, and secured a lawyer to defend him tomorrow.

At the time of the occurrence, Miss Santangelo and her sister, with a friend, Frank Raymond, were witnessing the athletic meet and noticed Simons seat himself behind them after he had competed in one of the relay races.

"I was watching the runners," said Miss Santangelo, "when I felt some one tugging at my braid. I thought no more of it, until I felt someone pull it a second time. Then I grasped the braid and threw it around in front of me and saw that the ribbon was gone and that four inches of the hair had been snapped off.

"My sister told me to keep an eye on the young man behind me until she could get a policeman.

EXPERIENCE.

TASTE OF POVERTY.

Young Gould Feels Its Sting.

Heir to Millions Picked Up Footsore, Hungry and Dead Broke.

Runs Away from School to Go Home Because He's Lonesome.

Sleeps in a Cheap Lodging-House With Negroes and Vermin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW BRITAIN (Conn.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Edwin Gould, Jr., 16 years of age, eldest son of Edwin Gould of New York, a grandson of Jay Gould and one of the heirs to a fortune of $15,000,000, was picked up on Main street here at 1:20 this morning by Policeman Quinn. The boy was hungry, disheartened and foot-sore.

He ran away from Pomfret School, Pomfret Center, Conn., last week with less than a dollar in his pocket, spent the money for food and lodging and when found here was penniless. He says that on Saturday night in Hartford, he slept in a fifteen-cent lodging for hours, sharing a room with negroes and suffering torture from vermin.

WAS LONESOME.

Young Gould had been at the school for three months. He was oppressed by the lonesomeness of Pomfret Center and disappeared because his parents had written him that they would be unable to visit him and spend Sunday and Memorial Day in his company.

As he had never before in his life taken a step of his own responsibility, and knew absolutely nothing about taking care of himself, he had a pretty hard time on his fifty-mile tramp.

It was his intention, when he left Pomfret Center, to walk to New York. His idea of the distance was vague. He thought he could cover the journey in a day.

His father was notified of his absence from school on Saturday and there has been an extensive, but quiet search for him.

When picked up here young Gould asked that his maternal grandmother, Mrs. George F. Shrady, be notified of his plight and asked to come and get him. He did not appear to be anxious to meet his father just at that time.

HIS STORY.

"I had been pretty lively in New York," the runaway told the New Britain policeman, after he had surrounded a hearty breakfast this morning, "and they sent me up to Pomfret Center, because it is a quiet place. I should say it was a quiet place. Maybe its all right for some boys who want to study, but it is a great change from New York."

"I got to the school three months ago. When the weather got fine I couldn't be contented without my father and mother over Sunday and Decoration Day, but I got a letter Friday saying that none of my folks could get away, so I decided to skip.

"I had only seventy cents and I was afraid to ask for money for fear of arousing suspicion. I left the school late Friday afternoon with the intention of walking to New York. I knew nothing of the distance but figured I could eat all I wanted on the way with the seventy cents I had.

"On Friday night I got to Wallingford. I stopped at a cheap hotel there. Leaving there early Saturday morning I inquired my way along the road until I got to Hartford. In Hartford I spent all the money I had left except fifteen cents for food. I slept Saturday in a fifteen-cent lodging-house, but did not rest very well because the bed wasn't clean and there were negroes asleep in the room.

"I didn't think Hartford was so far from New York, but I soon found out after leaving there that I was up against a stiff proposition. I got lost and walked all over the country and late last night I reached here. I didn't have any idea where I was and when a policeman talked to me I was glad to give myself up and call everything off.

FARMER JEERS HIM.

"I asked a farmer on Sunday evening for fifty cents. I told him I was the grandson of Jay Gould and that he would be amply repaid. All I got was a volley of jeers. The farmer did not believe me and drove me away. Nobody would believe me. They all said I was a tramp."

Young Gould was noticed by a policeman at 1:30 o'clock this morning prowling along the main street of New Britain. The boy stopped in front of a bakery window and the policeman, after watching him awhile, spoke to him.

"I am Edwin Gould, Jr., of New York," said the runaway, "Jay Gould was my grandfather. If you'll get me something to eat and a place to sleep I'll repay you as soon as I reach my home."

The policeman, incredulous, took the lad to the Station House. There he succeeded in convincing the police authorities that he was really a Gould.

KANSAS CITY FIRE.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) May 30.—Fire today destroyed the Halsell building, a five-story brick structure, with a loss estimated at $150,000.

LIKE A BIRD.

HOW IT FEELS TO FLY HIGH.

Curtiss Too Busy to Have Sensations.

Machine Takes Sudden Plunge Like Elevator.

Relief When He Passes Over City Limits.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 30.—Glenn H. Curtiss, who won the New York World's $10,000 prize, Sunday, for his flight from Albany to New York, tells his own story of the flight as follows:

"My feelings at the start? All I wanted or thought of at the moment, was to get started at the most favorable time. We had taken every possible precaution, and once started, I found myself going well and flying high and strong. I rose immediately to a height of about 700 feet, and kept at that average most of the way. It's a hard thing to tell just what height you are traveling at. I could tell much better from the ground than from above.

"Presently I found a wire vibrating. It was supporting one of the controls and if it had broken, as might well have happened through friction in vibration, the consequences might have been disastrous. However, I watched it closely, and it held out.

TOO BUSY FOR SENSATIONS.

"My sensations in flying so high and over the water? Well, I don't know just what my sensations were. I was too busy to have any. At Poughkeepsie I was a little afraid that in landing I might misjudge my distance. Landing from such a height is quite a stunt, and, remember, I was going fifty miles an hour. I had to get very close to the ground before shutting off the power, when a nasty bump might be disastrous, and if I were to shut off the power too high up, I might get a nasty drop and ruin the machine. So it is a ticklish matter that takes up all a man's energy and attention.

"One thing I noticed particularly. The engine I have has no muffler, and it makes so much noise that I couldn't hear the whistles blowing, though I could see the steam. When I landed at Poughkeepsie I was deaf, or nearly so, for a while, and had a great humming and buzzing in my ears.

"At Storm King, where I had been warned of treacherous air currents, I was nearly upset. Without warning, my machine took a sudden plunge downward and sideward. I dropped with her thirty or forty feet, and I assure you it is not a pleasant sensation. It's just like dropping that far in an elevator shaft. By quick effort I managed to regain my equilibrium and dropped to a lower level.

ANXIOUS ABOUT OIL.

"About the time I passed West Point I began to experience some anxiety about my supply of lubricating oil. My indicator showed the oil to be falling in the tank, and as I proceeded the gauge sank lower and lower with astonishing rapidity.

"By the time I reached Yonkers my oil tank was practically empty. The automatic engine pump that supplies it seemed to be working overtime, and I had found it unnecessary to use the foot pump for a little while. I had hoped to go right on to Governor's Island, but then the question arose, can I reach New York at all? Lubricating oil is essential to these high-powered engines, just as essential as gasoline.

"It was with a sense of relief that I found myself passing over the city limits, for I knew then that I had won the prize.

"The landing at Spuytenduyvil was an unusual one, for there was but a short slope and I had to jump out of the machine and grip her to prevent her running back down into the creek. I got some lubricating oil from an automobile and before much of a crowd could gather I was ready to start again.

Governor's Island was my destination and I saw no reason for not making it. I found a small plate on top of the slope I had alighted upon, and got the machine up there, and got her along until she went over the edge and rose in the air after a drop of several feet.

STARTING PROBLEM.

"And right here let me say that this experience shows the possibilities of starting an aeroplane. With my machine, light as it is, I have to get up a speed of forty-five miles an hour before she will rise. Now it is hard to find a spot where one can run along on the level for the necessary distance, and that was my difficulty in finding a suitable landing place at Poughkeepsie. But I showed by the start at Spuytenduyvil that one can get away without trouble from a small plateau if there is a drop at the edge. Thus one takes the ascending rise easily, on the wing as it were. I hoped I might be able to start from the top of a tall building that way, or a prepared plateau at any rate. But that is mere conjecture, except that my experience opened my eyes to the possibilities.

Down towards the Statue of Liberty some currents of air struck me which required all my energy in manipulating the controls, but I got safely past that, and then, after the hill sides, the bluff highlands, the tree-covered farms, at Poughkeepsie, I can assure you the big sandy place at Governor's Island looked very welcome.

"I felt relieved and glad that I went over. I wasn't the least bit excited."

Mr. Curtiss found no idle moments during the day and when he was not busy reading congratulatory telegrams and receiving visitors, he applied himself to cleaning up his accumulated correspondence.

Curtiss made arrangements today to pack the biplane for shipment to Hammondsport.

First Photographs of King's Funeral to Reach Los Angeles.

In view of The Times' great beat in connection with the exclusive photographs of the King's funeral Tuesday, May 17, in London, it is interesting to know just how they were secured and how The Times secured them first in Los Angeles. As soon as the pictures were taken and prints secured, they were rushed by special messenger to Southampton, placed on board the steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm. The New York Herald's dispatch boat Owle steamed outside the harbor and met the steamer. The Owlet by special arrangement with the Collector of the Port of New York Loeb, had Acting Deputy Collector Max Szabo, Inspector John W. Jeffry and Appraiser W. C. McKenzie aboard, and through the courtesy of Dr. Doty, Health Officer, the pictures transferred, examined, appraised in two minutes' time. The Owlet then proceeded to the Battery, whence the photographs were rushed by taxi to the train and put aboard the fast mail for Los Angeles.

Aëronautic Society, the aviation meeting of which had been originally fixed for Milan from September 24 to October 2.

A fifteen days' interval between the two meetings had been arranged in order that the three most successful aviators from the meeting at Milan might send their aëroplanes to New York to take part in the competition on Long Island. However, through neglect or through rivalry among the different Italian societies, none of them has paid the American entrance fees, the limit having expired on May 1, the Aëro Club of America thought there was no further need of the two weeks' interval and desired to advance the date of the Long Island meeting because the weather would probably be more favorable.

The Italian Aëronautic Society, however, refused the necessary consent on the ground that, if from the end of the Milan meeting to the beginning of that on Long Island, there is not sufficient time to transport aëroplanes from Italy to America several aviators might refuse to participate in the Milan meeting in order to be able to take part in that on Long Island.

AN INSPIRATION AT LONG ISLAND COURSE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MINEOLA (L. I.) May 30.—The news of Glenn H. Curtiss's successful flight from Albany to New York yesterday was received with great enthusiasm by the colony of aviators practicing daily on the Aëro Club's flying grounds here.

Clifford B. Harmon said he would himself try to do the same thing before the summer is over.

Capt. Thomas S. Baldwin said: "The flight which Curtiss made down the Hudson between those high hills is the greatest feat that ever has been attempted in aëronautics and will stand as a record for a long time."

BISHOP RECEIVES AVIATOR'S MESSAGE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 30.—Cortlandt Bishop, president of the Aëro Club of America, who is now abroad making arrangements for the attendance of foreign aviators at the big meeting in this country during the autumn, heard the news of Glenn H. Curtiss's flight, in a brief cablegram from the modest aviator. It was one of a number of messages sent by Curtiss to friends on both sides of the water, and said:

"Pleased to announce my successful flight Albany to New York, winning world's prize."

NAMES SUM FOR INTER-CITY FLIGHT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 30.—Charles K. Hamilton, the aviator, who came here from Florida last Saturday to try for the prize which Glenn H. Curtiss captured yesterday, has offered to subscribe $2000 toward a prize of perhaps $25,000 or more for a flight between New York and Chicago.

Hamilton believes that Curtiss' achievement is the beginning of a great development of aviation in America.

"Within sixty days," he says, "feats will be performed that will make the Curtiss flight look simple. I am glad Curtiss got the prize. But really, it was easy money.

"Next we should have a prize of generous size for a really difficult night, such as between New York and Chicago. That is a distance of about 950 miles. I would limit the time to thirty-six hours, and the number of stops to seven. It can be done, but it will be a test for both aviator and machine.

"Of course it is more spectacular to fly from town to town than to glide around in a circle for an equal distance, but it is really no more difficult."

AERO CLUB PRESIDENT SEES FLIERS ABROAD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cortland F. Bishop, president of the Aëro Club of America, and Mrs. Bishop, have been spending a few days in Rome on their way to Verona to be present during Aviation Week there. They have made several excursions, one of which involved crossing the Apennines four times; but they did this prosaically in an automobile, not in an aëroplane.

The scenery and roads in the Abruzzi region, which they penetrated, they found to be delightful; indeed, the whole district can be compared to Switzerland, with the difference, however, that there are no accommodations in which tourists may be comfortable.

Mr. Bishop had some negotiations on behalf of the Aëro Club of America, with the Italian Aëronautic Society. He wanted to arrange that the international aviation meeting on Long Island, which was to last from October 18 to November 2, should take place sooner. The change of date depends on the consent of the Italian go before the grand jury to make a statement, it is expected he will furnish sensational clews for the State's Attorney to work on. In Springfield there are reports that enormous pressure has been brought upon Senator Pemberton not to volunteer himself as a witness before the jury.

Representatives McMackin and McCullom, from the Forty-second Senatorial District, will appear before the grand jury as witnesses tomorrow. It is said Senator Holstlaw in his confession suggested the line of questioning to which these two witnesses will be subjected.

Senator Holstlaw today sold out his entire banking interests in Iuka.

THREE LEGISLATORS PUT UP THEIR BONDS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) May 30.—State Senators John Broderick of Chicago and Stanton C. Pemberton of Oakland, with Representative Joseph S. Clark of Vandalia, accused in the recent confession of Senator D. W. Holstlaw, appeared before Judge Creighton in the Circuit Court late today and gave bonds.

The bond of Broderick was fixed at $10,000, and the bonds of Clark and Pemberton at $5000 each.

After the bonds were signed and the three legislators were at liberty, they hastened from the Courthouse. Under the advice of their counsel, they contented themselves with asserting that they were innocent.

The activities of the grand jury are scheduled to resume tomorrow afternoon, when the arrival of Representative Charles L. McMackin of Salem, Republican, and Representative Harvey D. McCullom, Democrat, is expected. Both McMackin and McCullom voted for Lorimer.

Another attempt to break down the repeated denials of A. B. Johnston, of the Johnston-Hatcher Company, of Springfield, the concern which secured the State House furniture contract, is scheduled to be made tomorrow. Hitherto Johnston has denied he had knowledge of any "graft" going to the committee of the Forty-sixth General Assembly, that contracted for the furniture.

Holstlaw, in his confession, declared Johnston agreed to pay him $1500 for voting to give the contract to the Johnston-Hatcher Company, and that a smaller sum was to be paid by Johnston to Senator Pemberton and Representative Clark, who also voted for the Johnston contract.

Association Urges Passage of Laws Aimed at Theatrical "Time" Monopoly.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 30.—The directors of the National Theater Owners' Association here have adopted a resolution urging the passage of laws to "insure perfect freedom in the booking of attractions for all existing theaters or new theaters that may be constructed."

Each representative of the association is to ask the State Legislature in his district to pass a law similar to the Texas and Missouri anti-trust law which compels the proprietors of theaters to show their books to producing managers and to book any attractions for time that is available on their books.

John Cort, president of the association, says he has certain assurance that such a bill will be passed in several States of the West and Middle West.

FIRES THREATEN FORESTS.

WINNIPEG (Man.) May 30.—Forest fires now raging around Lesser Slave Lake, in the Peace River country, have caused losses of millions of dollars and unless the fires are soon under control the fir timber districts of that region will be destroyed.

CARS MEET IN DEATH CRASH.

Motorman Killed and Many Passengers Injured.

Head-on Collision on Oakland Interurban Line.

Many Legs Broken When Cars Telescope.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, May 30.—As the result of a head-on collision between two street cars of the California Electric Railway near Leona Heights today, C. A. Christenson, motorman of one of the cars, is dead, and fifty passengers suffered injuries which may result fatally in several cases.

The collision occurred on a steep grade at a sharp turn in the road. Believing that he had a clear track, the motorman of the inbound car was coming down the grade at a high rate of speed, when an outbound car, loaded with a picnic party, crashed into it head on. Half of each car was telescoped by the impact, and the outbound car, out of the control of its fatally injured motorman, went hurtling back down the track, scattering the wounded victims along the right of way.

The picnic party was planned in honor of a newly-engaged couple, and was composed mainly of women and children. The prospective bridal pair were not seriously injured.

By the telescoping of the seats in the cars, many of the passengers sustained serious injuries about the legs. A number proved so serious that amputations will be necessary. Both legs of the dead motorman were so badly crushed that amputation was resorted to, but too late to save his life. The following is a partial list of the injured:

LIST OF INJURED.

Mrs. Leland B. Graham, Oakland, face badly cut, internal injuries.

Mrs. F. W. Graham, Mrs. L. B. Graham's mother, arm and shoulder badly hurt. Maud Roth Rock, Berkeley, leg broken.

Ed Swindell, Berkeley, arm broken and internal injuries.

Margaret Reynolds, San Francisco, internal injuries, badly bruised.

Ruth McArthur, Oakland, cut about the face and body.

Raymond Olson, Berkeley, badly cut and bruised.

Miss Lilly Paddock, Oakland, both hips fractured.

Mrs. Frisendahl, Oakland, badly hurt.

Miss Frisendahl, Oakland, skull fractured.

Miss Jennie Sharp, Oakland, ribs broken.

Mabel Hoffman, Alameda, badly bruised.

George Goldspring, Oakland, 9 years old, foot cut off and leg broken.

Sam Goldspring, aged 16, shoulder badly wrenched.

Annie Goldspring, badly cut on chest and internal injuries.

William Holmes, electrician, Oakland, leg broken.

Charles H. Langridge, Oakland, son of F. W. Langridge, arm broken and badly cut.

Carey Parker, Oakland, both ankles sprained and badly cut.

Lois Patterson, 7 years old, East Oakland, wrist sprained and badly bruised.

Gus Audeberg, 12 years old, both legs crushed.

Irvin Grott, 15 years, Berkeley, leg cut off; arms injured.

Harold Hall, 16 years, Oakland, both feet amputated.

Orville Lewis, Berkeley, 17 years, both feet crushed.

J. J. Jonstott, San Francisco; ribs broken, internal injuries, fractured skull; may die.

Sophie Anderson, 7 years old, Oakland, right leg crushed, abrasions of both hands.

BLAME FOR WRECK.

The location of the wreck is nine miles from the center of this city and some trouble was experienced in providing proper hospital facilities for the injured but soon all of the available ambulances were summoned and the victims were removed as rapidly as possible to private and public hospitals.

The blame for the accident is generally laid on the inbound car, which, behind time, was speeding for the switch at the Belleview curve, where the cars came together.

The crash, as the cars struck, attracted a crowd of residents of the neighborhood and they assisted in removing the injured from the wreckage. The victims on the outbound car were thrown to the side of the track as the wrecked coach careened wildly down the grade for half a mile before it stopped at the foot of the grade.

The scene about the wreck was heartrending, particularly so because of the number of painfully injured children and women.

WANT DEPOT RESTORED.

Chinese Boycott Probably Inspired by Humiliating Entrance Examinations at Port.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—Local Chinese are very reticent concerning the opening of a general boycott against American goods. None of the powerful Six Companies officials will discuss the movement but it is learned that it had its origin in China and not here. The organizers are said to be well to do Chinese who have been refused original admission or who have been sent back on attempting to reenter the United States after previous residence.

Another source of complaint seems to be the rigid system of examinations of Chinese entrants at this port. Wealthy local merchants on re-entrance after visits to China are said to have complained bitterly of these minute physical examinations, particularly the new "tissue test" to determine age and general condition of health.

The general opinion of those in touch with the business world is that the movement is primarily inspired to bring about the restoration to this city of the Chinese immigration detention depot which was recently removed to Angel Island and to effect an abatement of the physical examination which the Chinese claim to be both debasing and humiliating.

DRAMATIC SPEECH FINIS.

SPEAKER DIES AT CLOSE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

VACAVILLE, May 30.—Just as he had finished a speech, John Bassford, one of the most widely-known fruit growers and Republican politicians in this part of the State, dropped dead at Odd Fellows meeting Saturday night. The Vacaville Lodge had burned its mortgage, and the address was delivered by Bassford. As he concluded, he started to sit down, saying to a friend who sat near, "I think I am going to faint," and fell over dead. He was 59 years of age, and was a member of the assembly from Solano county during the thirty-first Legislature. He leaves a widow, several daughters, two sisters and four brothers.

PEONS ARE ON STRIKE.

WANTED MORE MONEY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The peon laborers, who have been working on the extension of the Central California Traction Company road, between Stockton and Sacramento, went on a strike this morning. The crew assembled at the car barn this morning, when one of the crowd stepped out and notified T. A. Perriman, general foreman, that all the men demanded a raise of twenty-five cents per day, or $2, they having been paid $1.75 a day.

The demand was referred to Manager Miller, who refused to consider the proposition. The men then requested their time but on being informed that they would get their money on the regular weekly pay day they threatened violence. One peon said he would beat up the foreman, but the men finally left the scene muttering. Trouble is anticipated.

The officials of the road say construction will not be delayed materially by the strike as other men will be secured.

IDENTITY DETERMINED.

JAP HANGS HIMSELF.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YREKA, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It has been determined by Coroner T. B. Davidson that the dead body found hanging by the neck in a tree near Ager, late Saturday night, was that of a Japanese who pumped from a car window near Ager last Monday. He was suffering from dementia and was being taken North by two of his countrymen. While passing Ager he became uncontrolable and sprang from a window of the car. The train was stopped and search was unavailingly made for the man. Investigation by the coroner and developments at the inquest indicated that the crazed man must have committed suicide by hanging shortly after his sensational escape.

ALASKANS FOR QUARANTINE.

BELIEVED TO BE LEPERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A cable from Cordovia, Alaska, says that Dr. W. H. Romg in charge of the natives of Southern Alaska, left there last week for Valdez, where he will accompany United States Marshal Sullivan to Cook Inlet and make arrangements for the quarantine of the four natives suspected of having leprosy.

Marshal Sullivan has received telegraphic word from the Attorney-General at Washington to place these natives under strict quarantine and it is the intention to bring them to Seward, where they can be isolated and properly cared for. As no steamship will carry them, a revenue cutter must be used. It is supposed the disease was contracted from the Russians of the old penal colony in Alaska.

EXPERTS REPORT FAVORABLY.

WASHINGTON MINES ARE RICH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Experts from Colorado and Europe who have examined the Tungsten properties in the Park district, Stevens county, Washington, declare these will be developed as the richest mines in the world within the next twelve months.

The Germania mine in Cedar Cañon twenty-eight miles west of Springdale, is producing regularly and it is announced that the Tungsten King property, eleven miles north of Deer Park, will begin shipping in thirty days, while the Baird Harrison property will ship before the close of the year. These and other properties produce five grades of concentrates running in value from 58 to 74 per cent. in tungsten acid. Two cars of fifty-three tons recently shipped gave returns exceeding $30,000.

The ore goes via Cambuig to the Krupp works at Essen, Germany, for use in making cannon and the filament in tungsten incandescent lamps; up to last year Colorado alone produced tungsten acid in America. The Stephens county deposits are muca larger and are richer.

NEGRO'S NOVEL HUNCH.

Will Bet on Johnson Because His Bullet Misses Bad Man's Eye.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WINSLOW (Ariz.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert Johnson, a negro who grudgingly disclaims relationship to a certain dark professor of the art of self-defense, bases a novel hunch that the black race will wrest the world's heavyweight championship from the white, July 4, on the magic of good luck which he believes attaches to the name of Johnson.

Johnson was fined $50 for carrying concealed weapons. Yet all he did was to shoot another negro in the center of the forehead, using a 45-caliber revolver for the deed. The recipient of this attention, Arthur Daniels, was little more than stunned, for the large bullet positively flattened upon his skull.

"Foh Gawd, Ah's glad dat bullet didn't strike an inch lower and hit dat niggah in de eye," Johnson declared after sentence had been pronounced. It was jes' luck breakin' foh de name.

"Ah was a little shaky wif my money on de Johnsing end of de big fight but now Ah's gwine ter put up all Ah can raise dat Misto Jeffries gets licked. Ah reckon Ah knows a hunch when Ah sees it."

BRITONS AFTER MARKET.

CANADIAN COAL FOR YUKON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While Alaskan coal lands are being conserved by the government, British operators are jumping to get control of the Yukon coal markets by developing poorer and smaller coal veins at Five Fingers, Coat Creek, Tantalus and other points along the Upper Yukon. They are developing coal ledges from five to nine feet thick.

One company has obtained contracts to deliver coal to the White Pass and Yukon Railway. The Klondike Mines railway at Dawson, the Yukon Gold Company and other large users. This company will put its own steamers on the Yukon this season, supplemented by coal barges.

These various coal mines are installing about 5000 tons of machinery. Their owners claim they can lay coal down at Dawson for less than present prices, and by fall will be able to put wood out of business. The United States duty will not prevent invading the American Yukon.

BUILD HOME FOR WIDOW.

That's the Way Woodmen of the World in Tacoma Celebrated Memorial Day.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TACOMA (Wash.) May 30.—Woodmen of the World celebrated Memorial Day by building a house for Mrs. Frank Fish and her two little children at Ruston near the Tacoma smelter. Her husband was killed by the cars last fall and the Woodmen decided to build her a house where she can live and carry on a little store for a living.

Seventy-five men gathered at sunrise and by noon were working on the second floor. The house was finished tonight. A Woodman from Denver happening in town last night, heard of the good deed, and showed up in his shirt sleeves this morning to help the good work. The building cost $1500.

CRAWL TO SUMMIT.

Washington Men Make Earliest Shasta Ascent in Thrilling Fashion.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SISSON, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The earliest ascent of Mt. Shasta yet recorded has just been made by J. A. Bloeser, a photographer from Snohomish, Wash., and a companion from Dorris. They broke a trail from the time the snow line was reached until they were on the summit, and for a while near the summit they were forced to crawl flat on the ground to prevent being swept down the mountain side by the wind. In this manner they reached the iron box in which the register is kept.

The trip from Horse Camp to the top required eleven hours' time, while later in the season it can be made in four hours. Many views were taken by Bloeser and on account of being earlier they are different from those of Shasta usually shown.

Bloeser and his companion spent one night on the summit within the shelter of the hot sulphur spring. This is the fifth time Bloeser has been to the summit of Shasta, having climbed it four times last year. He is to leave Seattle this week to attempt to reach the summit of Mt. McKinley.

WASHINGTON.

URGE A FIGHT ON INCREASE.

Western Interests Would Have Roads Enjoined.

Say Rate Is Forerunner of General Advance.

Atty. - Gen. Wickersham Promises to Investigate.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Vigorous representations were made to Attorney-General Wickersham by interests representing the territory of Western traffic lines, asking that the government enjoin the railroads from putting into effect a general increase on freight rates on June 1, notice of which was given by the railroads a month ago.

It was argued that the proposed increases were unwarranted and unjust, and the opinion was expressed they were the results of a combination or agreement among the railroads in contravention of law.

The Attorney-General told his callers he would do the best he could for them. Further than that, he declined to outline what his course might be.

The hearing was held in the office of the Attorney General, where a delegation of about forty persons called to take action protesting against the advance. The committee was accompanied by Senators and members of Congress in the territory affected.

USE DRASTIC ACTIONS.

In a general way the case of the protestants was first presented by William D. Haynie, counsel for the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, who presented a memorial prepared at the recent meeting of shippers at Omaha. It asked a suit be brought to enjoin the increased rates from becoming operative, until such time as the courts could determine whether an illegal combination existed.

The general burden imposed by the proposed rates on manufacturers, producers and consumers was too great, the memorial declared, and should be resisted. Old methods were too slow to stop their becoming effective, it was set forth, and the interests affected suggested that the interposition of the Sherman anti-trust law be invoked.

PREPARE FOR DROP.

The memorialists took the ground that the action of the railroads in seeking to increase rates at this time was to forestall legislation giving the Interstate Commerce Commission authority to set aside proposed rates in advance on complaint of a shipper—it being admitted in response to a suggestion of the Attorney-General, that it would be easier to drop from a higher, than to increase a lower rate.

At this point the Attorney-General told his hearers he would give the matter careful attention. The suggestion that the Sherman law be invoked, he said, was a novel one. Mr. Wickersham pointed out that the delay in presenting the request for action by the government was a serious handicap. So many steps were necessary in bringing suit to enjoin that he seemed doubtful if anything could be accomplished before midnight tomorrow, but he did not say whether he would act immediately.

Senators Oullom and Warner here put in a word in behalf of the protestants and Representative Hubbard said it was the duty of the department of justice to move against this "conspiracy."

After Mr. Haynie had presented the memorial, most of the callers withdrew, but at the suggestion of Mr. Wickersham half a dozen representatives of commercial companies and of traffic bureaus familiar with the technical features of the rate situation, remained for further consultation.

REALIZE GREAT SUM.

The opinion was expressed that the increased rates announced in western territory was the forerunner of a general advance, although the declaration was made on the authority of the vice-president in charge of the traffic bureau of a western railroad, that the proposed increase was entirely uncalled for. One of the committee said it was his opinion that while the avowed purpose was to raise $100,000,000 for certain expenditures, in reality $500,000,000 would be realized.

Complaint was made of a lack of facility in obtaining the tariff sheets showing the proposed rates, and of an apparent disposition on the part of the railroads to keep them from general circulation.

All conditions, it was said, were in favor of a general reduction, rather than an increase in rates as the operation of the law prohibiting rebates had resulted in what in practice amounted to a very large advance.

CLARK WOULD BE SPEAKER.

Missouri Congressman Tells of His Ambition—Settles Report About Aspirations for the Senate.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 30.—"I would rather be Speaker for two years than United States Senator for eighteen years," said Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, the Democratic leader of the House, today.

"Of course there is nothing certain but death and taxes, but the Democrats will control the next House of sure as you are living, and I think I have a good show for the Speakership."

In this way, Mr. Clark disposed of the report that he would be a candidate for the Senate to succeed Senator Warner, Republican.

Continuing, Mr. Clark said: "Mr. Cannon will be the Republican candidate for Speaker next time. It is too early yet to predict the majorities. The greatest majoroty the Democrats have ever had in the House was 148 in 1890; the greatest the Republicans have ever had was 114 in the Fifty-ninth Congress, when Roosevelt was elected President."

Representative Clark will make the principal speech of the Fourth of July Tammany Hall celebration in New York. Mr. Clark will discuss Democracy and the political situation generally.

BEATS POPULATION GROWTH.

Census Report Indicates More People Are Joining Churches Every Year.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Church growth in the United States has been greater than the increase in population between the years 1900 and 1906, according to special bensus report now in press.

Out of every 1000 persons in the 160 principal cities of the country having a population of more than 25,000, there were 460 church members, while for the area outside these cities, there were 365, and for the entire country, 391.

As compared with 1890, the report shows a gain of ninety communicants in each 1000 of population for the principal cities and fifty-one outside.

Female members in 1909 outnumbered the male members by 32 per cent. in continental United States, while in the principal cities the excess of female members was proportionately less, being 900,524, or 26.5 per cent.

SUITS AFTER FAMOUS PEARL.

Seattle Captain Will Try to Buy South Sea Island Gem for New York Woman.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To satisfy the fad of a New York society woman for rare gems, Capt. George Frair will sail Wednesday with his schooner Eagle in a daring attempt to buy the Samfa, the biggest and most famous pearl of the South Sea Islands.

This beautiful jewel, the size of a large walnut and of rare pinkish hue, is now in the keeping of Chief O'Reilly, ruler of the Tongo-Tongo Island.

Three years ago a well-known New York society woman, whose name Capt. Frair does not divulge, visited Tongo-Tongo on a tour around the world in her husband's yacht. O'Reilly showed his fair visitor the Samfa. Since that date many South Sea traders have been commissioned to obtain the Samfa from O'Reilly at any price, but none of them have been able to even open negotiation.

Finally, in the course of her unremitting efforts, the New Yorker heard that Capt. Frair was an old friend of O'Reilly's, having served with him on the ship Crotian a quarter of a century ago, and deputized him to get the pearl.

ESPEE STRIKE THREATENS.

HOUSTON (Tex.) May 30.—A strike of all members of the International Order of Maintenance of Way Employes of the Southern Pacific lines was ordered tonight by President A. B. Lowe of St. Louis, the order to go into effect Wednesday.

Lowe will make a final effort to effect a compromise with the officials tomorrow, but does not expect to succeed. The strike will tie up all building and bridge work along the line. According to Lowe, the officials of the road refuse to recognize the order and refuse to grant a demand for higher wages.

STANTON MAKES MANY FRIENDS.

Gubernatorial Candidate Is at Oakland.

Feeley Predicts Largest Vote for Him There.

Promises of Support from Representative Sources.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oakland entertained Hon. Phil A. Stanton, Republican candidate for Governor, right royally today. He came over from San Francisco during the morning, and was met at the ferry by a number of Oakland business men, headed by Assemblyman James Feeley of this city, whose popularity and wide acquaintance made possible a number of gatherings at various times during the day in various parts of the city for the purpose of meeting the Southern California candidate. Mr. Feeley has been one of the warmest Stanton supporters of this city ever since it was known that Stanton was going to run for the Republican nomination, and today he announced that he has been assured for some time that Stanton will have the largest vote given to any of the five candidates in Alameda county.

For seven hours today Mr. Feeley towed Mr. Stanton and his Los Angeles friends from one place to another, and in each place they met a group of citizens that had been gathered together by Assemblyman Feeley, under the understanding that they were to meet the next Governor of California. Hundreds shook hands with Mr. Stanton, and all of them got at least a word from him and an opportunity to size him up.

Stanton met many business leaders in Oakland and talked with them for a time on the situation. He made many warm friends, and promises of support were numerous. Tomorrow morning Mr. Stanton will begin his two days' tour of Alameda and Contra Costa counties. Several Oakland and San Francisco business men will accompany him. He will be entertained in all of the cities and towns in each of these counties, but will make no set speeches. For the remainder of the week the Stanton party will be in San Francisco, and on Sunday the start for the Oregon line will be made.

SHERIFF IS MISSING.

RENO (Nev.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Where is Jack Owens, Sheriff of Nye county? This is the question which is agitating the minds of many of the prominent men of Tonopah and the county today. For over a week he has been absent and no one knows where he is. Telegrams have been sent to all places of the State, but no favorable answer has been received. Owens boarded a northbound train and since then nothing has been seen or heard of him. Friends of Owens have interested themselves in his disappearance, fearing that he may have met with foul play. Before he left he sold some mining stock and had about $2000 in gold on his person.

PITH OF THE DAY'S NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

CHICAGO, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The sun shone at times during the forenoon, but in the afternoon the sky became overcast by heavy clouds. SIGN OF ABATEMENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 30.—A collar, which, a couple of years ago, became soiled in one day, can now be worn two days in Chicago, so great have been the strides in abating the smoke nuisance, according to City Smoke Inspector Bird. "We help everybody's business except the laundryman and the cleaner," said Mr. Bird yesterday. "Some of the laundrymen have grudgingly cooperated with the smoke department." The record for the past two months shows forty-two suits and many times that number of warnings against violators.

QUICK WORK ON CHURCH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PEORIA (Ill.) May 30.—To start the construction of a church and finish it in ten hours is one of the features of Memorial Day here today. The work was started at 7 o'clock this morning, and was in charge of Earl Stout, of the Carpenters' Union, who has seventy-five men under his direction. There will be no labor troubles, because 125 members of the Men's Brotherhood of the Central Christian Church will work shoulder to shoulder with the carpenters. Rev. W. F. Turner, pastor of the mission, who has just returned from a two months' leave of absence, took off his coat and marched the Men's Brotherhood to the scene of a strenuous day's work, under the slogan of "A man's work in a man's way; we'll build a church in a single day." The climax came at 6 o'clock this evening when a praise meeting was held because of the fact it will be clear of all indebtedness.

MINIATURE CYCLONE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WICHITA (Kan.) May 30.—A miniature tornado hit Wichita Sunday night and did damages to residences, barns, orchards and other property. No lives were lost. The Wichita Western League baseball park was damaged heavily.

FREE THINKERS OUSTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 30.—Orchestra Hall closed its doors on the Independent Religious Society yesterday, after M. M. Mangasarian had closed his last lecture of the season to that body. The management of the hall refused to extend the lease held by the society, and its meetings this fall will be held in a downtown theater. "This is our last meeting in this hall," said Mr. Mangasarian. "The established churches will not allow us the use of Orchestra Hall for purposes of freedom of speech in religion. It is not blasphemy to doubt or even to deny the mysteries of faith, but it is blasphemy to deny to others the liberty which we claim for ourselves."

RAILROADS.

HOT AGITATION ALARMS ROADS.

Railways Inaugurate Unique Campaign.

Want Unbiased Legislators Elected.

Urge Employees to Stand for Their Own.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Alarmed over what they believe to be persistent agitation against the interest of the common carriers, a large number of the big railway systems have decided to carry on a political campaign that is unique in railroad history. The purpose of the campaign is to try to ensure the election to State legislatures, to Congress and to State Railroad Commissions of men who will not carry on the anti-railroad propaganda.

FORSAKE THE LOBBY GAME.

Most of the railroads, bowing to public opinion, have, they claim, gone out of the lobbying business, and if its present effort is productive of wide results, the time will come when lobbying will not be necessary so far as railroad interests are concerned.

The employés' magazines, which are published by a large number of the big railroad systems, are to be made one of the principal mediums for urging the railroad men to "defend their own."

RAISE WAGE QUESTION.

The attention of the employés is called to the fact that many States are to select railroad commissioners, and the statement is made that many of the candidates are seeking the office that they may harass the railroads and use the notoriety thus obtained as a means of advancing their own political ambitions." It is then considered "every unjust burden cast upon the railway company, every reduction of its revenue and every additional tax upon its property renders the railway company less able to improve its property or advance your wages. It is further stated that the object is to secure the election of men who will consider all railroad questions fairly and give the railroad industry the same intelligent and unbiased consideration that they would give to any other industry.

MISSOURI OFFICIAL OPENS A MATRIMONIAL BUREAU.

His Plan Is to Keep Boys and Girls on the Farms of His State and to Aid City Eligibles to Find Happy Homes in the Country—Plans Not Fully Perfected.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A matrimonial bureau, as an adjunct to the back-to-the-farm movement in Missouri, is to be established by John H. Curran, State Commissioner of Immigration, and will be put into operation as soon as applicants appear and announce their willingness to forsake single "cussedness."

In order to stop the rush of young people to the cities and to aid city people who wish to make homes in the country, the immigration commissioner proposes to take the role of Cupid, minus the wings, arrows and other necessary frills, and help mate the youth of this State in such a manner that the tone in both city and country will be improved. He will match country boys and girls and keep them from leaving the farm and he will assist love-lorn city dwellers to find partners in the country, on condition that they forsake the city and go to the farm to live.

While the plan as yet is not perfected, the commissioner says each applicant for assistance will be required to submit a photograph, a complete record of his or her past life, and a statement of desires and ambitions. Formal regulations will be issued later if the experiment proves to be successful.

DIVERS REACH CONCLUSION.

Are Certain Now That Submarine's Officers and Crew Were Drowned When Ships Collided.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CALAIS (France) May 30.—Inspection by divers of the sunken submarine Pluviose, which was in a collision with the cross-channel steamer Pas de Calais last Thursday, shows conclusively that the hull of the submarine was crushed and that all of the members of the crew, which totaled twenty-seven men, were drowned.

The heavy undertow and the great depth at which the wreck lies are retarding the operations of the divers, who are only able to work two hours each tide. It has been found impossible to raise the sunken craft to the surface, so the submarine will be attached by chains to pontoons after which, at each high tide, she will be towed in nearer shore until shallow water is reached. The work of getting her in shore probably will take ten days.

HAD PULL WITH POLICE.

Fire Chief Finds That Company Foreman Was Sobering Up When Absent.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fire Chief Guthrie announced today that he would file charges of drunkenness against John J. Grady, foreman of Fire Company No. 2. Grady was missing for two days last week, and forgot to supply a substitute. He has been missing before many times but has always taken care to have a substitute on duty.

Fire Chief Guthrie discovered by accident that when the foreman was missing last week he was in jail, booked on the secret slate, recovering from a spree. He was there to sober up.

But the more amazing part of the Chief's discovery was that this is just what Grady has been many times before under similar circumstances. The Police Department regarded it as part of the regular business to get Grady sober without the Chief knowing about it.

MRS. DOXEY TURNS PALE WHEN DAMAGING TESTIMONY IS GIVEN.

Des Moines Attorney Declares She Attempted to Borrow Money from Him on Strength of Expectations of Profit at Death of Man Who Was "Dying in St. Louis"—Letters Presented.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When C. H. Miller of Des Moines, Iowa, formerly attorney for Mrs. Dora Erder Doxey and her husband, Dr. Loren B. Doxey, testified today that Mrs. Doxey, in letters prior to the death of William J. Erder, had declared that "a man in St. Louis" was almost dead, and she "soon would have money," Mrs. Doxey, who is on trial on the charge of murdering Erder, with poison, flinched, turned pale and averted her face.

Miller testified that the Doxeys sought to borrow money from him on the strength of their statement that a St. Louisan was expected to die and that Mrs. Doxey would get something from the estate.

Mrs. Doxey's counsel bitterly fought the introduction of Miller's testimony, asserting the letter was a confidential communication from a client to an attorney. Judge Grimm overruled the objection.

When the letter was read by Miller, Mrs. Doxey showed more agitation than she ever has shown during the trial. Cowering in her chair, biting her lips, and clinching her hands, she listened with pale face to what the prosecution regards the most damaging evidence introduced so far to prove the State's charge of conspiracy to murder Erder for his insurance money.

During the morning session the State introduced a letter alleged to have been written by Mrs. Doxey to Kate Erder. It was dated October 16, 1909, and appealed for sympathy for "the sake of Will," her unborn child.

In the letter Mrs. Doxey explained that she had kept all of Erder's life insurance for the sake of "his child."

On cross-examination it was sought by Judge Bishop to show the testimony of C. H. Miller, Mrs. Doxey's Des Moines attorney, would have been for the defense, if the defense had offered to pay him a liberal fee and general expenses.

He was asked by Bishop if he knew Mrs. Doxey was addicted to morphine at the time. General objections were entered by the State's attorneys. Bishop asked the witness what she had said about Dr. Willett, and if Dr. Willett prescribed morphine for her. He said no. All she had told him was that he was a chum of Dr. Doxey's.

HOW HER MAIL CAME.

Newton asked Miller on re-direct examination how he had addressed letters to the defendant.

He said he addressed a letter-size envelope to "Mrs. Dora E. Doxey" and enclosed this, containing the letter, in a large envelope, which he addressed to "Mrs. Dora Erder, No. 3015 Wyoming street."

He explained that Mrs. Doxey had explained to him that for personal reasons it was necessary for her to receive mail in care of an aunt.

The State announced while Miller was on the stand that Rev. Samuel Harkness, pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Columbus, of which Dr. Doxey was superintendent of the Sunday school, had arrived to testify for the State. It is not known what may be the nature of the evidence he is to offer.

It is the opinion of those who have followed the case that the letters read today constitute the hardest blow that has yet been struck the defense.

MONEY-MAKERS.

MEN WHO GROW GARDEN TRUCK WIN FORTUNE IN KLONDIKE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Fairbanks, Alaska, dispatch says "Strawberry" Andy Pederson has his ten-acre tract of land planted and expects to realize over $3500 this summer. Pederson was the first man in the Tanana district to cultivate strawberries.

In 1908 he realized enough to pay for his land and the labor involved. Last year Pederson, after picking his last berry, placed $3000 in the bank. This spring he enriched his soil with fish fertilizer and expects to bank not less than $3500.

At Dawson, Richard Pidduck this season will have one of the largest truck farms in the Klondike, having twenty-five acres under cultivation, principally corn, potatoes and the more delicate garden truck, peas, lettuce, radishes and celery. For two years, Pidduck has been experimenting with celery. Last year it grew until there were fifteen inches of white, juicy stalks. Besides the garden truck, Pidduck has over 3000 chickens, 200 geese and a limited number of turkeys.

On the banks of the Skagway River, a mile above Skagway, is a model farm, one of the best in Alaska. Three years ago H. D. Clark, the owner, secured a steam stump puller from the States and now he is making a fortune. The lettuce, radishes, green onions and peas raised on the farm are superior to the products shipped from Puget Sound.

Besides his farm products, Clark conducts a model dairy, having eighteen Jersey cows.

ALMA KELLNER.

the scene and he declared at first that he was almost certain that the body was that of Alma Kellner.

The father of the girl was in Fehr's office when the latter received the message to go to the scene, but out of pity he said nothing to Kellner at the time. When Kellner was notified, he broke down and freely gave vent to his deep sorrow. The mother bore up more bravely.

Dr. Ellis Duncan, the Coroner, completed his examination of the remains this afternoon. This showed that an effort had been made to do away with the entire body, partly with quicklime and, it seems, by fire. All of the ribs were broken from the vertebrae. The right foot was separated from the body and was found in a shoe which lay alongside. The left foot was missing. Nothing was found of it. The lower bones of the right leg were broken about half way down from the knee, but both thigh bones were intact. The back of the head was missing entirely. The body was in such a frightful condition that the Coroner was unable to determine what was due to decay and what was the work of the murderer. The body was nude with the exception of the shoes.

Detectives are detaining Wendling's wife who has confessed that she had washed the clothes of a child without knowing who the child was several months ago.

The detectives believe the girl was murdered in the vicinity of the school and after attempts had been made to burn the body it was surreptitiously buried in the subcellar and quicklime used to disintegrate the flesh. It appears that the attempt to burn the body, if such was made, was interrupted or the perpetrator of the crime changed his mind regarding its disposition.

BELIEVES STAINS ON CLOTHES ARE BLOOD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 30.—The discovery of the mutilated and decomposed body of Alma Kellner in an old cistern under a parish house of St. John's Catholic Church today, solved part of the mystery surrounding her disappearance.

Alma was the eight-year-old daughter of Fred L. Kellner and since her disappearance on December 3 last, Frank Fehr, a millionaire brewer, her uncle, has spared neither time nor money in the search for her. He positively identified the body today.

The body was found only a few yards from the entrance to St. John's Church, where Alma had gone to attend service the morning of her disappearance.

POLICE SEEK JANITOR.

The police are looking for Joseph Wendling, former janitor at St. John's Church, who since January 14, a little more than a month after the disappearance of the girl, has been missing.

Mrs. Lena Wendling, wife of the missing man, and housekeeper for Father Schuhman, pastor of St. John's, is under surveillance.

In a sworn statement, made before Capt. Carney, chief of detectives, this afternoon, Mrs. Wendling admitted washing muddy clothes for her husband shortly after the disappearance of the Kellner girl. The detectives examined these clothes—trousers, shirt and hat—and declare there are still blood stains on them.

A little more than a year ago, according to police records, Wendling was arrested and fined because of improper conduct with a young girl, whom he accosted on the street.

Neither parent of Alma has yet seen the child's body. Both are prostrated. Mr. Fehr, the uncle, is positive of his identification through the comparison of a shoe found on the body with one worn by Alma before her disappearance. Other means of identification at this time seem impossible because of the lack of clothing found with the body and its horrible mutilation and decomposition.

The discovery of the body was a mere accident. Saturday the janitor at St. John's Church told Father Schuhman that water was collecting under one of the parish buildings. Plumbers began to pump out the water. Their work was resumed this morning. After pumping only a short time the water began to smell badly and a few minutes later a slime-covered object was discovered. A child's foot, with shoe and stocking on, appeared. The police and coroner were notified immediately by Father Snuhman.

After working five hours over the fragments of the body, Coroner Duncan said the top and left side of the skull and part of the right leg and foot were missing. All the ribs on the left side were broken.

PARTIALLY BURNED.

"It appears the body was partially burned," said the coroner, "and I believe quicklime was used to aid in destroying the body, but further examination alone will develop these facts."

Father Schuhman said he could remember nothing suspicious in Wendling's actions after the disappearance of Alma Kellner.

"Wendling left the church without saying he was going to quit, and he said nothing to his wife. I thought at the time that possibly the fact that his wife was much older than he caused him to leave. He often talked of returning to his old home in France, but his wife wrote his parents and they have heard nothing of him."

Wendling is described by the detectives as being 27 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches in height, weight about 160 pounds, has a small black moustache and dark hair and eyes. Mrs. Wendling is 42. Wendling's parents live at Genlis, Cote d'Or, France.

According to the wife, Wendling was a deserter from the French army.

SHE'S THE "GIRL IN LAVENDER."

San Francisco Woman Crook Identified as Female Sentenced from Los Angeles for Forgery.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the arrest of Dorothy Rheinchild at the St. Francis Hotel, detectives assert they have captured one of the most daring female crooks who ever operated on this Coast.

Detective Sergeants Wrenn and Dinan, with officials of the Bureau of Identification, declared that she was none other than the notorious Dorothy Gorham, the "girl in lavender," with half a dozen aliases, who operated extensively in San Francisco and other cities before the fire.

When released on bonds last Saturday it was with the understanding that she would appear in the Police Court tomorrow morning for trial. The only charge against her now is that of defrauding an automobile driver of a small sum.

It is said that serious charges were withheld in order to shield the man whose wife she claimed to be, while at the hotel.

As Dorothy Gorham she was sentenced from Los Angeles to San Quentin for forgery and served eighteen months. On her release she was married to Dr. J. R. Rheinchild of Los Angeles, who hoped to reform her. Failing, he procured a divorce.

FRESH AT NIGHT

If One Uses the Right Kind of Food.

If by proper selection of food one can feel strong and fresh at the end of a day's work, it is worth while to know the kind of food that will produce this result.

A school teacher out in Kansas says in this connection:

"I commenced the use of Grape-Nuts food five months ago. At that time my health was so poor that I thought I would have to give up my work altogether. I was rapidly losing in weight, had little appetite, was nervous and sleepless, and experienced, almost constantly, a feeling of exhaustion.

"I tried various remedies without good results; then I determined to give particular attention to my food, and have learned something of the properties of Grape-Nuts for rebuilding the brain and nerves.

"I commenced using Grape-Nuts and have since made a constant and rapid improvement in health, in spite of the fact that all this time I have been engaged in the most strenuous and exacting work.

"I have gained twelve pounds in weight and have a good appetite, my nerves are steady and I sleep sound. I have such strength and reserve force that I feel almost as strong and fresh at the close of a day's work as at the beginning.

"Before using Grape-Nuts I was troubled much with weak eyes, but as my vitality increased the eyes became stronger.

"I never heard of food as nutritious and economical as Grape-Nuts."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Don't Fool With Imitations of Cottolene

You can absolutely rely upon the purity and cleanliness of Cottolene; you can never tell about the imitations.

Cottolene is a vegetable product — made from pure, refined cotton-seed oil.

Cottolene is packed in air-tight, friction-cover pails — never sold in bulk — to preserve its freshness and prevent contamination; imitations are either sold in bulk, or packed in ordinary, removable-cover tins, which offer but little protection from dirt, dust and contamination.

Cottolene is guaranteed to be fresh and satisfactory, or your grocer will refund your money; imitations, being of inferior quality and insufficiently protected, would find such a method too expensive.

Cottolene is the one dependable frying and shortening medium, and its use means healthy food and economy.

Hooligans Lead Until Ninth When Luck Changes.

"Brack" Tries to Save Game, But Is Murdered

Brilliant Fielding Delights Holiday Crowd.

Oakland, 6; Vernon, 2.

After drawing goose eggs for eight consecutive innings at Chutes Park yesterday afternoon, the Oakland Commuters filled the bases in the ninth period off Willett and then drove two men across the plate, after Brackenridge had been sent into the Vernon box, tying the score.

In the tenth the visitors landed on Brackenridge with both feet and stowed away the game in the icebox. It was a hard game for the Hooligans to lose as up to the end of the eighth reason they had it on the Commuters a mile.

When Willett was taken from the box in the ninth inning the Oaklanders had not got a man home and had registered seven hits. If he had been left in the box he undoubtedly would have done no worse than did Brackenridge, although Hogan was justified in making the change. In the sixth and seventh innings the visitors had found Willett for safe bingles and in the eighth added two hits. So when in the ninth, after Maggert har singled and Mitze and Lively had received free transportation with only one man down, Hap thought a change in the box was necessary in order to preserve the small margin of two runs that the Vernonites had acquired.

But Brackenridge proved easy meat for the Commuters. On the whole, Willett had held them safe and the scattered hitting, together with some bone-headed base running, gave the Hooligans a strong look-in for the game. The fans saw nothing to it but Vernon, after the third inning, when they scored their first run, and when another tally was registered in the eighth everything but the shouting seemed to be over.

WELL PLEASED.

Nearly 5000 fans saw the contest, and they got their money's worth, even if the ending was unsatisfactory, for some of the best fielding stunts of the gave the large crowd numerous opportunities for howling. Several enthusiastic rooters were equipped with cowbells and rattlers, which were worked overtime.

Cutshaw made a seemingly impossible gobble of Carlisle's liner in the sixth inning. The drive was headed for right field on a line about eight feet from the ground. Cutshaw made a jump for the ball and gathered it in with his gloved hand.

In the fourth inning, with W. Hogan on third base and one out, Wolverton swatted a long fly to Carlisle, who made a perfect throw to the plate, the ball beating the runner by a foot. Coy made a fine running catch of Cutshaw's fly in the first inning.

With the exception of one error by Willett, both teams played faultless ball. The Vernon infield handled everything without a mishap, and although the visitors showed up as well in the error column they did not have the difficult chances to handle or the tight places to pull out of that the Hooligans had. Lindsay and R. Brashear had a busy day about second base. Brashear robbed Mitze of a hit in the second inning by making a quick jump for a hard-hit fly. Lindsay covered all kinds of territory and nothing got through him.

WILLETT'S WILD THROW.

Both teams put plenty of "pep" into their playing. In the opening innings the batsmen went down almost in one, two, three order, although in the first W. Hogan got a life by dumping a short hit into right field and later going to second on Willett's wild throw, the only error of the game.

In the third inning Vernon broke into the run column and the fans came through with some real Wild West howling. Fisher opened the period by reaching first on a third strike that went through Mitze. Brown placed a hog-tied the game when Thomas scored on Cutshaw's hit that forced Moser at second. Cutshaw was caught off first base and run down, bringing the swat-fest to an end.

The Vernonites never had a look-in in their half of the tenth, Fisher fanning and Lindsay and Brown succumbing on easy chances. The score:

THAT AWFUL NINTH.

When Oakland came to bat at the beginning of the ninth, it looked as though the chances of their winning were nil. The visitors had been blanked in the preceding innings and the Hooligans had two tallies to their credit. Swander, the first man up, singled to left and then Willett grew wild, walking Mitze and Lively, and filling the bases. Christian, Thomas and Harkins replaced the runners on the bags. The Hooligans showed signs of being rattled and Hogan took Willett off the mound and sent up Brackenridge.

Cutshaw, the first Commuter to face Brackenridge, hit to the pitcher, who threw out Christian at the plate. Brown tried to get Cutshaw at first, but the "ump" declared him safe. Wares drove out a hard ball which Lindsay was only able to touch with his glove and Thomas and Harkins sprinted across the plate.

With the score tied, the Hooligans went in to win the game, but Wolverton replaced Lively with Moser and the Vernonites were helpless.

In the tenth Oakland started right in to finish what they had begun in the ninth inning. Cameron flew out to Carlisle and Wolverton followed with a double to center field. Swander singled to left and Maggert placed the ball just out of Carlisle's reach, the Oakland captain scoring. Thomas hit for two bases sending in Swander and Maggert. Thomas then sprinted to third on a wild pitch and Moser was released to first.

It was evident that the Hooligans' edge toward the exits. But Maggert

Slats Nelson Bumped by Vernon While Whitey Hensling Tightens Up After the Fourth Inning—Series of Accidents to Players and Umpire Startle Fans.

Vernon, 5; Oakland, 2.

The Vernon and Oakland ball teams started yesterday to celebrate the holiday with what might be called a hospital game for three players and Umpire Hildebrand were temporarily knocked out Pitcher Hensling of Vernon was hit in the groin by a pitched ball in the fourth inning; Third baseman Wolverton of Oakland got a hard punch in the stomach from a grounder in the sixth; and Umpire Hildebrand was hit on the right foot by a foul tip from Kit Brashear's bat in the eight; and Slats Nelson fell down in fielding a ball at first base and was dopey for a time.

The players recovered in a few minutes and pluckily resumed play but Hilde's pet corn had been too painfully insulted and he quit the game. As there was but one half of an inning to play this withdrawal made no difference.

Aside from these accidents the fans saw two home runs, one clearing the left and the other the center fence, and some fielding worth looking at. Slats Nelson heaved for Oakland but didn't have anything on the ball but a picture of his own long legs. He was punched hard at times and particularly in the third inning the Vernons made enough runs to win the game, peeling off three singles and a double. In the next inning Roy Brashear smacked the ball over the left fence for a home run, and in the eighth the locals made another useless run off three successive singles just to show that it was easy.

Little Whitey Hensling was in excellent form and was never in any danger, for he held the Oaks to four hits in different innings. Carl Maggert hit his homer over the fence from about the first ball pitched him in the third inning, but this only seemed to make Hensling tighter than ever and the further he went the better he became.

One of the fine fielding stunts of the game was furnished by Maggert, who grabbed Kit Brashear's fly against the left fence in his left hand in the sixth inning. Roy Brashear made a beautiful assist to first of Swander's hard grounder to right field in the seventh inning and in the sixth Wares made a high class left-handed grab of Coy's grounder through short and threw the runner out at first. Vernon won easily on account of the ease with which Nelson was hit at times.

After Maggert's homer in the third Bill Hogan was safe at first in the fourth when Roy Brashear juggled his grounder. He advanced to second on Wolverton's out and scored on Swanders' hit to center.

In the third for Vernon Kit Brashear singled to left and Hap Hogan to center. Hensling flew to center and Hap Hogan was forced at second by Carlisle's grounder to Cameron, Carlisle stole second and both he and Kit Brashear scored on Burrell's double to center. Martinke beat out a bouncing hit toward first base and Nelson in fielding the ball fell down and Burrell scored on the error.

In the fourth came Roy Brashear's homer over the left fence and in the eighth inning with two out the final run was scored on singles by Roy Brashear and Coy.

Preparing for Tourney.

Followers of lawn tennis are impatiently awaiting the national clay court championship meet which is to be held on the courts of the Kansas City club. The figure which westerners are to cut in lawn tennis promises to set a new standard for the game. The westerners declare that the Kansas City meet will far outshine that at Newport this summer. William A. Larned the national champion in singles, and Fredireck B. Alexander and Harold H. Hackett, the doubles holders, seem to be in for the trial of their lives. The hope is that a younger American will save the title from for-

HARD LUCK.

ANGELS TWICE COUNTED OUT.

Snappy Fielding Lands Home Team on Top.

Seals Have One-Run Margin in Both Games.

Northern Pitchers Effective in Tight Places.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Seals turned the tables on the Southerners in the double-header today thereby taking the series, 3 to 4. Both games called out big crowds and they were treated to real baseball. San Francisco won by scores of 5 to 4 and 2 to 1, but it required every bit of their cleverness and speed to turn the trick.

In the morning game the Seals won their victory in one inning, the third, when five hits and some mistakes netted them five runs. Los Angeles put two across in the first inning on home runs by Daley and Howard and began to creep up with a tally in the fifth and another in the sixth. To stop this dangerous advance, Willis was relieved by Henley and the long man one effectually closed the gate, shutting out the visitors in the last three innings.

Miller worked for San Francisco against Toser of Los Angeles, in the afternoon. Miller succeeded in holding the hits down to six and kept them pretty well scattered, but he was wild and kept the crowd on the anxious seat by his tendency to issue passes. In all he walked six men and it was only his good luck which prevented some from resulting disastrously.

On the other hand Toser was remarkably steady, especially when his performance of last Friday is recalled. He only walked one man and his understand ball was working smoothly.

The fact that the Seals found him for nine hits is pretty good evidence they are profiting from their recent batting practices. Bodie did the right thing by hitting over the fence for the tying run in the fifth and hits by Melchoir and Tennant brought the winning tally across in the eighth.

Los Angeles was right on the job in the first period. Daley making a single, going to second on a sacrifice and stealing third. He might have scored, too, but a squeeze went wrong and he was an easy out.

In the third, the Angels again were dangerous after two had struck out. Daley walked, Bernard hit and Howard walked. Dillon grounded out, however, and that saved the day. Also in the fourth, the Angels made their first run. Murphy beat out an infield hit, went to third on Roth's single, and was squeezed home by Delmas. The Seals did a snappy piece of work right here, putting out both Roth and Delmas as the score was made.

In the fifth Bodie tied up this score by his home run and in the eighth Melchoir walked, went to third on Melchoir's nice hit, and scored on Tennant's single.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN JOSE (Cal.) May 30.—San José and Oakland divided a double-header this afternoon at Luna Park, the locals winning the series by four games to three.

The prune-pickers took the first game by hitting Moskiman when hits meant runs, two three-baggers by Keller being followed by singles by Reid. Errors figured in the other tallies.

Capt. Townsend whipped a spectator, who had made himself obnoxious, in a berry patch next to the ball grounds, after the games.

TIGERS WIN BOTH.
SACRAMENTO PLAYS LOOSELY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRESNO, May 30.—The Tigers won both games from Sacramento today, 6 to 3 and 10 to 6. The double victory makes six out of seven for Fresno. Loose playing and plenty of hitting featured both games.

In the first game the Assemblymen went up in the air in the second inning and when order was restored the locals had made three scores on one hit and three errors. Loose playing by the Sacramento team resulted in three more runs for the Tigers, the final score being 6 to 3. Score:

GIRLS RIDE LOFTY FENCES TO SEE BIG TENNIS MATCH.

Mt. Washington Stormed by Society Swells and Every Available Spot on Battlefield of Tennis Champions Is Occupied When May Suttoon Defeats Hazel Hotchkiss.

BY HARRY C. CARR.

GIRLS stood in rows on a rickity fence rail, clinging perilously to the fragile string pieces, to see May Sutton's fight to regain her lost laurels as tennis champion yesterday.

They climbed up on the hotel roof, after all the standing room at the Mt. Washington courts was gone. Toey fainted in the furious heat and, rather than leave, refused to leave. Having completely swamped the cars of the Mt. Washington incline, they to led up to the top of the mountain on foot in heat that would stagger a burro.

And they were rewarded by seeing Miss Sutton reestablish herself as the invincible queen of tennis.

Her match with Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, who astonished the tennis world by meating her at Ojai, was the most sensational tennis tourney ever played in Southern California.

Seats had been provided for an audience of more than 1000 spectators. They were gone before the noon hour passed. The crowds stormed the hotel, climbing up on the roof and galleries. Toey got ladders and peeked over the back of the grand stand. Men and boys climbed up on telegraph poles. Women and girls found dangerous perches on scaffolding and shaky fences. Society women stood up on the seats of automobiles or sat on the ground and peeked through the wire fence.

When 3 o'clock came, the two girl players were unable to get into the courts. A squad of police couldn't have forced a way through the crowd. The moving-picture men were there with a battery of strange cameras. The new balls for the match were tossed down onto the courts. The umpires took their station in the little elevated coop that looked like a railroad switch tower. But there were no actors for the show. The crowd looked down upon empty courts.

They were whistling their impatience and yelling for the match to begin. And the match couldn't begin because the two girl tennis stars were standing helplessly out in the middle of the street longing for a tunnel or a flying machine.

In the end, they had to tear out a corner of the wire netting and the stars of the performance made an unimpressive entrance, for all the world like little children crawling under a barbed wire fence.

They were dressed for that part. Miss Hotchkiss, who is a tiny nut-brown maid, wore a dainty little white frock that frou-froued when she ran and which made her seem very like a child. She wore a big hat and a wise little smile as though she had some little joke all to herself.

She came through the hole in the fence, chaperoned by the two San Francisco boys, Maurice McLoughlin and Melville Long.

Miss Sutton, who came just behind her, with her brother and one of her sisters, was a curiously interesting contrast. Miss Hotchkiss is dark, with a Maud Adamsy touch of Elfland about her. Miss Sutton is a splendid blond athlete, with sun-browned skin and tawney sun-scorched hair. She walks with the powerful free stride of a trained athlete.

For a few minutes before the match began, the two girls went to different courts and smashed balls around to loosen their muscles and to gauge the bound of the balls.

Miss Sutton was playing with her tennis team partner, Tom Bundy, and it was interesting to see how she kept turning her head to study the strokes of the little Berkeley girl on the other court with McLoughlin.

Presently Miss Hotchkiss threw down the balls on the far court and crossed to Miss Sutton with a funny little smiling nod, to say she was ready.

They took their places at opposite ends of the long cement court.

The sun was in Miss Sutton's eyes and she leaned forward frowning against the fierce light, tense and somehow rather terrible. A broad band of pink ribbon, drawn tightly about her forehead, massing her hair about her temples gave her an appearance so stern that you wanted to yell, "Run little Berkeley girl, run while you have a chance."

It was the little Berkeley girl's first serve. The moving picture men trained their cameras and began the little whirr that never ceased through the match.

Miss Sutton looked nervous and anxious as she waited for the first ball. It came sizzling over the net to her and she met it with the wonderful fore-hand drive before which every woman player in America and Europe has gone down.

Luckiessly, she drove into the net. The little Berkeley girl had won the first point. To every one's surprise a burst of applause came from the crowd. A stranger on a strange court, she was not friendless. Her every clever play was cheered. She was applauded fully as much, if not more, than Miss Sutton.

tennis crowd has a character of its own, just as baseball and prize fight crowds have. The tennis crowd is half women and women have a way of "rooting" that is their own.

There was, in the middle of the grand stand, a girl in a blue hat who seemed to be the star girl rooter. She was all for the Berkeley girl. She did everything but have hysterics.

Every time Miss Sutton pounded over one of her terrible drives, the girl in the blue hat would stand up and wring her hands and cry, "Oh, dear, oh dear, I don't believe she is going to get it." And when she did get it, the girl in the blue hat would sink back into her chair, simply overcome.

There were also men rooters. One of them was an old baseball fan and, as the game went on, he began to feel pretty well acquainted.

"Well, well," he yelled, "Look out, Hazel; she's going to lob. Good work, Hazel."

He was perfectly impartial. When the umpire gave a knock-kneed decision that made the crowd gasp and made even Miss Sutton drop her racket and stare, the old fan bawled out, "Rotten umpire. Don't let him rob you, May."

He began to be on such chummy terms with their first names that the management finally requested the spectators to refrain from comments "out of respect for the ladies who are playing." And old Kid Bleachers took the hint.

Miss Hotchkiss kept up a little running monologue of her own as the game went on.

"Oh, rats," she would say, disgustedly, as her volleys beat into the net. More than once you could hear her mutter: "A peach, May," as one of the drives hurtled past her, going too fast to reach

Miss Sutton didn't waste any breath on editorial comments. Only once, when an open court lay before her, with the little Berkeley girl caught at the net, she drove a tremendous backhand volley beyond the back line and said one eloquent, "Oh, darn!"

You heard her breath come in a short, grunting gasp every time she hit a hard one; and nearly every one was a hard one.

Miss Sutton probably never played so terrific a game before. The whole weight of her body and the whole strength of her tremendous right arm went into every drive. The ball tore across the net like a bullet.

But, for about the first time in her career, she saw it come tearing back at her. And she saw it tearing back where she didn't want it.

It whizzed off the side of the court. It passed her on the left side, out of reach of her terrible forehand drive. It dropped tantalizingly, just over the net.

The little Berkeley girl showed the effects of her training at the hands of Long and McLoughlin, who some day will be world champions. She knew Miss Sutton's every stroke, and how to avoid it. She was the sprightly little gladiator with the net and trident, fighting the heavyweight with the short, thick sword.

Her game was more brilliant and more "classy" than Miss Sutton's, but the steady, relentless strength of the Pasadena girl, with the long drives from the back line, wore her down at last.

If she could have played at the net the result might have been different. Time and time again, she would watch her chance, and, lobbing, rush for the net before the ball touched the opposite court. Nearly every time, when she managed it, her brilliant volleying and "placing" won her the point. But it was not often she could advance off the back line in the face of Miss Sutton's heavy artillery fire.

Before the first set was done, she could see that the Berkeley girl was getting very tired. The heat, with the cement court as a reflector, was something terrific—the thin white heat to which San Francisco people are untrained. She wilted under it.

When she said, "A peach, May," it sounded almost like a wail, under her breath. She lost the first set.

As the first set ended, the two girls were fairly seized by their tennis "seconds." Miss Sutton went back to a chair by her brother. They fed her tea and rubbed her mighty right arm and fanned her and wiped her face.

Little Miss Hotchkiss came back to the side lines and drank lemonade and listened to the advice of the two cracks from San Francisco.

It must have been good, for she won the second set.

She looked a little fresher and stronger when they came up for the third and deciding set. It would be hard to imagine more brilliant tennis—long rallies, drives from the back line with Miss Hotchkiss trying vainly to force her way to the net.

Miss Sutton's lips were set and tense. It seemed as though every effort of her heart and soul went into the racquet every time she hit a ball. One could see her throw her whole weight into it, the strong "whang" of the ball was answered with the curious grunting "whuff" that escaped her lips with each tremendous effort. No other girl athlete could have stood such a strain. Miss Sutton could, and is, therefore, champion still, in fact if not exactly in short technically.

When they crossed the change courts for the last time, Melville Long looked up at the Berkeley girl and said with a kind of iron cheerfulness, "Cheer up, Hazel, you are going to win yet."

"I'm glad you think so," she said with a grim smile that foretold the minute later when she shook hands with the victor across the net.

Later in the afternoon, the girls met again, Miss Hotchkiss as the partner of McLoughlin and Miss Sutton with Tom Bundy.

Miss Sutton showed her superb strength by coming out as fresh and clear-eyed and strong as though she had just risen for the day. Miss Hotchkiss was hollow-eyed and tired, even haggard, and the two men looked as though they had been drawn through a knot-hole.

So exhausted she was ready to drop, Miss Hotchkiss played a more brilliant game than before; but Miss Sutton won again, with Mr. Bundy.

The crowd went home last night, believing that maybe the Amazons weren't altogether a myth after all.

Scenes At Great Tennis Match.

Below is May Sutton, the victor, as she appeared after the game. Above is Hazel Hotchkiss playing the back court. In the middle is a portion of the great crowd which saw the contest.

Browns "All in."

The St. Louis Browns, as at present constituted, are simply not to be classed in major league baseball. They are so hopelessly out of the running that it is difficult to imagine them winning any games at all. Old-time leaders, like Stone, at the bat, have fallen asleep and even Rhody Wallace, one time the premier shortstop of the business, is no longer at his cunning and has also quit hitting much. It seems like the time has come with the Browns, as it did with the White Sox, for a complete overhauling.

THE NEXT TIME.

TRIES TO BEAT CHAMPION AT OWN GAME, BUT FAILS.

BY M. M. STEARNS.

THE next time Hazel Hotchkiss plays May Sutton she will beat her, in my opinion.

Miss Sutton was playing her best game yesterday; but Miss Hotchkiss would have beaten her at that, I believe, if she had been confident enough to play her own game, instead of allowing May to force a back-court game.

May Sutton has been playing for years better tennis than any other woman in the world; but Hazel Hotchkiss displayed yesterday even greater skill than May. May has a greater strength than Hazel; she has more endurance; there is a trifle more speed in her drives, and she does not tire as quickly; also, she has developed greater accuracy in back-court shots.

But Miss Hotchkiss plays a net game that is better than anything Miss Sutton can show. Her overhead work is ahead of anything ever seen before in ladies' tennis. Her placing is cleverer than Miss Sutton's, her judgment is better, and her generalship is superior. And her serve and basic court game are very nearly as good as May's.

HAZEL IS VERSATILE.

In other words, although May has a slight superiority in a serving and driving game, Hazel is a more versatile, skillful, heady player. It is only a question of time before May has to take second place.

Yesterday's great match showed this. May won, but she won by virtue of her greater confidence, her greater experience as a tournament player, and because Hazel was content to follow her lead and play from far behind the court.

In the second set Hazel was clearly superior. She played with the sun in her eyes that set, and against the wind, but she broke into the net game that she uses when she plays against Maurice McLoughlin, and simply outclassed May.

In the final set it was the other way around. Hazel fell back into trying to beat May at her own game, and she can't do that—yet. It was just a question of drive, drive, drive—all the same kind of shots. The ball would cross the net half a dozen times for each point—once it crossed twenty-three times in a single rally.

Gradually Hazel began to lose confidence. She got tired. Instead of placing her shots down the side lines or at May's backhand, she was content merely to drive the ball back safely into the middle of the court, and wait for the return. She gave up trying to sprint up to the net every time there was half an opening. And May just steadied down and kept binging 'em back, until the inevitable end of the point, when Hazel drove into the net or over the back line.

NERVOUS AT START.

Hazel's first game showed how nervous she was. Three of May's four points were made on Hazel's misplays. May lost the first point by driving too hard. The next play Miss Hotchkiss tried to run to the net too soon, and was lobbed prettily for the point. Then she knocked an easy return into the net. Then she made a double fault. Then, after one more point won on a star return, she tried a place and missed the side line by a foot.

After May had put the score 5-1, Hazel got herself together. The set was practically lost, anyway, but Hazel took two games before May was able to get another. In both games Hazel showed herself May's superior and gained confidence. And the result of it was shown in the succeeding set, when, for about five games, Hazel jumped into her own particular game and made the great May Sutton run back and forth across the court like a beginner.

MIXED DOUBLES.

When it came to mixed doubles, Hazel showed herself to be a better team player than May. But she was tired and discouraged by the defeat that she had already had, and after one brilliant set played weakly. She was playing with McLoughlin, and Miss Sutton had Tom Bundy for a partner; according to "dope," the San Francisco pair should have won. They did win the first set, that brought out more applause than any other single set of the afternoon; but after that May and Bundy simply walked over them.

Hazel's game had all fagged away. McLoughlin had already played through forty-eight games of tournament tennis, which is about enough to tire even a young blacksmith. He tried to make up for Hazel's weakness—tried too hard. The wildness that is his great stumbling-block in big tournaments got him, and the more he tried to smash in unplayable shots, the more likely he was to hit the top of the back-net. May and Bundy, who had played almost as much tennis, showed the strain less and won in beautiful style.

LONG BEATS BELL.

The other matches of the afternoon were good, but were not what the crowd had come to see. Long won from Bell in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2. It was beautiful tennis, but rather one-sided. Towards the end of the match Long showed up considerably. He seems inclined to loaf every time he gets a chance, and has a dangerous tendency to grandstand. But he's a wonderful player—except for McLoughlin, unquestionably the best on the Coast.

A feature of the match was Long's unique serving. He smashed both balls hard. It resulted in a good many double faults, but almost enough aces to make up. Slightly modified, it is a strong point of play, but it's free use is dared by but few players. Neither Long nor Bell's service in this match appeared to have quite the sting that McLoughlin showed on Saturday.

SOUTHERNERS EASY.

In the finals of the men's doubles, Long and McLoughlin found Bundy and Hendricks easy, winning 6-2, 6-1. Bundy played a fine game, but Hendricks appeared to be out of his class. He did some good serving, however, which partially made up for the numerous shots he sent into the net or over the lines. McLoughlin was erratic at times, but equalized matters by smashing through an ace for nearly every one of his wild slams.

FIRST SET.

Long and McLoughlin	4	4	2	6	4	1	6	2	—31
Bundy and Hendricks	2	1	4	4	1	6	4	4	—26

THEY DROP OUT.

In the semi-finals Browne and Sinsabaugh went down before the northerners, with only three games to their credit—6-1, 6-2. Brown played well, but Sinsabaugh was evidently troubled by the cold which slowed his game. Saturday. He did not seem to be nearly up to his usual form. Some of his slams were spectacular, but many went wild.

In the lower frame Bundy and Hendricks won from Hardy and Bell, 6-2, 8-6. The second set was a long-drawn out, bitter one, and may have accounted partially for the score showing which the team made in the finals.

In the morning play McLoughlin and Long sent Wayne and Variel the way of the rest—6-3, 6-2. It is an interesting thing that throughout the tournament no team was able to get more than three games in a set from the San Franciscans, while the best efforts could not get above 6-2.

THE RESULTS.

FIRST MATCH.

SANTA MONICA LOSES MATCH.

Mitchell Shows His Form by Lashing Out.

Wichmann and Simmonds, Jr., Are Star Players.

"Googlies" Are Introduced by San Franciscan.

Los Angeles won the first of the cricket matches with Santa Monica at Vineyard yesterday afternoon, by 43 runs, the score being 107 to 65.

T. D. Bamford won the toss and put the beach eveien in to bat first on a perfect wicket.

Elliot and Megget went in first. The former faced Wichmann, who sent down a maiden over; while the latter faced Mitchell, one of the crack bowlers of Los Angeles. Megget broke his "duck" by getting Mitchell away 15 the slips for a single, while Elliot followed suit with a single to long on. In trying to steal a run Megget was run out, his wicket being smartly put down by T. D. Bamford, who wicket for 2 runs.

C. Simmonds partnered Elliot and played out the balance of the over. In the following over he opened his account by cutting Mitchell nicely for two. With the first delivery of his second over, Wichman dismissed Elliot with a rising ball whica upset his off bail. Two wickets for 6 runs.

C. Simmonds filled the vacancy and gave his batner late cut Mitchell for a four. The incoming batsman hit the next boundary of the day by getting Wichmann away to the deep field for a followed by a single to long off. C. Simmonds scored his first boundary was a powerful leg hit off Mitchell. This was followed by a clean hit to square leg for 4 by Simmonds, Jr., in the following over.

At 31, Lane went on bowling in place of Wichmann, but was promptly hit to mid-off for two by Simmonds, Sr., for a brace. In Mitchell's next over, which was twenty times at the wicket by T. D. Bamford and retired for a faultless 14. Three wickets for 34 runs.

Sweet the next man in seemed ill at ease for some time and found Lane difficult to get away. Simmonds, Jr., however, kept the interest up in the game by hitting twos and an occasional boundary. After making 24 in stylish and at times brilliant fashion, he had his leg stump upset by Lane, who was sending down difficult balls. Four wickets for 44 runs.

DUDLEY STEPS UP.

Dudley, Santa Monica's captain and one of the most enthusiastic cricketers in the State, joined Sweet and at once opened his account with a single. Scoring was somewhat slow at this stage of the game as the bowlers were almost unplayable and were backed up superb fielding. After making only 4, Dudley skied a ball from Lane and was caught at the wicket by Bamford, who wickets for 50 runs. Dudley, Jr., the next man in, should have been caught out by Wichmann but that batter had to run in hard and with the sun in his eyes the catch was not accepted.

In playing forward, Sweet misjudged Lane's pace and was clean bowled. Six wickets for 51 runs. As Santa Monica was one man short, T. Brown of the Los Angeles Cricket Club, substituted and opened his account with a single to long on off Mitchell. At 6, Yorston was put on bowling in place of Mitchell, but Brown treated the new trundler to scant courtesy, getting that bowler away time and again for twos. After making 6 runs, however, he was caught and bowled by Yorston. Seven wickets for 60 runs.

The first ball of Lane's sixth over Dudley was beautifully taken in the slips by Mitchell. Eight wickets for 8 runs. The tall gave very little trouble. Prax was clean bowled by Yorston after making 3, and Nettleship was run out without adding to the score. The whole side was out at 3 o'clock for 65 runs.

Evans and F. Bamford opened the batting for Los Angeles and faced Megget and C. Simmonds. The latter limited himself with blocking, with the result that the Tyke sent down a maiden over. Simmonds, the Riverside crack player, essayed to bowl from the north end and kept a capital length. With only four runs scored, Evans was smartly caught at point by Elliot off Simmonds. His place was taken by J. E. Heavens.

F. Bamford has developed wonderfully well since last season. He is a careful bat, and by talking no liberties with the bowling will prove a valuable asset to the club. With Heavens, Jr., in the fielders were treated to some close fielding, as both batsmen stole runs on every conceivable occasion, with the result that 50 was soon up on the board; Los Angeles was credited with the first boundary, when Bamford put the Tyke away to leg for 4. In trying to pull the next ball that batsman was taken by Elliot at point. Two wickets for 31 runs.

RAMSDEN CAUGHT.

With only three runs added to the score, Ramsden was caught out at long on by Brown off Megget. Three wickets for 27 runs. When he had made only one run, Bamford gave a chance to Megget, but the catch was not accepted, although the Tyke had the ball in his right hand. Bamford showed his appreciation for this life by hitting Megget to the deep field boundary for 4.

At 34 Elliot went on in place of Simmonds, and was at once hit to long leg by Heavens for a brace. The change, however, had the desired effect, as Heavens was smartly taken in the slips by Megget. Four wickets for 36 runs. With the addition of only three more runs Elliot clean bowled Bamford with a "googly." Packman, the next man in, was caught and bowled first ball by Elliot for a "duck." Six wickets for 39 runs.

Mitchell, one of the most brilliant exponents of the game, joined Wichmann, and cracked his "egg" with a two to square legg off Elliot. Wichmann drove Sweet, who had replaced Simmonds, for a single. Mitchell followed his opening hit with a powerful hit to square leg for 8, while Wichmann scored a single to long on. The first and only 6 hit of the match was hit by Mitchell, who clean drove Sweet out of the ground. This proved the winning hit, and elicited the usual round of applause. At 74 Simmonds again went on bowling in place of Sweet.

After Wichmann had hit Elliot to mid-off for 3, Mitchell should have been easily caught out at square leg, but Brown failed to hold the ball. At this juncture Wichmann skied a ball to the slips, which F. Simmonds accepted. Seven wickets for 83 runs. Mitchell continued to score freely, and put both bowlers nicely away to the boundary and to all parts of the ground. At 4:40 o'clock Mitchell sent the century up and retired not out in favor of Yorston, after making 40 runs in his usual dashing and pleasing style. The newcomer did not remain, as he was run out before he had a chance of breaking his "duck." Heavens, Sr., was caught at point off Simmonds, the innings closing for a respectable total of 107 runs.

SPEED FIENDS SLASH MARKS.

Oldfield Takes Fall Out of Mile Record.

Harroun Has Narrow Escape from Death.

Terrific Pace Maintained in Fifty-Mile Event.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—In slashing races at the Indianapolis Speedway, today, new records were set in the national championships in stock car classes which will be held here annually.

Barney Oldfield, with his big Benz, broke the American speedway records for the mile and the kilometer and Ray Harroun, driving a Marmon, topped the time for fifty miles for cars of 231 to 300 cubic inches piston displacement.

A crowd of 55,000 persons cheered the drivers on to desperate feats of speed, and the companies of militia were pressed hard in controlling the eager spectators who overflowed the grand stands onto the fields, straining for a near view of the heroes of the motors.

Oldfield cut the mile speed record down from 36 flat to 35.6 seconds, and the kilometer record from 23.7 to 21.45 seconds. He made the former records on the Los Angeles mile track.

In a wonderfully sustained dash through the fifty-mile race, Harroun easily led his rivals and was ahead of the record at the thirty, at the forty miles, and the finish. His time was 42m. 41s. The former record, 44m. 49s., Harroun himself had set at at Atlanta.

BRAGG AGAIN STARS.

Caleb Bragg, the Cincinnati amateur, with his Fiat, was the third star of the day's triumph. He won two ten-mile races and one five-mile race, and had to put up a hard fight in each of them with Kirscher in a Darracq.

For the national championships the drivers are battled with all their skill, forcing their engines to the limit of their power. The leaders were always bunched in the some stretch, and the contests were not decided until the front wheels of the victor actually had crossed the wire of the timing machine.

The entries had been cut down by the strict decision of the A.A.A., which stated that every car that did not comply with the specifications as to weight and cylinder measurements in the various sections should be barred, but the races were none the less sensational because of the smaller fields of contestants.

L. L. Chevrolet, in a Buick, winning the 161-220 cubic inches championship for ten miles, set the record down to 9:03 from 9:46, and Dawson in a Marmon, wresting from Harroun the victory in the 231-300 class for five miles, put a new mark at 4:41, seven seconds better than the old time.

Oldfield, in a Knox, won both the five and ten-mile championships in the 451-600 class, which included the highest powered cars recognized under the stock car racing rules.

OLDFIELD'S RECORD.

Leading all the way, Oldfield cut down the record for five miles from 4:03 to 4:01.

The honor of setting the championship record ten miles in the 301-450 class went to Aitken in a National, who pulled down the time from 8:08 to 7:52.

Only two accidents marred the day's sport, and in neither of them was anyone injured, though Harroun had the narrowest escape from death that he has ever experienced. His Marmon, the "Wasp," with which he so brilliantly won the 200-mile race Saturday, burst a tire and hurled itself on the cement wall that guards the margin of the track. Sliding along the top of the wall, the car tore a furrow in the cement for 50 feet and then toppled over, flinging Harroun from his seat. He picked himself up, unhurt, but his car was a snarl of steel. It was only partial consolation for his loss when F. H. Wheelock, vice-president of the Speedway company, leading him before the thronged stands, presented him with the $10,000 silver trophy and a check for $1000 which he won in the 200-mile race.

The second accident of the day occurred in the five-mile free-for-all, when Kirscher's Darracq cast high in the air one of its front tires. Summoning all his strength, the driver held his careening, flying car true to the track and finally turned it off to the inner field, and stopped it safely in the sand.

Barney Oldfield, Knox, led all the distance in the championship five-mile race for the cars of 451 to 600 inches displacement, and broke the record in 4:01.3. The old mark was 4:43. Aitken (National,) was second and Kinkaid (National,) third.

Aitken (National,) took first honors in the five-mile championship for cars 301 to 450 inches piston displacement: Kincaid (National,) was second, and Merz (National,) third; time, 4:6.7. Kincaid on Friday broke the record by going the distance in 4:8.7.

Barney Oldfield in his 200-horse-power Benz broke the American speedway record for the kilometer.

RESULTS OF RACES.

Dawson (Marmon,) won the five-mile championship for cars of 231 to 300 inches displacement, in 4:41.3. The old record was 4:48. Harroun (Marmon,) second; Anderson (Marmon,) third.

Bragg (Fiat,) took the lead at the crack of the pistol in the five-mile free-for-all and won the race from Kirscher (Darracq,) Aitken (National,) was third; time, 3:34.9.

Harroun's Marmon snatched the victory from Dawson (Marmon,) and Clark (Cutting,) in the ten-mile championship, for cars of 231 to 300 inches piston displacement. The finish was close. Time, 9:25.1.

Bragg (Fiat,) and Kirscher (Darracq,) fought for the lead for the first five miles of the first ten-mile free-for-all. Then the Darracq, going at full speed, cast a tire and Bragg drew off safely. Bragg was far ahead of the field and won with a dash. Kincaid (National,) was second; Greiner (National,) third; time, 7:21.8.

Harroun (Marmon,) won the fifty-mile race for cars of 231-300 displacement, lowering the record. His time was 42m. 41.6s. Harroun held the former record—44m. 42.98s. Jackson (Marmon,) was second and Fox (Pope Hartford) third. Kincaid (Great Western) fourth, Anderson (Marion) fifth, Clarke (Cutting) sixth.

The ten-mile race for cars of 121 to 230 cubic inches piston displacement started with four entries, Burman (Buick,) L. Chevrolet (Buick,) Frayer (Firestone) and Miller (Warren-Detroit.)

Chevrolet jumped to the lead at the start with Burman a close second and they held this order to the finish, drawing far ahead from Frayer, who finished third, and Miller fourth. The time was 9m. 3.6s. This was the first of the national championship races. A new record was set in this class, the former record being 9m. 49.46s.

Reed, driving a Stoddard-Dayton, won the five-mile free-for-all handicap in a field of sixteen cars. His handicap was 51s. Tousey (National,) 54s. handicap, was second, and Aitken (National,) 27s., third; time 3m. 3s.6s.

Oldfield (Knox) won a brilliant victory in the ten-mile championship for cars 451-600 cubic inches displacement with Merz (National) second and Kincaid (National) third; time 7m. 50.75s.

In a fierce contest in the home stretch Aitken (National) won the championship for ten miles for cars of 301 to 450 inches displacement and set a new record, 7m. 57.1s. Kincaid (National) was a close second with Merz (National) third. The former record in this class was 8m. 8s., which Kincaid himself made last Saturday.

Hub to hub, Bragg (Fiat) and Kirscher (Darracq) fought out the second ten-mile free-for-all to the home stretch, when Bragg set the crowd wild with a sensational burst of speed which took him over the timing-wire fifty feet ahead of Kirscher. Aitken (National) was third; time 7m. 2s.

CORNELL MAKES CLEAN SWEEP.

Varsity and Freshmen Crews Defeat Harvard—Superiority of Stroke Wins.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, May 30.—Sixteen strong-armed Cornell oarsmen swept Charles River today, the 'varsity crew defeating Harvard in a beautiful race by a length, while the freshmen completely outclassed the crimson eight, winning by six lengths. The water was rough.

It was Cornell's short, choppy stroke that proved superior to Harvard's long, rythmic swing. The Harvard oarsmen seemed to have plenty of power but for some reason stroke Cutler was content with an even thirty-two from start to finish, and although this held Cornell for the first mile in the rough water, in the last half Cornell's swift paddles and numerous spurts drove its shell steadily away, and there was a bit of open water between the boats as they darted across the line.

The time of the 'varsity race was: Cornell, 11:23; Harvard, 11:27.

In the freshman race it was: Cornell, 11:15; Harvard, 11:36.

Honors Are Divided.

NEW YORK, May 30. — Honors were divided in the Forty-fourth annual regatta of the Harlem Regatta Association today. Two easy races were the senior fours, won by the Arundel Boat Club of Baltimore, against the Malta Boat Club of Philadelphia, and the senior doubles won by Feussell and Sheppard, Harlem Rowing Club, New York, the champions of their class, against Stoll and Parke of the Arundel Boat Club of Baltimore. The course was one and a quarter miles on the Harlem River.

GOOD WORKOUT.

CROWD HOOTS JOHNSON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—Memorial Day was a big event at the Johnson camp, and the colored champion played to a capacity house in the afternoon when he went through his usual boxing stunts. For all that Johnson kept his audience waiting three-quarters of an hour, which occasioned much hooting and hissing. It was a good-natured crowd that greeted him when he finally made his appearance, and good judges declare it was one of the most satisfactory workouts since he has gone into training.

Johnson weighed less today than at any time since his arrival here. Before he stepped on the scales, he said he thought he was down pretty light, and this was proved when he registered at 215 pounds.

"That's a little too light for me," he said, "I aim to fight Jeffries at from 208 to 210 pounds, and I will have to put on a little weight in the next few days.

"I am glad to hear that Jeffries is in good condition," he declared "That's the way I want him to be for when I beat him, I don't care to have the excuses made that I have beaten a cripple or a fellow not in the best of condition. People who saw him in the ring the other night say he is in great shape and that pleases me."

Johnson's work consisted of eight rounds of boxing. His best preformance was four rounds with George Cotton. He followed that up with three rounds with Marty Cutler, who begged off from further exercising and then finished up with one round with Dave Mills.

Tomorrow Johnson will return to his road work, but on Wednesday he will be back in the ring again.

It was announced at the Johnson camp today that Al Kaufman will join the crowd of workers at the beach in another week, and that Billy Delaney has finally consented to supervise the training of the champion.

Denver Team Strong.

Denver has the best team it has had for many years. Some wise discriminating has been done in sifting out men and getting such an aggregation at the last. The team today has a ginger and spirit that is essential to success, but which no Denver team since the palmy days of Pop Evier has show.

MAKE GOOD.

MANY PLAYERS COLLEGE MEN.

Rah-Rah Athletes Prominent in Major Leagues.

Fred Tenney Led Hegira from Fields of Learning.

Coast Institutions Have Many Representatives in Game.

NEW YORK, May 28.—College men have played an important part in professional baseball, and many university players have developed into stars as members of big league teams. It is said that Fred Tenney of the Giants was the first collegian who made both the professional players and the fans comprehend what an up-to-date 'varsity man was really like. He did it with a vengeance, too, and the inimitable Dad Clarke was the goat.

Tenney had just joined the Boston team, and Clarke was about to pitch a game against Selee's performers. Dad had heard of Tenney's signing, and decided that he would scare the tender mama's boy right off the lot. He hunted for Tenney, approached him during practice, and remarked, with a terrible growl and a savage glare: "Say, you college lobster, you cheap imitation, you four-flushing rah-rah, you Willie boy from the elogy class, what business have you got around here mixing up with men?"

Tenney turned, a fierce-eyed figure, with black, straggling hair waving over a pair of vicious eyes. Sizing Clarke up for a few minutes, he began by squirting torrents of tobacco juice all over Dad's shoes. Then he turned loose a flood of explosives that curled Clarke up, leaving him in a dazed and helpless mass. When Dad came in he cried to Fred Knowles: "Say, that guy never went to college. That tough gazaboo never even went to night school."

FORGETS COLLEGE WAYS.

The collegian who breaks into the big leagues is usually from the smaller colleges, the jerkwater labor with their trigonometry. Men who can afford the pace of Yale, Princeton or Harvard, as a rule, are too well off to need a baseball contract, and on graduation step right into business at their fathers' offices. There have been some eminent Yale and Harvard men in the big league, but not many.

The students from the little colleges, rugged young fellows of tremendous physique, take as naturally to a ball player's life as ducks do to water. In a year or two they become amalgamated with the great mass of players. In five years it is impossible to distinguish the collegian by any sign of speech or manner, as the only way many of them are ever identified as 'varsity men is when an old classmate chances to encounter them. The big leagues contain many collegians, whose very schools are forgotten by all save the men themselves, and no list of big league college men ever printed has been correct for this strange reason. Tenney came from Brown, Murray from Notre Dame, and McCormick studied engineering at Pennsylvania; Devlin studied at Georgetown, Bridwell went to a jerkwater college in Ohio, the great Mathewson is from Bucknell, Meyers, the big Injun, went to Dartmouth.

Roy Thomas of Boston went to the University of Pennsylvania; Coffey, now with Indianapolis, attended Fordham; Beaumont, now with Chicago, is from Beloit College; Shean is from a college now apparently forgotten, and some of the other Beans are probably university men.

Of the Brooklyns, McMillan went to a southern college, McElveen to some university in the South, Scanlon to a medical college, and Wilhelm almost twenty years ago was the crack pitcher of an Ohio school.

OVERALL AT U. C.

Overall of the Cubs was a football star at the University of California, Reulbach pitched for Vermont and Notre Dame, Chance went to a California college, and Hoffman, Kane and Stanley got pretty well along in the educational line.

Huggins of the Reds went to law school, Dubec to Notre Dame, and perhaps some more of Griffith's men are from the little colleges. Grant of the Phillies is from Martell, a Catholic college, and Sparks is from a school in Alabama.

The champion Pirates, on the face of the return, seem shy of college men, but it is quite probable that some of them were rah-rahs and have forgotten to announce the fact.

Stroke of the Cardinals is from Brown; Bachman is a pitcher from Case Tech., (right name Barton;) Beebe is from the University of Illinois.

Heitmuller of the Athletics is from a California school, Collins is from Columbia, Davis is from Girard College, Philadelphia; Barry is a Holy Cross man; Plank hails from Gettysburg College, Coombs from Colgate, and Bender, the Indian, from Carlisle.

Stahl of the Boston Red Sox is from Illinois University, Hooper got a civil engineering degree upon the Coast. Hahn of the White Sox went to some tiny school of Ohio or Tennessee, Reilly is a Yale man, White is from Georgetown, Stephens of the Browns is from a small Texas college, and Harry Howell is supposed to have been a collegian long ago. Harry Gessler of the Washingtons is a graduate doctor, and a few more of the Senators may be concealing their college attainments even as they do their baseball abilities.

BOOSTING THE GAME.

Senator Bailey Urges Followers of Harness Racing to Try to Surpass Former Achievements.

NEW YORK, May 28.—Desirous to impress upon Eastern followers of harness racing the continued critical condition of their sport, H. K. Devereux, president of the Grand Circuit, made public today a letter from Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas, president of the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, in which the Senator says:

"I am very much gratified by the rehabilitation of the Eastern end of the Grand Circuit. If the events at Buffalo, Hartford and Readville are properly patronized by those who are campaigning stables and if contests are provided which will attract the public there will be no further question about suitable meetings at those places.

"I hope you and those associated with you will be able to sufficiently impress upon all who are connected with the trotting industry the importance of making the meetings at Buffalo, Hartford and Readville equal to the best, which has ever been given over those courses. They can not do so much in any other way to help themselves as they will do now by helping to make those meetings pronounced successes."

OARSMEN WILL BE BUSY.

Summer Schedule Includes Regattas That Promise to Produce Fine Performances.

With the American Henley at Philadelphia last week, this season's elaborate rowing programme was inaugurated. Of course, the most interesting and most important of the regattas is that of the American Amateur Association at Washington in August, when many foreign crews will compete. It was hoped that the famous Belgian eight might take part, but the athletic activities connected with the Belgian exposition will not allow this.

The programme of the most important regattas for the balance of the season follows:

May 30—Harlem Regatta Association at New York, on Harlem River.

June 18—Schuylkill navy at Philadelphia.

June 25—Mohawk and Hudson Rowing Association at Schenectady, N. Y.

July 4—People's regatta at Philadelphia.

July 4—New England Amateur Rowing Association at Springfield.

July 4—Connecticut Valley Rowing Association at Springfield.

July 9—Long Island Rowing Association at New York, on Harlem River.

July 9—Central States Amateur Rowing Association at Quincy, Ill.

July 16 and 17—Southwestern Amateur Rowing Association at St. Louis.

August 12 and 13—National Regatta Aemrican Amateur championship at Washington.

September 5 (Labor Day)—Middle States Regatta Association at either Philadelphia or Baltimore.

September 5 (Labor Day)—New England Rowing Association at Boston.

LION MAY CROSS WATER.

Hackenschmidt Will Probably Again Come to America—Match With Zbyszko.

Several well-known wrestling promoters in Kansas City are trying to influence George Hackenschmidt, the Russian lion, to come to this country again to display his prowess in the mat game. Hackenschmidt is the wrestler, it will be remembered, who was handled so roughly by Frank Gotch, the world's champion, when the two met in a title bout in Chicago two years ago.

One of the men who is working to get Hackenschmidt to come to this country again is W. W. Wittig. He arranged the bout with Gotch two years ago. When he was asked if there was a possibility of the big wrestler coming here, he said;

"In all probability Hackenschmidt can be persuaded to come. The best wrestlers in the world are in this country today, and it is to his advantage to make the trip. Of course, he cannot forget the battle with Gotch. Hackenschmidt still thinks he got a rough deal. However, that's ancient history; so what's the use in tal

McFarland Wins Sympathy But Not Decision.

English Champion Favorite by Long Odds.

American Crowds Opponent Against Ropes.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, May 30.—Packy McFarland of Chicago and Freddie Welsh, the British lightweight champion, fought a twenty-round draw tonight before the National Sporting Club. The fight was for a purse of $6500, and a side bet of a $1000.

McFarland had much the better of the bout. He led all the way, knocking his opponent against the ropes repeatedly, and forcing the fight in every round.

The verdict of the referee was received with much hostility. Welsh was the favorite at the opening of the contest, at 7 to 4, but before the fight was half over the sympathy of the crowd was wholly with the American.

CORBETT TRAINS.

STEALS MARCH ON JEFF.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BEN LOMOND, May 30.—Jim Jeffries spent Memorial Day casting for trout on the San Lorenzo River some miles above his training camp. The excessive heat caused the fighter to leave his camp early in the day to seek cool recreation along the river, and accompanied by Tex Rickard and Jack Wooley, went on a fishing excursion.

The camp, however, was aroused to life by the appearance of James J. Corbett, former champion heavyweight, who is to assist in getting Jeffries into proper form to meet Johnson. Corbett slipped into the camp unannounced and immediately went to work in the gymnasium to "limber up" and try himself out at some preliminary stunts, despite the heat.

The former champion elicited much favorable comment from the trainers who watched him, for his strength, agility, endurance and wind.

During the scorching noon hours virtually the entire camp drifted down the river to seek cool shady spots, but about 3 o'clock returned and Corbett at once donned his working togs. After an hour with the weights, an exercise and smart go of shadow-boxing, the fighting-actor went into the handball court where the thermometer might have registered ninety-five, and played a brace of smashing handball games. He won both and played his opponent into a state of near-collapse, but did not seem to be satisfied and called for a new opponent. No response met his challenge and to get up a good sweat and put his lungs to a test, Corbett danced around the handball court at another session of shadow-boxing.

After his hard spell of work, Corbett went into the rubbing-room with Farmer Burns, Roger Cornell, Bob Armstrong and Jack Jeffries, and each one of them in turn told Corbett that he had shown a world of unexpected power and speed.

"I'll be in great shape in about a week," said Corbett. "For several weeks I have been doing work and I feel good right now. If I can box anything like I used to, Jeffries and I shall have some good old sparring scraps."

Corbett returned to Santa Cruz in the evening. He will live there with his wife until the end of the training season. He explained that his wife preferred to live by the seaside and that it would give him little trouble to run the ten or twelve miles up to camp by train each day.

The contestants were divided into three classes, according to their height—senior, intermediate and junior.

Hop, step and jump for juniors—W. Shubert, first; W. Coyle, second; T. Gould, third. Distance, 29ft. and 3in.

Hop, step and jump for seniors—G. Clarke, first; R. Atkins, second; C. Davis, third. Distance, 36ft. and 4in.

CIRCUIT BICYCLE RACES.

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) May 30.—At the opening of the National Circuit bicycle races here today, F. L. Kramer failed to win either the half-mile or five-mile professional. W. Bardgett of Buffalo, with 55 yards handicap, won the first of these events in 55 sec., and the five-mile went to Norman Anderson of Denmark in 10:48. J. Magine of Newark won the three-mile professional in 6:44. The two miles, professional, was won by Fred Hill of Boston in 4:27.

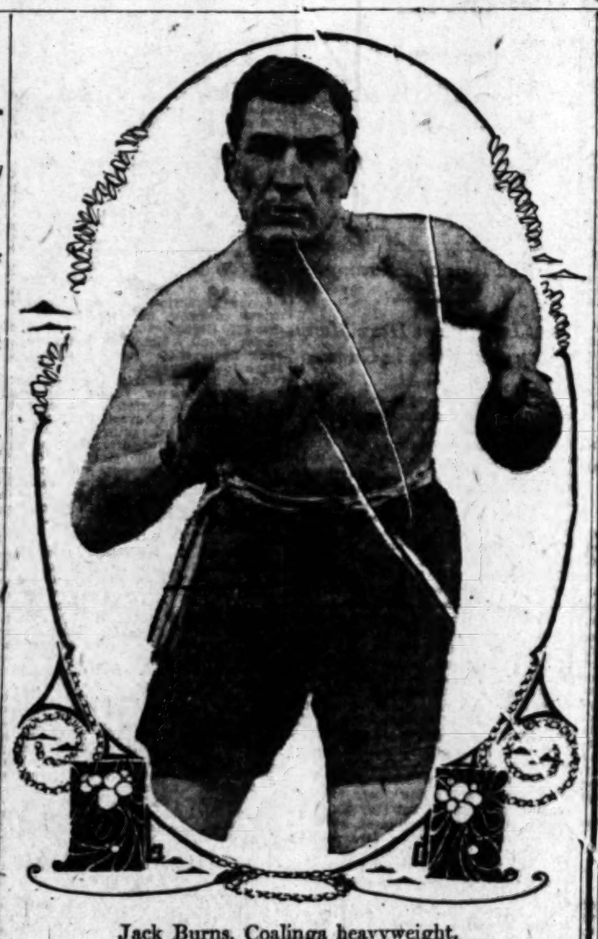
NEW YORK, May 30.—Manager Dahlen of the Brooklyn team was indefinitely suspended today by President Lynch of the National League for disputing the umpire's decision in Saturday's game.

Auto Company Generous.

To close seven big automobile plants down for three consecutive days, giving every employé a vacation at full pay, is a plan announced by the E-M-F Company and President Flanders in Detroit. During the week of July 11 the Elks convention occurs in Detroit. Flanders plans to give every employé the last three days of that week off to participate in the celebration or to otherwise enjoy themselves as they may desire. The cost to the E-M-F Company of doing this is $17,000 a day.



Jack Burns, Coalinga heavyweight, who is to fight Sandy Ferguson tonight at Naud Junction in ten round battle.

TROUBLE TONIGHT.

SANDY FERGUSON TO TAKE CRACK AT SALINAS JACK.

SANDY FERGUSON, the eastern pug, who ranks well among the heavies, is to make his first appearance in this city tonight. In tackling Jack Burns, Ferguson is stacking up against a tough customer, and as both men have much to gain as well as everything to lose, the contest promises to be one of the hardest fought ever pulled off at McCarey's pavilion.

Ferguson asserts that he will go after Burns from the tap of the gong and that he is confident that he will win within six rounds. If Ferguson finishes Salinas Jack in good style, McCarey has promised him a match with Sam Langford, the latter part of June, in the event of Langford's defeating Al Kaufman in their scheduled bout at San Francisco, June 13. Sandy has had the distinction of staying fifteen rounds with the Cave Man, and he is eager to get another crack at him.

Burns realizes that he is going up against a formidable man tonight but he has perfect confidence in his ability to best Ferguson. Doc Jeffrey, his manager, is counting on a quick victory and is just as confident as Salinas Jack that Ferguson is destined to receive a drubbing. Burns is in excellent condition and probably has trained harder for this match than for any other in which he has engaged in this city.

The order of the bouts tonight follows:

Harry Dunn and Berryl Hatton, 119 at 3, six rounds.

Paul Sikora and Kid Rees, 130 at 3, six rounds.

Hobo Dougherty and Herb White, catch weights, six rounds.

Jimmy Konkol and Willie Mack, 137 at 3, ten rounds.

Sandy Ferguson and Jack Burns, heavyweights, ten rounds.

First event at 8 o'clock.

In the semi-wind-up, Willie Mack is to meet Jimmy Konkol, a San Francisco lad, whom Burns's manager "discovered," and has taken under his wing. These boys are scheduled to go ten rounds and are to weigh in at 137 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Like Ferguson, Konkol is making his first appearance here, and is anxious to make a good showing.

Hobo Dougherty and Herb White promise to give a lively exhibition in their six-round bout. Neither boy will be satisfied with anything short of a knock-out and each is confident that he will win.

Berryl Hatton, the newsboy, who looks like a "comer," is scheduled to go six rounds with Harry Dunn. Hatton was just breaking into the amateur ranks a year ago, but he has demonstrated his ability to hold his own with any of the local bantams. Jimmy Austin found Hatton a hard nut to crack.

Kid Rees and Paul Sikora, who are billed for the second preliminary, are reputed sluggers. Sikora is a newcomer, and in order to make any kind of a showing he will have to sail in from the start, for Rees is anxious to work his way up in the fighting game and thinks a long list of knockouts in his favor is a valuable asset when talking with fight promoters.

Ferguson did his last work at Jack Doyle's yesterday morning and spent the remainder of the day at the beach. He will rest up today. Burns will have but a slight advantage over Sandy in weight and any advantage along this line will be offset by Burns's longer ring experience.

FLYNN-PAPKE BOUT.

Jim Flynn is to begin training at Jack Doyle's tomorrow afternoon for his twenty-five-round bout with Billy Papke, which McCarey is to stage at the Vernon arena, June 13. The Thunderbolt is to train at Venice and plans to begin work out tomorrow or Thursday. Jack Geyer is to act as Flynn's sparring partner. Geyer has been working with Jack Johnson and will return to the black's camp after he has worked a while with the Denver fireman.

MOST DIFFICULT BERTH.

Third Baseman Must Have Unusual Ability and Great Courage to Be in Major League.

Third base is undoubtedly the most difficult of all positions on a baseball field, and the great third basemen can almost be counted on the fingers of one hand.

A good third baseman must not only be quick to think and act, but must have a steel-like nerve. Many players have been successful at third base during practice, but could not stand the fire during a game. Great physical courage is required of a player in this position, and the slightest streak of cowardice or "yellow" as it is known in baseball lingo, will ruin his chances of drawing salary from a major league club.

Third base is difficult for several reasons. The player who attempts it has to handle the hardest hit balls that go through the infield, and has to make the longest throws on the diamond with less time than other infielders do it. He is closer to the batter when the ball is hit than any other man in the infield, except the pitcher, and this makes his work doubly fast and difficult.

The third baseman is called upon to handle more than 60 per cent. of the bunts, and that in itself is nerve-racking duty. Knowing that the runner is swiftly speeding toward first, the third baseman has to make a dash for the slow hit ball as it spins around in a tantalizing manner, and to get his man must throw almost without looking. If there is a runner leaving first on such a play, the third baseman must decide in a flash whether it is safer to get the man at second or first. Should he make a mistake or hesitate in the slightest degree both will be safe. A man who can face such a situation as this without a tremor is not lacking in coolness or deliberation.

Again, his nerve is tried when he is unable to decide whether the batter is going to bunt or "hit the ball out." Frequently the batter will make one or two feints at bunting for the purpose of drawing the third baseman in, and then suddenly drive the ball at him with all the force at his command. To meet such an emergency the third baseman must be absolutely devoid of fear and have no thought of personal injury.

There are two things which a third baseman must have by birth—a good pair of hands and a quick brain. He must be able to grasp a batted ball with either hand, and consequently a man with long hands and long fingers has an enormous advantage over the player whom nature has not so kindly endowed.

Trouble Brewing.

According to a rumor a big baseball war is brewing between the National and American leagues and it is scheduled to break at the end of the present season. It is said that the National League will break away from the American next fall, and instead of the two working in harmony there will be keen competition between them. If this should come to pass it might furnish better and cheaper baseball but it would not last and eventually would prove bad for the game. Wars of such nature invariably fail and some master hand gathers in all the profits.

To Resume Relations.

While the international collegiate games between the universities of Oxford and Cambridge and Yale and Harvard will not be carried out this year, assurance is given that negotiations will be started next fall for a meet in 1911. The reason the games were called off this year was that the negotiations were started too late. The English schedules have been made up before the negotiations were fairly under way. Oxford is to meet Dublin next month and the opinion was presented that the work of the two meets would be too heavy.

You can secure a lot in Arlington Square now at opening prices, $625 up. For a quick profit, I advise you to buy NOW. This property was acreage a few months ago. A tract of land held by an estate for years, while the city built up to and around it, both to the north and to the south. I have just placed it on the market, and such is the demand that my original prices cannot last long. Pay $25 cash for a lot, and $25 monthly. It won't be many months before you can turn your property at a nice profit. Good car service here—5-cent fare. City conveniences and improvements. This is just a little south of the beautiful West Adams district—high-class and desirable in every way. Come to my office for full information.

FRESNO VALLEY TRACT.
RICH SOIL, PLENTY OF WATER.
16 MILES SOUTH OF FRESNO.
When you buy acreage, buy it where success is certain. Buy where soil, water and transportation insure. Buy where handsome profits from your crops. Buy where the land will pay for itself; where it will double in value by the time you own it free and clear. This is only another way of saying buy in the Fresno Valley tract, just 14 miles south of the City of Fresno, a few minutes' ride on the car. The land is crossed by the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe railroads, each having a station on the property. Here is a thriving town, schools, stores, telephones, etc., within a few minutes' ride of a large, prosperous city. And the soil lies over a body of artesian water, reached at a depth of only 60 feet, with ditch water available at a very small expense. A share of water stock goes with each acre. Big money here in alfalfa, in dairying, in sugar beets, peaches, apricots, figs, walnuts and vegetables. Prosperous adjoining ranches prove the great possibilities—the certainty of success. INDOLENT TRUSTEES.

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] State Superintendent of Public Instruction Hyatt received a letter today from J. C. McGee of Santa Ana, asking if a school trustee can be ousted from office for not visiting schools as required by law. Hyatt replied that the school laws make it necessary for trustees to visit schools at least once a term, so if the Santa Ana trustees have failed to fill the job any citizen can bring suit in the Superior Court to oust them. This method is quite expensive and troublesome, says Hyatt, and would probably result in only a reprimand from the Superior Judge. This much, however, might prompt indolent trustees to action.

OLD SOLDIERS ARE REVIEWED.

President Watches Parade in New York.

Smiles and Bows as Vets March by Stand.

Takes Three Hours for the Parade to Pass.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 30.—Before the President of the United States there passed in review today what remains of New York's contribution of the war of the North and South.

The President had come from Washington especially to see the Old Soldiers pass the reviewing stand at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument on Riverside Drive, and as they trudged by they tautened their muscles, raised their gray heads higher and sought to show they were still fit and active.

The parade was nearly three hours in passing, but the President all the while stood bareheaded in the stand, bowing as the veterans passed by.

After the parade there was a short exercise at the base of the monument. It was cut short by a shower that wet the President before a secret service man rushed to his assistance with an umbrella. The President made no address.

Mr. Taft went back to his brother's house, changed his damp clothes and spent an hour and a quarter in an automobile ride through the Bronx to the Botanical Garden. After lunch he went to Jersey City and began the return trip to Washington.

This morning at Riverside Drive and Eighty-third street, a young man from the crowd broke through the line of police and ran toward the President's automobile. A secret service man and a policeman caught him, but he said he was merely trying to get across to the other side of the street. He was released.

A feature of the Memorial Day celebration was the work-horse parade in Fifth avenue. Two thousand dollars in cash and Boy's Wrist Doubly Fractured.

Frank Feciiter, a 6-year-old boy, was sent to the Receiving Hospital yesterday morning with a Colle's fracture—a fracture of one of the bones of the wrist and a dislocation of the other. Frankie lives with his parents at No. 1205½ Central avenue. He was romping about the hall yesterday morning, when owing to the fact that there is no railing about the stairs, he fell over the edge several feet, then rolled down twenty-five steps to the bottom. Those who heard him fall thought he had been killed, but the boy will be all right after a few weeks with his arm in a sling.

LARGE DEAL IN MEXICO.

Representative of Los Angeles Capitalists Buys Seventy-five Thousand Acres Near Culiacan.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nelson Rhoades, Jr., representing the Sinaloa Land Company of Los Angeles, in Western Mexico, has purchased 75,000 acres of valuable sugar producing land in Sinaloa near Culiacan on the Culiacan River. The property formerly belonged to the Alameda brothers who were among the largest producers of sugar in the western part of the republic. Rhoades was in El Paso on his way East to arrange for the disposal of the output of the plantation, which is one of the most extensive in the republic. In addition to the sugar plantation and mills the company is spending $300,000, gold, on a canal from the Culiacan River to irrigate a large tract of agricultural land in that State. The price paid for the properties of the Mexican sugar men was 3,500,000 pesos. The deal is one of the largest in the history of the Mexican sugar trade and is expected to develop the west coast country tributary to the Southern Pacific lines in Mexico.

Frenzied Women Cut by Broken Glass and Trampled in Fearful Crush—Police and Firemen Responding to Riot Calls, Are Powerless Until They Arrest Four.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Old women wrapped in shawls, young women bareheaded, and girls with scarfs over their heads, today swept against the dry-goods store of Frank Bramson, South Halsted street, broke in the glass show windows, shattered the glass door and through the opening thus made entered the store in quest of fire-sale bargains.

Two women were seriously cut by the broken glass and four of the clamoring bargain-hunters were arrested after two police patrol wagons and one fire patrol had answered a riot call. Men and women that have lived long on the West side unite in saying that never before has Halsted street seen such a fire sale.

A wild spirit had taken possession of some of the women. They raised their voices in cries that came shrilly from those nearest the danger of the glass and low and guttural from the women on the outer rim of the press. "When the wagon got there the street was full of women from O'Brien street to beyond Thirteenth street," said Detective Sergeant Kline of Maxwell street. "They all wanted to get in. You couldn't do anything with them. We arrested four people and put them in the wagon, and then it was easier."

Battle Creek Prosecutor Declares Anti-Liquor Law Works Two Ways.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BATTLE CREEK (Mich.) May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ministers who serve wine to their congregations will hereafter be classed as "bootleggers." This statement was made today by Prosecuting Attorney Howard Cavenagh of Calhoun County following an application of a Marshal clergyman for a doctor's prescription to permit him to buy communion wine. Calhoun is a "dry" county, and according to the prosecutor the local option law makes no exceptions in the use of wine or alcoholic beverages. Mr. Cavenagh says the ministers hereafter must use nothing stronger than grape juice for the communion service.

FOR COUNTRY'S SAVIORS.

ANGELENOS REVERE THE SOLDIER DEAD.

Patriotic and Inspiring Memorial Day Exercises in Simpson Auditorium, Central Park and the Cemeteries—Blossoms on the Graves.

LOS ANGELES, patriotic American city that she is, paid tribute yesterday to the patriots who died on their country's altar that the nation might not be rent asunder, and to the patriots living who braved the bloody storms of battle for the same cause. There never were more inspiring or larger-attended services here on a similar occasion. A striking feature throughout was the great number of children participating.

The main exercises were held in Simpson Auditorium in the afternoon. The hall was filled to overflowing with veterans and their friends. On the platform were the G.A.R. department officers, the speakers, and others deemed worthy of especial honor by the Grand Army of the Republic.

Since the last occasion, a number of the older members of the Posts have passed away. Remarking upon the fast-thinning ranks, one of the speakers said that soon the auxiliary societies will have the important duty of decorating the graves and holding the meetings, for the soldiers of nearly a half century ago will soon answer their last "taps" and join the eternal camp fire.

The members of the various Posts and allied bodies formed at Central Park for the march to the Auditorium on Hope street.

They were fewer and falling in strength, but mighty in spirit. About 150 veterans gathered to pass in annual review before the generations which have come into existence since the soldiers were mustered out, after the War of the Rebellion. Those who have not fallen from the ranks are a little more stooped and their hair is perhaps a trifle whiter, but the spirit in their hearts has not been dimmed a bit.

The procession was headed by a squad of police. The old soldiers marched next. They were followed by several hundred women, who are members of the various societies auxiliary to the military organizations. Veterans of the Spanish War, and the Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., brought up the rear. A. T. Large was grand marshal. The band played; the fife and drum corps shrilled its patriotic notes and the beautiful emblems of the nation waved in the breeze.

GUESTS OF THE NATION.

In Simpson Auditorium the grand marshal introduced Dr. W. A. Bentley as the president of the day. The latter thanked the people present for their tribute to the memory of departed soldiers. "The veterans are the guests of the nation today," said he. "And we also observe in fitting manner the memory of hundreds of thousands of soldiers who have passed beyond.

"It is well to keep alive the patriotic flames that burn in the breasts of our children and children's children. We keep no large standing army. The soldiers of the Civil War returned to their avocations when peace was declared."

Dr. Bentley declared that the Grand Army of the Republic is an organization founded on the highest principles of patriotism and equality for all. He said it stands for the protection of the home and fireside, and is pledged to uphold the liberty of the individual citizen.

Comrade O. T. Thomas stirred the pulses of the veterans by blowing well-remembered bugle calls.

After an invocation pronounced by Rev. Will A. Knighten, Comrade J. M. Lorets rendered a selection on the organ.

C. M. Fairbanks read Lincoln's "Address at Gettysburg," and J. A. Foshay led in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." The audience rose during the song and those with flags waved them in time to the music.

DAY STANDS FOR DEVOTION.

After a stirring number by the drum corps, Rev. Matt S. Hughes of Pasadena was introduced as the orator of the day. He treated his theme from a lofty standpoint. He said that war is terrible and its horrors could not be the source of inspiration for any memorial. He said the day stands for something other than the war itself—the devotion of the citizen-soldier who was ready to lay down his life for his country.

"What do we celebrate on this Memorial Day?" he asked. "What do we glorify in song and speech? Not war itself. My voice shall never be given to proclamation of the glories and grandeurs of deadly conflict.

"War is not glorious. The poet may sing, the orator may cast his magic spell, the hideous form may be covered with the magnificent robes of imagination, but war is not glorious.

"We celebrate not the bloody death, but the sacrificial spirit of those who gave themselves to death. We celebrate not the anguish and suffering of those dark and dismal days, but the devotion that bore the burden on behalf of the American republic.

"The glory of the citizen-soldier is found in the cause defended by his arms, in the principles for which he suffered and sacrificed, in the faith that inspired his loyalty and the love of country which he sealed with his blood. [Applause.]

"What was the cause which glorified the great struggle? What were the principles which sanctified the Civil War? To what do we appeal today in justification of the part borne by those veterans in our great national tragedy?"

To explain his position, Rev. Mr. Hughes reviewed some parts of early American history. He showed how the time came for a settlement of the slave question and how the compromise was reached. He declared that one can never compromise a moral question, and that lesson was afterwards learned through suffering and agony during the years of civil strife.

SOLVERS OF PROBLEMS.

"Look backward now," continued the speaker, "and ask ourselves some questions. Who solved the problems of our government compromises? Who firmly established the rocking, tottering American republic? Who continued the existence and perpetuated the power of the Constitution? Who preserved the Union in its integrity? There is but one answer to all these questions—the citizen-soldier. [Applause.]

"We were not a warlike people. Our little regular army was reduced to the limits of a division and scattered from Maine to California. The militia was neglected.

"But when the news came of the fall of Fort Sumter, the peaceful nation was transformed into a military camp, the industrious citizens into uniformed soldiers.

"Scan the list of leaders and you will see them coming from civilian life. Gen. Sherman was teaching school in Louisiana; Grant was running a tannery in Illinois; Logan was a lawyer, and Hooker a farmer.

"The leaders, including those educated at West Point, nearly all responded as citizens to the call to arms. The troops were composed of men from nearly every walk in life.

"No body of men under arms in all the history of warfare has ever been

MIGHT BE WORSE.

BURGLAR GLAD HE IS CAUGHT.

Will Accept Punishment and Live Straight.

He Does Not Wish to Worry Local Police.

Wanted Money to Reach Job Prisoner Says.

"I thought that the police of Los Angeles had enough trouble, so I didn't tryp any crooked work here," is the reason given by Charles Rummel, a County Jail prisoner, for having selected Alhambra as the place for committing burglaries Sunday.

From his statements, it is apparent that even crooks are beginning to have a soft feeling for the police department, and feel ashamed to even think of "turning a trick" here.

Although Rummel readily confessed yesterday that he had committed four burglaries, he still seems to have a sentimental spot. In one house he found a baby's bank. He said it was with reluctance that he forced the lock and extracted $1.50 in small change.

Rummel had more exciting experiences in the few moments which elapsed from the time he broke into the first house until he was captured, than usually come to an ordinary crook in a lifetime.

He was "sizing up" a house when the family bulldog spied him. The canine embraced him and carried away a considerable portion of the posterior section of his trousers. The dog's master rushed out and offered $1 as a recompense. Rummel forgot for a moment that he needed money badly, and was transposed again into the honest, hard-working man he had been for many years. He refused the coin. As a compromise, he finally took 25 cents and a needle and thread.

ENCOUNTERS WOMAN.

He encountered a most embarrassing situation in the home of Mrs. H. J. English, No. 722 East Main street. He had just entered through the window when she appeared on the stairs. He mumbled a few explanations, and fled. She called the constable.

Rummel does not consider that Constable Parker covered himself with glory when he made the arrest. The prisoner says that he has a weak heart and that he never could run very fast.

"I was born back in Buffalo, N. Y.," said Rummel, when asked to give a history of his life, at the County Jail yesterday. "When I was about 15 years of age I ran away from home. It was all right until winter came on in Michigan. It was too cold to sleep out at night and I couldn't get anything to do. I gave myself up to the police and was given three months for vagrancy. When I got out, it was

LOVE'S QUEER WAYS.

SAVED BY HIS WIFE FOR HIS AFFINITY?

THE unswerving devotion of a wife who was supplanted by a younger and more comely woman and the loyalty of a father, who battled to save his boy from the consequences of folly, have saved George C. Robbins, formerly an assayer of this city, who had offices with his father, Frank Robbins, No. 1400 Union Trust building, from being extradited from Mexico and brought back to stand a trial for bigamy.

A decision made by the First Federal District Court of Mexico yesterday acquitted the eloping assayer of bigamy after the Department of Foreign Relations had refused extradition, pending the court's decision. If the department now ratifies the decision—as it is probable that it will—the prisoner, who has been held on a request from Washington, will be freed within the next few days.

The acquittal was secured upon the technical ground that the proof of the alleged marriage of Robbins to Miss Lindsay was insufficient. He celebrated his bigamous nuptials in a Catholic Church of this city, January 7, of this year. The ceremony was described by the officiating priest and witnesses as a marriage, according to the affidavits presented to the Mexican court through the Washington offices, but Mexico does not recognize church unions, so Robbins based his defense solely upon that construction of the law and cleared himself in the District Court, whose decision will undoubtedly be sustained. The funds for the legal battle are understood to have been provided by the young man's father in this city, who remained loyal to the erring son in his time of need.

WIFE GIVES HIM AID.

A more peculiar aspect of the case is that the legal wife buried her resentment against the faithless husband and joined her father-in-law's family in an effort to save him from the consequences of his act. She steadfastly refused to testify against him or make affidavits which would help the prosecution, and it appears she even tried to hamper the local legal department.

Miss Mary Jack, the daughter of a wealthy ranchman of British Columbia, married George C. Robbins in 1902. The ceremony was performed in Portland, Or. The couple moved to Wallace, Idaho, where they lived several years prior to coming to this city, where Robbins built up a large assaying business and became widely known among mining men.

Early in 1909 the wife became dangerously ill and her husband constantly attended her bedside, nursed her night and day, and entertained her during a period of convalescence. The illness left her partially paralyzed and very nervous, but he humored her and Fullerton Tailor Cleared of Forgery Charge.

Schneiderman Tells of Trip to San Antonio.

Mistaken Identity Cause of Great Injustice.

Louie Schneiderman of Fullerton, who was arrested on May 17, upon a charge of having forged checks in San Antonio, returned to Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, vindicated.

Schneiderman was arrested without a warrant, spent six days in the Santa Ana jail, one day in the County Jail in this city, and a night in the jail at San Antonio. Had it not been for the belief in his innocence held by Sheriff Lindsay of San Antonio, he would have made the eastern journey handcuffed.

Immediately upon facing the bank officials who had reported the forgeries with which Schneiderman was charged the Fullerton man was released, entirely vindicated.

The president of the Alamo National Bank at once wrote Schneiderman a letter in which he said: "We regret very much the loss, annoyance and inconvenience caused you by you having been arrested and brought from your home in Fullerton, Cal., under a charge of forgery, of which you are entirely innocent. You were in no way connected with, or responsible for the crime of forgery referred to."

Schneiderman's experience has practically ruined his tailoring business in Fullerton, he says, for his orders have remained undelivered and his family has been left in a delicate position during his absence under the suspicion of his being a forger.

The worst part of the affair was the confinement in the San Antonio jail. Schneiderman states that the cell in which he was confined was unsanitary. An open sewer drain, in which there was no water flowing, filled a part of the ten by ten space and after the Mexicans and negroes, who occupied the jail with him grew quiet, the rats and vermin came from the sewer and literally crawled all over him.

There were literally hundreds of these rodents in the cell, together with other vermin. The only air came from a small grated window and the night was one of the hottest that Texas is capable of producing.

The arrest was made by Detective Mills and a Fullerton marshal, representing the Burns and Sheridan National Detective Agency, agents of the American Bankers' Association.

Mr. Schneiderman said last night: "The arrest was made without a warrant, by telegraphic request, and I was placed in jail in Santa Ana. A warrant was wired for A. J. Van Houten, alias O. H. Nance, after I had been in jail three days.

"I do not even resemble this Van Houten. The description calls for a man weighing 160 pounds. My weight is 180. I am almost bald-headed and my hair is black. The man wanted is sandy-haired with a heavy growth. He is round-faced and I am long. He was corpulent, and I am thin and I am fully a head the taller.

"After six days Sheriff Lindsay from San Antonio came and took me from Santa Ana to San Antonio. There I was placed in the most horrible cell a man can imagine. It is too awful to describe.

"In the morning Ernest L. Brown, assistant cashier of the Alamo National Bank; E. H. Prescott, paying teller of the same institution, and Frank H. Harris, teller of the State Bank and Trust Company, came to identify me.

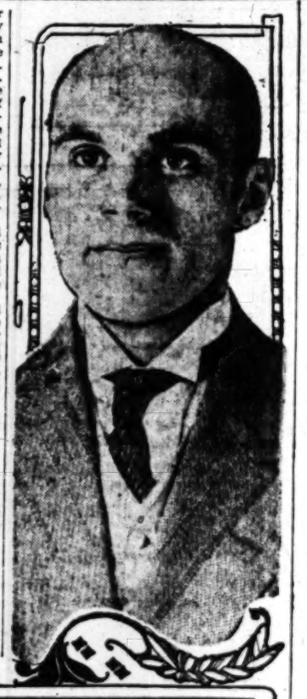
"Mr. Brown took one look at me, extended his hand, and said: 'I'm sorry, Mr. Schneiderman, that you have been put to all this trouble. You're not the man we want.' Harris took one look and said: 'This man does not even answer the description. There has been a blunder here some place.'

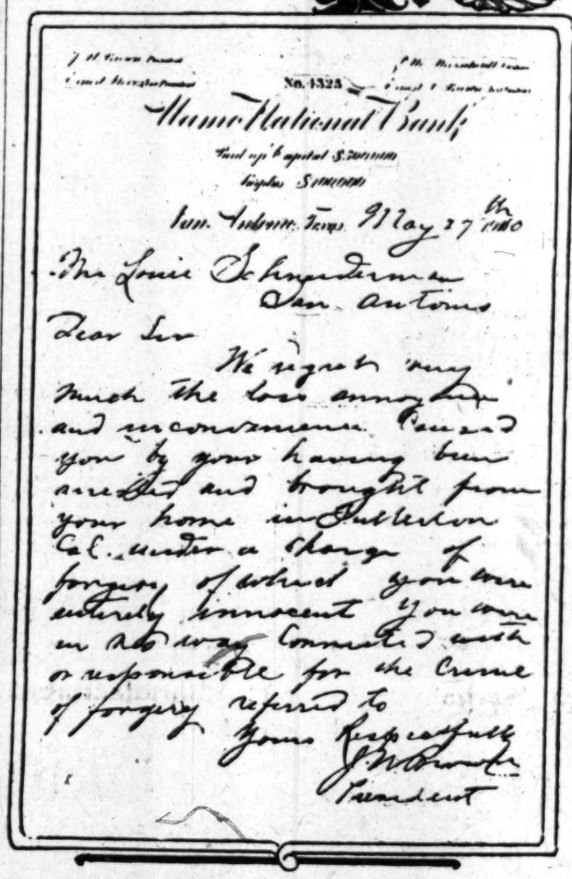
"The matter of the arrest was the worst kind of blunder. I showed passports from the United States government, discharge papers from the First Colorado United States Volunteers and complete other papers to establish my identity while I was in Fullerton, but the detectives would not listen to me. I convinced both the Santa Ana authorities and Sheriff Lindsay of San Antonio, but there was nothing to be done but go East and face my accusers.

"Mills, the detective who arrested me, was also shown the proofs, but he paid no attention and lied to me throughout the time I was in his care. He had only a telegram from the head office of Burns and Sheridan calling for my arrest and on that slight suspicion locked me up until a warrant was sworn out for Van Houten in San Antonio.

"In other words, I was held without warrant for six days, and when Sheriff Lindsay arrived the warrant was for Van Houten and not for me at all.

"The result has been that my business has been terribly injured and my wife and children have been subject to insult."





Victim of Blunder and Letter of Exoneration.
Louie Schneiderman, who was arrested without a warrant on a charge of forgery, taken to Texas, and released because he had nothing to do with the crime, as the facsimile statement shows.

FLOWERS FLOAT WITH THE TIDE.

UNCOMMON MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD AT VENICE.

Blossoms of the Southland Are Strewn Upon the Ocean as Tribute to Gallant Seamen Whose Remains Rest Beneath Waves—Dr. Locke Delivers the Oration.

VENICE, May 30.—The simple but impressive memorial services conducted at this beach this morning attracted one of the largest holiday crowds ever accommodated along these shores. Many persons witnessed for the first time the carrying out of the service of casting flowers on the ocean in memory of the heroes of the navy who have no graves. At 10 o'clock the parade formed at Midway Plaisance, under direction of A. H. Woodbine, and the line of march was along Windward avenue and the pier to the auditorium. Following the band were the city officials, Reception Committee, United States Veteran Navy, Naval Militia, uniform rank organizations, school children, civic organizations and citizens.

By the time the parade reached the auditorium nearly all the 3600 seats were occupied. The presiding officer was Judge Wilbur, who spoke briefly of the achievements of the navy in connection with the wars in which the United States was victorious. Rev. A. R. Taylor delivered the invocation. "Nearer, My God, to Thee" was the selection chosen by Clyde Collinson of Los Angeles, rendered on the pipe organ. Other selections were by the choir of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Los Angeles, assisted by Mrs. L. T. Stadden, Miss F. A. Marple, Spencer Robinson and H. B. Clark, under the direction of E. E. Davis. The Italian band also aided in the programme.

The patriotic oration was delivered by Dr. Charles Edward Locke of Los Angeles. His subject was "The Man Behind the Gun, or Why the Spaniard Could not Win in the Recent War." He said, in part:

"On this Memorial Day we would pay reverent and grateful homage to the countless martyrs who fell at their posts of duty, and are buried on land or sea. It is fitting in these days of piping and prosperous peace that our youth should be taught, and we should remind ourselves, that American liberty was purchased at a fearful cost. It was because myriads of brave patriots were willing to watch, and fight, and pray, and fall for their lofty, God-inspired ideals, that the Stars and Stripes float today over the happiest and richest and most enterprising nation in the world.

"I call your attention to the War with Spain and why the Spaniard could not win in that memorable contest.

"During the four decades that passed after the surrender at Appomattox, our nation was busy developing the superstructure of liberty and inculcating the broadest principles of freedom; and, satisfied with our own broad land, we did not dream of any larger mission. Suddenly, we found ourselves in the new role of defender and propagator of liberty. There came from a beleaguered people, hardly 100 miles off our eastern coast, a pleading cry, 'Come over and help us.' When it was known that thousands of human being were dying of starvation on account of the cruelty and incompetency of an emasculated government; after days of hesitancy and wondering whether the Stars and Stripes had any right to interfere, America gallantly leaped the narrow dividing sea, and, as a defender of liberty, brought freedom to an abused and grateful people. When the Stars and Stripes went to the relief of those suffering reconcentrados, the Pearl of the Antilles slipped from the palsied hand of Spain, and the butcher of the nations was driven from the American continent forever. It was a war for humanity and introduced America to its new part in the drama of nations, as a propagandist of liberty." He declared the Spaniards failed in the war in Cuba because they did not harmonize with the law of twentieth century. America won in that conflict because of the men behind the guns. The American soldiers and sailors were home-made, of dauntless courage, patriotism, of character. The Spaniard had just as many ships and just as many sailors, but they failed, because the American sailor is a man of character.

At the conclusion of Dr. Locke's remarks the assembly call was sounded and the parade was reformed for the march to the breakwater beyond the deep water end of the pier. Here the service of casting flowers upon the water was performed, the wreaths and bouquets being released at a given signal, to float at will with the tide.

INJURED MAN FIGHTS SURGEONS.

N. J. Taylor of No. 224 Griffith avenue, a mason's helper, missed his footing while climbing a ladder on a building, No. 124 Ruth avenue, and slid twenty feet to the ground, striking on his head. He was picked up with a broken arm and concussion of the brain, beside other minor injuries. The man was unconscious when taken to the Receiving Hospital, but rallied as soon as he was put on the operating table and tried to fight the surgeons and nurses in his delirium. He will recover.

Delegates from five States, representing what is known as the Colorado Association of Master Plumbers, met at Salt Lake City yesterday in annual convention. The States represented are Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico, Idaho and Utah.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

BIG PRODUCERS NOT ALARMED.

Agency Officials See Bigger Market in Future.

Why English Capital Is Going Into Oil Properties.

Lakeview Gusher Is Exciting Unusual Comment.

The daily performances and probable end of the Lakeview gusher form a never-ending subject of conversation where oil men gather. Recently it was reported in Bakersfield that there is a small amount of water coming up with the oil. This is strenuously denied by Col. Train, editor of the Maricopa News, who keeps in close touch with the gusher, and also by the Union Oil Company officials in the field.

Many oil men have discussed the theory that the flow of oil from the big well is the result of water pressure back of the oil, but none seems able to offer a reasonable suggestion as to where this water pressure comes from.

The present appearance of the well leads to the belief that all of the casing may have been ejected and that the hole may be enlarged to a diameter of several feet all the way down. The work of building a wall of earth riprapped with sacks of sand around the mouth of the gusher is not progressing very fast. The sacks are on the ground but the work of filling them and placing them in the oil morass is not a pleasant task, and workmen are not falling over each other in the effort to be first on the job.

The production of the Lakeview has been so large for so long a time—much longer than oil men expected—that the Union Oil Company, which has to care for the output, in addition to handling the big production of the members of the Independent Agency, is up against a hard problem. The matter of possible over-production was one of the subjects touched upon lightly at the meeting of the Independents at Bakersfield last Friday, but assurance was given by President St. Clair that new contracts recently made would soon absorb the production. He no doubt had in mind the contracts with the Great Northern Railroad and other lines of the Northwest, as well as the ever-increasing use of oil as a fuel.

In this connection evidence is accumulating to the effect that the British navy is fast making preparations to use oil in its vessels, and it is thought that this is the main reason why English capital is at this time making such large investments in California oil properties.

While some of the big producers offered at the Bakersfield meeting to shut down work for a time, and were told that it would not be necessary, the Union Oil Company, it is reported from Coalinga, has shut down work in that field.

The best indication that the officials of the Independent Agency do not fear over-production and a drop in the price of oil, is found in the basis on which the Doheny companies were admitted to membership in the agency. These companies were guaranteed 50 cents a barrel for their production for a period of three years, and practically all of the members voted to take them in on that basis.

GAS WELL EXTINGUISHED.

HOW FEAT WAS DONE.

The Standard's great gas well on section 26 in the Buena Vista hills no longer brightens the western sky. The burning gas was extinguished on Friday night by a deluge of steam from a six-inch pipe fed by the combined product of seven big boilers. A previous ineffectual attempt had been made with a three-inch pipe and steam from five boilers.

While the well was blazing it was an inspiring sight. Forty or fifty feet above the ground the flame began blue at the bottom and orange and red in the middle and at the top, flaring out a great balloon of fire 250 feet in height. The roar of the gas was so loud that ordinary conversation could not be heard except at a considerable distance from the well. When the air was still it is claimed that the noise of the gasser could be heard at Maricopa, ten miles away.

Accept the Pickett Bill.

Calvert Wilson, president of the Chamber of Mines and Oil, has sent the following telegram to T. A. O'Donnell in Washington:

"Chamber of Mines and Oil urges passage of Pickett bill as amended by the Senate committee. While this is not all oil men want, it is better than uncertainty of waiting for another session of Congress."

OIL GUSHER IN CITY.

Breaks Out on First Street and Runs Into Rampart—Good Quality of Crude.

The city discovered yesterday that it has an oil gusher at First and Burlis streets. The oil broke through the surface of First street about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and flowing at the rate of about three barrels an hour, spread over the left hand side of the street half down the hill at that point, within a short time. The curb, forming a sluiceway, carried the oil down First street and into Rampart street, which has a number of bungalows on it.

Oil men who inspected the gusher, say that before First street was graded, there were many oil wells in the neighborhood. The wells were abandoned when it was proposed to improve First street, and it is probable that the casings were not withdrawn. The oil is now being forced upward by gas pressure. It is of good quality.

William Laws, superintendent of streets, was notified late yesterday afternoon, and hurried out to see what can be done to abate the nuisance. Rampart street residents are afraid that unless the gusher is promptly capped, the oil may be set on fire by inquisitive boys and menace their homes.

LOSES HER FAITH.

Woman Declares She Made Mistake by Accepting Christian-Like Talk for Rent Receipt.

Mrs. A. H. Champion, formerly of Indianapolis, has lost her faith in Christianity as a substitute for rent receipts. She told her troubles to the police at Central Station yesterday. Mrs. Champion is the daughter of a minister and she has a son studying for the ministry, back in Indiana. When she came to Los Angeles on account of some throat trouble, she looked for a nice, religious landlady. This she found in Mrs. Elizabeth Alexander of No. 544 Wall street, a member of the "Holy Roller" congregation.

Mrs. Champion paid $2 for a week's rent and asked for a receipt, but she says that Mrs. Alterinder assured her that between Christians receipts were altogether unnecessary. The Christianity end of it appealed to Mrs. Champion and she let the receipt go. But yesterday Mrs. Champion wished to move to new quarters. She was asked to leave her trunk until she had paid $2 for rent claimed due. Mrs. Champion complained that some of the things said were decidedly unchristian-like, and she hurried to the police station for a policeman, but Capt. Dixon advised her that the cheapest way out of it was to pay the two plunks, get a receipt and move.

LOCAL RAILROAD RECORD.

ELECTRIC LINES HANDLE CROWDS.

THOUSANDS JOURNEY TO BEACH AND MOUNTAIN.

Standing Room Only Final Result of Rush for Country as Cars Leave Pacific Electric Building and Hill-Street Station—Not a Serious Accident Happens.

More than 100,000 persons took advantage of the two and a half days of holiday to leave the city for at least one day's vacation at the mountains and beaches.

Beginning Saturday night, the electric and steam cars were packed with pleasure seekers, and for three days the railway companies have been taxed to their utmost in an attempt to accommodate the crowds.

Long Beach, Venice, Santa Monica, Redondo and Mount Lowe are places that attracted most.

At Long Beach yesterday fully 10,000 persons packed the space in front of the bathhouse, and the crowd of Sunday was fully as large. The Pacific Electric officials estimated the haul for the two days at 20,000 a day. That this estimate is not too low is shown by the fact that every seven minutes three-car trains loaded to the guards, left Sixth and Main street station, while at Long Beach, the crowd on the Pike and on the pier was equal to that on the beach.

The Hotel Virginia served all the guests it could accommodate, while the uptown restaurants were jammed.

The crowd at San Pedro and Point Firmin was immense. A ten minute schedule was put in force from the harbor to Point Firmin on Sunday and was maintained all day yesterday.

The Balboa crowd was large, with fishermen in the majority. In the space of twenty minutes yesterday morning, nine cars left for the beach with every one carrying a standing load.

Newport and Sunset Beach were also well attended and this lead was outside of the organized picnic crowd.

There were five picnics on the list on Saturday, and an equal number Sunday. Yesterday the Franciscan Fathers held a picnic at Schutzen Park, which was attended by fully 600 persons, mostly of St. Joseph's parish.

The Methodists gave a picnic at the end of the Balboa line, which drew 400 merrymakers, while the Broadway Christian Church outing was attended by 250 people.

More than 1000 travellers went up the Mt. Lowe railway yesterday, while the traffic for Sunday and Saturday was equally as great. The fact that the comet is still visible from the mountain is the main drawing card at the present time. In support of the Mt. Lowe crowd, about an equal number of persons has been heading for Mount Wilson, by way of the Sierra Madre line.

Saturday, Sunday and last night crowds nearly swamped the kitchens of Casa Verdugo, while every one of the Redondo, Santa Monica and Venice cars have been packed to capacity.

Venice has been one of the popular points of interest, because of the Ship Hotel's popularity, while Ocean Park and Santa Monica have drawn family parties.

The Coronado travel has been heavy, while many persons have gone as far north as Santa Barbara for their vacation.

New Superintendent.

The Southern Pacific officials have received a bulletin effective June 1, which names J. M. Davis, formerly of the Oregon Short Line, superintendent of the northern division of the Southern Pacific with offices at San Francisco. Davis succeeds J. H. Young, resigned, and will have control of the Southern Pacific lines, from Santa Barbara north of the Coast and from Fresno of the Valley line. The territory will extend east as far as Sparks, Nev., and north to Ashland. The change is the result of the recent western tour of the Harriman officials, who went into the western situation thoroughly.

SEVERAL VICTIMS.

CARELESS ONES LOSE PROPERTY.

SWIMMER GIVES CASH TO MAN WHO DISAPPEARS.

Beggar Steals from Bachelor Who Would Feed Him, Butcher Hides Money in Shop, But Burglar Gets It, Auto Is Stolen and Woman Complains of House Being Robbed.

Thieves, burglars and confidence men were busy yesterday and Sunday night, and careless citizens are mourning the disappearance of sundry articles, ranging from jewelry and money to an automobile.

Frank Grott of No. 440 East Fourth street was one of the first to call on the detectives with a tale of woe. He had just returned from Long Beach and asked the detectives to arrest Frank Edwards—at least, Grott thought that was the name. Grott said that Edwards had been his friend for about three weeks. They went to Long Beach together, and Grott asked Edwards to hold his money while he went swimming. Edwards was willing, and Grott handed him $62, which Edwards is believed to be still holding.

D. K. Murphy of No. 1030 Maple avenue came to grief through his goodness of heart. He met a hungry beggar in the street. Murphy has certain scruples against giving money to a beggar, so he invited this one to his bachelor quarters, promising a good, square meal. The beggar was invited to make himself at home while Murphy went into the kitchen to cook some ham and eggs for him. But this beggar did not seem to have much of an appetite for ham and eggs, or else he had no confidence in Murphy's culinary abilities. He quietly walked out while the eggs were frying—and he took $25 of Murphy's money with him.

Joseph Erth, a butcher, whose place of business is at No. 3728 Central avenue struck a pretty neat scheme to save himself annoyance by the closure of the bank for two days. In order to have enough cash on hand when he opened for business Monday morning, he hid $75 behind the refrigerator in the butcher shop, Saturday night. But when Erth went to work yesterday morning, he found the back door of the shop pried open. He did not find his $75.

A. Forsberg of No. 3429 Pasadena avenue left his automobile—a Baby Reo, license No. 20401—standing in front of No. 308 South Spring street at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning. When he returned a few minutes later, the car was gone. It is seldom that automobiles are stolen in broad daylight, but the thieves have been meeting with so much success in this line recently that a notice was posted at police headquarters, advising all owners to lock their cars and motorcycles securely whenever they leave them on the street.

The Automobile Club of Southern California recently adopted a plan of campaign for the vigorous prosecution of this character of thieves, but the police have not yet furnished them with any material for prosecution.

Mrs. A. J. Logan complained to the police that a burglar had entered her home, No. 1327 Magnolia street, and stole $47, besides a quantity of jewelry.

RATS KINDLE BLAZE.

They Gnaw Matches in Cupboard and Start Fire That Threatens Shopping District.

Rats in a cupboard of Liberty Hall, one of the rooms of the Foresters' Hall at No. 107½ North Main street, endangered life and property throughout the shopping district at noon yesterday. The rodents found the cupboard full of paper and relics of former feasts in the shape of greasy wooden plates, etc. They gnawed a lot of kindling and then attacked a box of matches.

Secretary John Furrer of the Hall Association noticed the smoke and dashed a bucket of water into the cupboard, but the fire seemed to have gained considerable headway inside the plastered walls, and a fire alarm was turned in. Traffic throughout the business district was paralyzed for a few minutes, while engines, trucks and other apparatus went dashing to the corner of First and Main streets, but it was found that Furrer's bucket of water had done its work pretty well and the firemen had little to do.

LAND OPENING

"Get Ready" Excursions By Gasoline Motor Cars Carry Hundreds

Land Buyers From All Parts of California Visit Great Lankershim and Van Nuys Ranchos, Preparatory for Opening of Sales Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the great Lankershim and Van Nuys Ranch will be thrown open for actual selling. The excursions today to visit property at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m., will carry an extra large number of intending purchasers.

It is not often that a land subdivision has such substantial merit that the owners encourage prospective buyers to make preliminary excursions in order to investigate it.

Generally, in land selling, efforts are made to work up great enthusiasm, which will influence crowds of people to buy without any investigation.

The Lankershim and Van Nuys Ranch is not placed on the market with a view of making profits for speculators, but primarily as a great development project, and since its character is such that the more it is investigated the more it appeals to the purchasers, the Board of Control has arranged interesting "get ready" excursions on the Southern Pacific's new Gasoline Motor Coach, so that everyone can become acquainted with the property before actual selling begins.

The fact that one can travel over 30,000 acres of grain without seeing one acre of second grade land gives some idea of its richness and desirability.

It is unquestionably the finest body of soil in the State of California, and its boundary is only four and one-half miles from Hollywood, now part of Los Angeles.

For every form of agriculture and horticulture the Lankershim and Van Nuys Ranch offers opportunities that have never been approached in this generation. A second edition of booklets containing a map of the property is being distributed by the Los Angeles Suburban Homes Co.

Keep in mind that tomorrow the ranch will be thrown open for selections, and if possible do not fail to make one of the Gasoline Motor Coach excursions over the Southern Pacific to inspect the property. Two excursions daily, 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Half a million dollars will be allowed settlers who build satisfactory houses, garages and barns, in discounts of 50 per cent. of the cost of the improvement, and the Board of Control has outlined other improvements which will cost a Million Dollars more, including a grand double boulevard, to be known as the world's greatest speedway.

Los Angeles Suburban Homes Company of the historic San Fernando Valley, 219-220 Central building, corner Sixth and Main streets. Commission paid to real estate agents.

A watch ticks 157,080,000 times a year. If only the grocer and the tailor would do likewise, what a comfortable world this would be to live in!

The Democratic party of Los Angeles county takes pleasure in making the announcement that it has dug up a sufficient number of men to act as a full ticket.

An eminent Englishman declares that steam heat is the curse of American hotels. This is the first chivalrous defense of the bellboys that we have ever seen in print.

The spectacle of William J. Bryan en route for Edinburgh to attend a Sunday-school convention must fill some of the old Andrew Jackson Democrats with awe.

A Baltimore poet has written an epic entitled "Col. Roosevelt Abroad." We have not read the verses, but we have no doubt that they have Alfred Austin beaten a mile.

President Taft does not appear to be much under the influence of the trusts or he might have refused to pardon Spitzer, and the public would have been no wiser about the affair.

A news item states that a "players' club" is to be organized in a Philadelphia club; but whether it is to be composed of baseball players or croquet players we have not been informed.

It seems to us that Mr. Carnegie is the very man to bring about international peace. He knows all the rulers personally and can always reach them when he wants to talk things over.

Memorial Day's memories will long be sweet for Schneiderman of Fullerton. His case emphasizes the suspicion that innocent men have been hanged for crimes, through judicial blundering, ere now.

The Democratic Congressmen who objected to President Taft's traveling expenses did not anticipate the row they were stirring up in their southern stronghold. Georgia thinks less of northern Democrats than ever.

The Chicago unionists who say the goddess of justice is not only blind, but stupid, may thank their stars that it has not fixed its eye on them. No greater treason was ever preached than is found in the utterances of such men.

A coyote that made its appearance in the streets of Grangeville, Idaho, was chased by people returning from church till it was cornered and killed. It was then reported mad; but what animal would not have been mad under the circumstances?

Twenty thousand additional workmen are needed in Washington, while elsewhere the laborites are asking for shorter hours that an alleged surplus of men may be given work. Such men are seldom seen heading for points where real work is awaiting laborers.

SO WE TOLD YOU.

From all parts of the Great West, from the mouth of Puget Sound to the head of the Gulf of California and from the watershed of the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean shore, goes up everywhere a cry for more unskilled labor to do the work of the day. The Great Northwest calls for 20,000 men to work on railroads, in mills and in harvest fields.

We have just filed a report by the State Labor Commissioner as to conditions in California. This report informs us that in fifteen months to January 1, 1910, 836 Japanese laborers entered the port of San Francisco while 4182 sailed away from that port, showing a net decrease of 3346.

We are a little surprised at the fairness and courage of this report by the State Labor Commissioner. He tells us flatly that there is need of thousands of unskilled laborers to do the work of the country, including that of gathering harvests, and that the only sources of supply are China and Japan. He gives the first place to the Chinese for their industry and obedience to orders, and close behind them follow the Japanese. They are plain livers and very mobile. When the citrus fruit harvests of Southern California are about all gathered it is little trouble for these nimble workers to transport themselves to the Sacramento Valley to gather cherries, apricots and prunes. Later on they migrate into the San Joaquin Valley to gather the raisin crops.

Perhaps the greatest mistake that ever was made was in the passage by Congress of the Chinese exclusion law known as the Geary act. It was purely and simply a wretched political movement, conceived and exploited in order to curry favor with the rabble and get votes to land insincere demagogues in office.

For years The Times has been pointing out the gravity of this mistake and wondering if a modification of the present restrictive laws could not be brought about. We are far from advocating the admission of an unlimited number of Asiatics into the country, but it would be the height of wisdom to silence the outcry of those who have no concern in the matter, to strengthen the weak knees of politicians, to modify the Chinese exclusion act and to enforce less severely the restrictions against the Japanese.

THE PUNDIT AND THE INVENTOR.

Glenn H. Curtiss has guided his biplane from Albany to New York, a distance of 137 miles, in two hours and thirty-two minutes. The average rate of flight was nearly fifty-five miles an hour. At times the airship must have made at least a mile a minute.

When Louis Paulhan near Los Angeles last winter made new records in height and distance of flight, too, there was much speculation, on the part of laymen mostly, as to the immediate possibilities of airships. The question of their use in war was dwelt upon by many newspaper writers. Then the pundits, whether their sphere was pure science or specifically military science, rose up with too much unanimity and informed us that the day was far distant and probably never would come when machines navigating the air would be available for any practical use in war.

Pundits of a similar type have told us of all sorts of possibilities. It was an accepted theory, demonstrated to the satisfaction of the scientific world, that no baseball enthusiast could by any twist of the wrist, elbow or shoulder cause a baseball to curve in the air. Science was unanimous on this head; but the pitcher learned the trick, as the batter well knows, and a baseball now curves in the air, an in-curve or an out-curve, an up-curve or a down-curve. It is at the will of the pitcher, if he is an expert at his business, which way the curve will be produced.

So the pundits will have to put on better magnifying glasses and look over the subject again very carefully before they proclaim with so much positiveness that airships will be negligible in the wars of the future. In the face of this flight by Glenn Curtiss and of the still longer flight by Louis Paulhan from London to Manchester the other day, it would certainly appear as if the "Dreadnought" type of battleship would be transferred to the clouds from the waves.

SLUMP IN WHEAT.

So the 75,000 or 80,000 American farmers who are leaving the country to go raise wheat in the British Northwest may be disappointed in part as to the profits of their enterprise. There is a slump in wheat that pretty well covers the world.

It is not probable that American-grown wheat will ever be much cheaper than it is now. We have scarcely any surplus for exportation, and so long as the crop is used at home the prices will probably be well maintained. Of course the maximum wheat crop of the United States has not yet been reached. The wheat-growing territory is not all exploited, and more careful cultivation will produce larger average yields. But the population, which is growing at the rate of about a million and a half a year, is likely to gain at a more rapid ratio than the increase in the production of cereals.

But when it comes to the wide world the human family is not going to lack for the staff of life. Canada is not half developed in its wheat-producing capabilities, nor is Russia. The vast uncultivated territory in British America and in Siberia is capable of keeping the human family in a sufficiency of wheat bread probably for another 100 years.

THE BRITISH FRAY.

Will a kingly corpse stop the British fray? Not in that identical language, but in words to that effect, the question was asked when the remains of Edward VII lay upon the royal bed in Buckingham Palace. At that time, swayed by the deep feeling caused by the swift departure from earth of a loved sovereign, Britishers were inclined to urge a truce between Lords and Commons. Now, however, that the grave has opened and closed at the end of the kingly peacemaker's path of glory and the first emotions have passed, the politicians are preparing to renew the fight. "There must be no let-up," say the radicals. "Death and taxes are the common lot. No corpse must be allowed to stay our attack on the hated aristocrats. Down with the Lords!"

And in their determination to proceed with the struggle the "rads" have the support of the fierce and fussy Nationalists. "Asquith has burned his boats!" vehemently declared Redmond the other day. "He cannot go back."

The British Parliament will resume its sittings on June 8, so we shall not have to wait long to see if Redmond, who has been called the uncrowned king, just as Parnell was styled, speaks by the book. We may take it for granted, however, that the fierce political controversy cannot break out at least for a week or two after the houses reassemble. The reason for this is that there are certain state necessities which will compel even Redmond and his eager followers to pause.

Before the Irish leader can exclaim "Up, boys, an' at 'em!" the civil lists of the new reign must be settled, a regency bill passed, and no doubt King George will insist upon a change in the royal declaration removing the words which are so obnoxious to Roman Catholics. This can only be done by act of Parliament.

It is obvious, therefore, that the "dog days" will be upon us before the British politicians will bite one another in earnest again. Then there will be some mighty yelpings within the shadow of "Big Ben." But we make bold to prophesy that when Parliament adjourns in time for the grouse shooting, August 12, the House of Lords will still be standing, although Mr. Redmond may be very hoarse.

A Noble Memorial Shaft Erected in Honor of a Beautiful Soul.

YESTERDAY afternoon there was dedicated in Hollywood Cemetery a noble shaft of Vermont granite, erected there in memory of the late Eliza A. Otis by her husband, Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, editor of the Los Angeles Times. The dedication took place in the presence of a concourse of people in which were included persons eminent in various walks and ways, veteran soldiers, citizens, journalists, many old friends and long-time admirers of the dead poet, who passed from this world to the world beyond in November of the year 1904.

The ceremonies were quite devoid of any spirit of sadness, seeming rather to take on the jubilant ring of victory over death, the triumph of remembrance over Time, the challenge of love against oblivion. As the resonant and eloquent tones of the orator and the sweet, harmonious voices of the singers fell upon the listening throngs, the veil that separates the living from the dead hung delicately as the gossamer of the winds, and the imagination easily and naturally pictured the presence of the absent one there in the living presence of those who had gathered, as often before, in her honor.

The scene was one that Mrs. Otis, with her poet's soul, would have herself delighted in. There was no touch of gloom about it, anywhere. Its voice was vibrant, its setting bright with color, its atmosphere holy with the faith that was her faith. The day was such a day as she loved when she sang:

"Not a cloud anywhere in the sky,
Not a breath in the wide air astir;
Not the spread of a sail, or the whirr
Of a wing in its flight through the deep,
Luminous sky; the bee is asleep;
The flowers are breathless and still——"

About her splendid tomb flowers of every hue—the flowers that she touched to brighter radiance with her songs—were heaped high. Over her, as a coverlet, was stretched the soft greensward. Away to the blue sea swept, in the golden sheen of the harvest, the broad campagna; softly, in the glow of the afternoon, the hills of Hollywood that she loved so well, closed in as though with affectionate embrace; and far beyond towered the majesty of the Mother Mountains, unto which, in her days upon earth, her eyes were often lifted and from whence so often came her help.

When some one spoke, his voice was like a voice in a dream. The tenuous melody of the Memorial Bells floated from their towers as from afar; the beat of a muffled drum when the old gray men of battle came marching in from the dusty highways, struck gently and without regret on the listening air.

Came they, then, the people to see all this, to learn all that it meant. Came they to speak a well-beloved name and to recall a presence well beloved in life and unforgotten in death. They came to keep her company on a day for remembrance where she rests in the warm bosom of the land she loved, to listen once more to the music of her songs, to wreathe new garlands for her fame, to gain renewed strength from the consciousness of her strength, and to fill their hearts anew with the gentleness that they so often looked to her to impart, and never in vain.

The memory of Mrs. Otis as a poet was celebrated by the people for whom she sang by the Memorial Bells which were erected in the beautiful cemetery where her grave is laid. Yesterday's ceremonies were more properly to celebrate her uplifting virtues as wife and mother. The bells tell their own story, and the gray monolith wrested from the granite hills of far Vermont tells also its story. The debt owed to her by him at whose side she was so long present, both in war and in peace, was yesterday acknowledged to the world in a manner to endure against the insidious onslaught of Time. Her children and her children's children who were there yesterday will pass as she has passed, but the gray shaft that was torn from the heart of the north, in a commonwealth at the other rim of the continent, will not soon crumble or decay.

True wife and faithful mother that she was, it was still as the poet that they spoke of her yesterday. Not any true poet has ever been forgotten. The poets who lived in the dim ages of the past, before the days of the printing press or the papyrus, even, left their songs on the lips of the people, and they are on the lips of the people today. So it has not been to perpetuate her fame that sweet-toned bells have been hung to make melodious the air, or that this monument of stone has been lifted, but to make tangible expression of the people's love and of the love of him whose companion and helpmate she was through strenuous days of danger and through weary years of toil.

Wherefore, when the years have taken away all those who breathe the breath of life now, this poet's fame will endure. Among the poets of California, particularly, her place is secure. No poet of "the wondrous land" sang more sweetly of it than she. Among all that palm-crowned company none were heard farther or with more striking response. For a quarter of a century her poems, through the columns of this and other journals, traversed the globe and were read in every civilized country of the world. She was not without honor in her own country or in any other.

Who can count the thousands that, on the road of dreams, came to California in the lure of that one song of hers through which rolls this majestic music?

"Land glorious in beauty! Thy broad fields
Are orchard-nursing breasts, while vineyards wide
Drowse in the daylight, with their purple tide
Draining the sunshine, which forever yields
Its ripening splendor till the soft warm eve
Droops down upon the land, its starry eyes
Filling with tender lights the far-off skies—
Eves when the song of bird
Is tremulously heard,
Filling within the starry silences,
In the dusk-gardens where the blossoms sweet
Baptize with fragrance every wanderer's feet."

Perhaps the most touching and eloquent incident of this memorable day was the tribute of the Grand Army to the memory of Mrs. Otis. A few moments before the ceremonies began, and while the people were awaiting Dr. Healy's opening words, a blue-garbed post of veterans of the Civil War marched through the gates and took up a position facing the monument then about to be dedicated. The roll of the muffled drum ceased, the commander advanced from his position and laid a garland of bright blossoms at the base of the granite shaft, already embanked in flowers. Then came back in memory the dream-music of all the tender and noble songs she had sung of the gray men of battle, whom she so cherished.

And there came especially the echoes of her song that said:

"Bring the spotless lilies, opening buds and roses,
Heap high the garlands where our heroes lay,
Rich be the fragrance where their dust reposes,
Green be the laurel, amaranth and bay."

. . . . . .

"O spirit of the martyrs! Ye mighty, unseen throng,
Ye army of the faithful who to all time belong,
From far Atlantic's waters to these peaceful sunset gates,
Love her tender watch is keeping. Glory round your ashes waits."

The skyward-pointing shaft that marks her grave points to the country to which the great captains have gone, the land in which the soldiers of the legions rest in tents of everlasting peace "under the shade of the trees on yondar side of the river."

The Monument of Vermont Granite, erected to the memory of Mrs. Eliza A. Otis by her husband, and dedicated yesterday afternoon.

Thither also she has gone who was a soldier's wife, and who loved her country and its flag with a love that must endure beyond the portals of death. There have they welcomed her, and there she waits to welcome home those who are yet to come.

Doubtless there were also many among those who came to visit Mrs. Otis yesterday, where she sleeps beneath the shaft of granite, who recalled her prophecies concerning the future of her loved California of the South. Poets have ever had the gift of prophecy. They see things that we do not miss and hear voices that we cannot hear. They see beyond today—upon them has fallen the gift to know what is to be, as well as to know what is. From Elijah down the long line of poet-seers, through David and Dante, Homer and Shakespeare, the poets seem to have been chosen as the spokesmen of destiny. She predicted the marvelous present of California and also its magic future with the touch of the inspired dreamer. In many a song of gladness and jubilation she sang of the favored clime which is destined to shelter the newer and gentler and greater race of men. "The glory of the land that fronts the west," she called it.

"Poets here and grand immortals in the realms of art and song,
Patriots shall tread its portals and the sons of science throng.
Here where Summer ever lingers, here where lofty mountains rise,
Thrusting upward granite fingers to the deeps of cloudless skies."

It was sweet to recall, yesterday, the woman whose songs were such as these. It was good to sit with her, as of old, in the soul of her dreams, as they surely did who were of the company there gathered together. It was a kindly hour—an hour when "the slant of the sun is just right"—an hour uplifting in its holy gentleness, comforting in the promises it gave, ennobling in the atmosphere of its deep and lasting influences.

In a way it was to be regretted that the public at large could not have enjoyed the opportunity to take part in the ceremonies. Among the organizations represented by chosen deputations present were the following: Grand Army of the Republic; Military Order of the Loyal Legion; The Eliza A. Otis Memorial Association; the Y.M.C.A., and the Y.W.C.A.

But that many thousands of people will view the monument just dedicated to her memory, in the days and years to come, there can be no doubt. In that beauteous City of the Dead the feet of the living will tread when the things of now are dust. The Memorial Bells will ring out the sweet chimes that are but the echoes of the songs she sang, and the gray finger of the granite shaft above her grave will point the way to which her pure and gentle ministrations led.

THE ORATION AND THE CEREMONIES.

As the company gathered for the ceremonies, William Edson Strobridge executed fitting melodies on the Eliza A. Otis Memorial Chimes, hanging in the bell-tower of the chapel building at the gateway. "Abide With Me," "Sun of My Soul," "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me," "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," and other sacred songs floated through the air, to be echoed and reechoed among the foothills. As the sweet cadence of the bells died away, "The Strollers' Quartette," composed of George Ewing, W. G. Wells, A. G. Steel and Charles Curry, tenderly sang "Lead, Kindly Light."

The orator of the day was Rev. Ezra A. Healy, D.D., dean of the McClay College of Theology, University of Southern California, a man loved and honored among good men and women. Standing on a floral-decked rostrum, he delivered the following fitting and eloquent oration:

"On a bright November afternoon in 1904 a concourse of friends that seemed to include our whole city centered around 'The Bivouac.' The name Eliza A. Otis was that of a personal friend to many; to a wider circle it designated humanity's finest type, a beautiful, cultured, Christian woman; while in every mind it pictured a gifted writer of poetry and poetic prose, who for many years had enriched a local literature of which she helped us to be proud.

"The house was filled with rarest flowers that day, but the one who had been herself the chief adorning of her beautiful home lay asleep, awaiting through hymn and prayer the journey to this lovely resting-place.

"A year later came friends and neighbors, a mighty throng, to dedicate these noble bells, so fitly placed and sweetly tuned to sing in perpetual harmony the memory of her who sang so divinely of earth and heaven. Men and women of all creeds were there to pay loving tribute, for humanity had claimed her for its own.

"If the gathering here, by a year-old grave, was so unique as to merit special mention, what shall we say now, when five more years have passed, and we meet on this Memorial Day to dedicate this granite shaft, that lifts our vision to the home of our loved and well-remembered friend, who 'allured to brighter worlds and led the way?'

"It is fitting that, standing round this splendid column, new proof of the undying loyalty of the brave, true hearts that mourn, we invite them to join us for a moment in glad review of the gift-fraught life that now is not here, but is there.

"'I have turned again and again the pages of "California, Where Sets the Sun.' What riches are here! In hymns to nature that always ring true, from the warm hibiscus, the glory of the rose, the sweet beauty of the violet, to God's great forms of majesty, Yosemite's charm and mystery, the Grand Cañon's awful sublimity, the thunderous music of Niagara, the whispering of the rill, the ocean's diapason—all are caught by this alert listener and voiced again in almost all varieties of measure, but never with limping foot or faulty rhythm. Animate nature beckons, and butterfly and bee and bird take on new beauty in her verse. What is there more exquisite than this rare apostrophe?

"'Little butterfly, with your golden wing,
Are you a child of the sun—do you spring
From the warm kiss he has given the air
In whose tides of rich splendor you float?
Or, say, are you kin to the note
Which the bird flingeth free
In rivers of song from the tree?
Are the roses your sisters—the violets, too,
Which look born of the skies, O wing-blossom, like you?
Who maketh the paths you travel today
With your fluttering wings? O whither away,
As upward you rise as you fade from our sight
In day's golden ocean of beauty and light?'

"But this sweet singer's true field, after all, is human life in all its stages, and human nature on its loftiest levels. The joys of childhood, the rapture of lovers, the philosophy of Browning—in all she is equally at home. New versions of 'Little Boy Blue' beguile the imagination, till the sturdy, dimpled darling that slept long ago is out once more 'blowing his horn,' and our hearts leap in ecstasy across the years to clasp him again!

"None may deny the dictum of the great poet, 'The evil that men do lives after them;' but let us thank God today that, immortal as the eternal stars, the good cannot die.

"Ah, we need Mrs. Otis now. We surely need her plea for the essential sanity and sanctity of the divinely-given Sabbath of rest and devotion. The pure spirit that knew and loved her Southland saw its danger, pointing straight to the enervating quest of pleasure and the enslaving pursuit of gain. Home, with its treasures of love and duty, was her empire. 'The world has nothing that is half so fair as that green island in its desert seas that we call home.' Then the words picture the song and laughter, the faith and loyalty, love and trust; truth, purity and self-forgetting—until home shines a very paradise. None have written more eloquently of Memorial Day. Her spirit would guard it from all unholy stain, and consecrate it forever to the sacred memory of the valiant dead and of the valiant living, whose lives were given, offered that their country might live. Hear the exultant numbers in one of her matchless memorial odes, and let it voice our patriotic devotion on the latest thirtieth of May:

"'Loud our paeans swelled and louder, and our banners proudly gleamed,
Like the pillar of Jehovah, o'er the faces loved and seamed
By the awful strife of battle, by the talisma[illegible] and pen
Of the filthy Southern prisons, where by thousands died our men,
When back from Appomattox and the sunny Southland far,
With their shattered ranks and legions, came our heroes of the war.
But our hearts beat warm and tender for the comrades lying low
On the tentless fields of glory where the sighing south winds blow.'

"In the 'Lay Sermons,' that winningly presented the motives that prompt to personal fidelity and national righteousness, the broad view and the keen insight made applicable to herself the glowing lines she wrote of Charlotte Bronte:

"'She was but noble
Type of gracious, cultured womanhood of
The large woman whose expanded soul proves
That great thought is sexless, that to such Mental stature as the man attains there
Is no bar to her attainment.'

"In 'Gleams of Immortality,' 'The Tree of Life,' 'The Eternal Morning' we see this daughter of the skies preparing for her home-coming, till in the last we hear her say:

"'And remember, dear reader, that this Christ is our Christ, the "same yesterday, today and forever." Accept him and you will find joy even in sorrow, and in death, life everlasting.'

"With this last word of Mrs. Eliza A. Otis, poet, seer and saint, we consecrate this enduring column and leave it to guard the sacred dust. Turn we now, not sadly, away, to complete life's voyage in the spirit of her own beautiful lines, that through following years will speak of hope and joy to all who look upon this memorial stone:

"'Lay down earth's crosses, thrust its cares aside,
Hope sitteth at the helm; bear on your own
Lift up your banners, lo! the heavenly shores
Beyond the tossing of the tide.'"

At the conclusion of the oration, two sealed boxes, or urns, were, at a signal from the speaker, taken from the speaker's stand and introduced into the receptacles provided for them within the dedicatory base of the granite pile. One of these urns contains the ashes of Mrs. Otis, and the other the ashes of the departed daughter, Mrs. Lilian Otis McPherron, who died subsequently to the death of her mother. In the crypt with the ashes of Mrs. Otis was also placed a copy of her volume entitled "California, Where Sets the Sun," in which was inscribed, in the handwriting of Gen. Otis, the following dedication:

"THIS VOLUME, placed here to remain while this massive monument shall endure, is DEDICATED
proudly, reverently and gratefully,
To The Author, Mrs. Eliza A. Otis, by her husband, its compiler and publisher.

Here, too, within this enduring granite pile, sealed by the same hand, are deposited her consecrated ashes safe against the ravages of Time.

This heavenward-pointing shaft, representing our earthly effort stands here to feebly express our remembrance of her gracious personality, her high ideals, sweet womanhood, noble life and good works; our appreciation of her as woman, wife, mother and friend.

HARRISON GRAY OTIS.

May 30, 1910."

The quartette sang, during this ceremony, "Take My Hand," and closed with "The Boys of the Old Brigade," in honor of the veterans who were

MUSIC AND STAGE.

SWAT MILLIGAN STEALS HOME.

A THREE-BASE HIT WITH ORPHEUM AUDIENCE.

Mr. Broadhurst's Money-Melodrama Again Seen at the Belasco, Where It Bids Fair to Duplicate Its Unusual Success of Last Year—Theatrical News Mention.

"Swat Milligan" won his first two games at the Orpheum ball grounds yesterday, both by a score of 9 to 0, and Swat's batting record has never yet gone under .300. From the looks of things, it never will; not while he plays in this baseball town. And at that, he is due for two games a day for a fortnight to come.

"Swat Milligan" is one of the best baseball heroes ever put on paper. Waldman Bulger, who has an indiarubber imagination and no regard for the truth, dreamed him out, and the tales of his prowess are the most entertaining feature of the New York baseball extras. The task of bringing Swat into public view via the stage was a delicate one, but seemingly this same Bulger has a true sense of dramatic values, for he has visualized his newspaper hero, and we get not only the actual Swat, but one of the best off-stage stories of action of any sort.

To give the proper atmosphere to the skit, moving pictures of the final championship game between the Giants and the Cubs are shown. The eighty crowds are on view, the excitement is plainly seen, and then shots of the game are shown in action. Just as Christy Matthewson has a hot one out, the curtain goes up, and shows the exterior of the ball grounds, with the big fence shutting off the audience's view, but with the noise and sound of the game unobscured. Johnny Gorman, the messenger boy, is atop a ladder viewing the course of events, and in comes Vienna Bolton, bright street urchin soubrette, you can imagine, and she and the boy tell the story of the game, and act it all out, in most whimsical fashion, working steadily to a climax, with later an English golfer as a "goat" for their jokes. Then, as a finale, in comes Swat himself, just after he has knocked the ball out into the audience, and he makes the picture complete, for Swat is seemingly about 7 feet high and big as an ice wagon.

But it may be said in addition that Vienna Bolton is quite the best of her class. Tiny almost beyond belief, she has all the true sense of dramatic values, and her nondescript rags cover a subtle little actress. Even when she lets her stocking slip down over her bare leg and is too wildly excited to know it, she gives one of the little touches of art that few are capable of handling cleverly. Miss Bolton is too small to be a Juliet or Mrs. Siddons, but she'll grow.

The Sisters Klos, three dainty athletes from Germany, do some fine gymnastics; the Avon Comedy four, in grotesque makeups, put over some melodies in good and humorous fashion, and John McCloskey, who has been hailed as "the American Caruso," though he comes from Ireland, will not cause "ma cousin Carus" any special worry, though he does sing fairly well, his Irish ballads being his best. He also perpetrates the rarely overworked "Rosary." Ella Proctor Otis and company "in "Mrs. Bunner's Bun," Marshall Montgomery, the star of ventriloquists, Anna Laughlin, and the Normans, make up the rest of the programme, with moving pictures of "Ramona," taken at Camulos, to fascinate all lovers of that novel of old California, now a thorough classic.

Mr. Broadhurst's vigorous money-melodrama, "The Dollar Mark," is again to be seen on the stage of its greatest triumph, at the Belasco theater.

"The Dollar Mark" is the play which broke all records one way in Los Angeles and nearly broke them the other way in New York.

Last night, noting the willow plumes and the thousand-dollar sparks of the poor barbarians in the audience, I could not but remember the sneering remark of a New York critic anent the play's long run here: "It did well in Los Angeles, of course, because it contains just enough clap-trap and red-fire sentiment to please their primitive Western tendencies."

Too bad about us. I'll bet we don't even know a street car when it runs over us.

Of course, having seen "The Price," I can never again put "The Dollar Mark" as far up in my estimation as it was before. The "give-me-your-hand-applause" speech does crop out in "The Dollar Mark." There is strong evidence that it was meant to be liked. And the author meant it so heartily that in many places he over-reached himself. It is his superb indifference to popularity, his sticking to the thread of his "Price" story with the inexorableness of Fate, which makes that play great.

However, I noticed exactly the same potential of enthusiasm last night as was exhibited at the very first performance of "The Dollar Mark" last year. The house was crowded, and the company, working like a set of cogs in a well-oiled machine, shot the successive "points" over with rifle-shot certainty.

Mr. Corrigan is seen in the "fat" part of Anthony Martin, which DeWitt Jennings created. Martin, if you remember, is the former copper operator who really believes a man should quit on a million or two and not try to hog it all. That may be all right for a copper operator, but of course no actor or newspaper man would ever retire with so small a sum. However, Martin in this instance powerfully abetted by the unctious Mr. Corrigan, makes good in fine style.

Frank Camp has the part of Carson Taylor, role originated and capitally played by David M. Hartford. Notwithstanding his handicap of memory, Mr. Camp responds with alacrity and fine result. He is forceful without being foolish, which is something that many a strenuous actor cannot say.

Brilliant Adele Farrington has the part of the manicure girl and supplies it with her well-known deft touches and philosophic sidelights.

Mr. Stone, Mr. Vivian, Mr. Ruggles, Mr. Scott, Miss Oakley and others retain in their original parts, and act, in general, with force and artistic discretion. Mr. Burton's splendid scenery is also to the fore.

Carlton Chase has a new series of laugh enticers, the most comical being "The Little Bull Outside"—quite undignified advice. For the ladies he has a new number—"I Wonder What Is the Matter with the Moon," closing his afternoon with the old-fashioned "Minstrel Boy."

The Kristom Trio in their selections from the gamut, opening with the "Miserere" from "Il Trovatore," rendered in a delightful manner, followed by a dainty bit of Italian composition, a Neapolitan street song, and closing with a new arrangement of "The Swanee River." This trio has become a great favorite in Los Angeles, many requests being made each week for their retention.

Dainty May Redell has also sprung into the chosen list this week. Her opening number, "If I Thought You Would Not Tell," is a gem, and a new Broadway song, "Give My Regards to Mabel," is quite attractive.

It is a week of comedy and merry jingle at Levy's, with a sufficient amount of the classical to strike a balance for those who are not inclined to be giddy.

The new artists are Vera Hall and Ed Raymond, novelty dancers, whose work when they were here a season ago as members of the Big Four Novelty troupe on the Orpheum circuit will be remembered. They dress well and introduce intricate steps.

Carrie Rose, whose ability as a classical whistler ranks with that of Mrs. Shaw, is also a new comer.

Henry Stockbridge makes his longest trip for the least work in rehearsing "Paid in Full," at the Burbank this week. Heinle plays the part of the Japanese servant of the sea captain and appears only in one act for about three minutes, and yet it is one of the most unique of comedy bits. All he says is "Yissir," possibly two dozen times, and then is told to go for a good long walk, and take his time about coming back. To rehearse this short piece of acting Henry Stockbridge has to come all the way in from Glendale every day—a twelve-mile ride to town and twelve miles back, to do three minutes work.

James K. Hackett returned Sunday night from Catalina Island and is staying at the Alexandria Hotel. He started rehearsing his company yesterday morning in "The Pride of Jennico," in which he will open his season at the Majestic next Sunday. While at the island, Mr. Hackett engaged in a little fishing exploit, but he is modestly silent as to the results. "What's the use?" he asks. "If I told you I got a big one you would only grin, and if I only caught a little one I wouldn't admit it." Miss Beckley, Mr. Hackett's young English leading woman, will play the part of the Princess Ottilie, who masquerades as her own maid, and forces Jennico to forget his pride and sue for her hand. The production is a heavy one, requiring a large number of players and elaborate scenic settings and costumes.

One of the biggest theater parties of the season was held at the Burbank Theater last night at the performance of "The Rose of the Rancho." The Order of the Eastern Star had engaged 500 seats, including all the boxes and a large part of the lower floor, for the members and their friends. Miss Marjorie Rambeau was deluged with flowers, until her dressing-room looked as much like a rose garden as the first scene of the play itself.

Sullivan and Considine opened a diversified new programme to four big audiences yesterday at the Los Angeles Theater. There are three headliners on this new bill. These are Mlle. Nadje, Guise, and John Griffith and his company in the dream scene from "The Bells."

Montclair's (N. J.) Street Department officials believe they have solved the dust problem. Heretofore an emulsion of oil and water has been used, but the plan has been indifferently successful. This spring experiments have been made with a mixture of lime water and oil and the combination gives satisfactory results.

ipated in the ceremonies, after which Dr. Healy pronounced the Benediction.

The floral tributes were lavish and beautiful, the tender memories of friends and relatives being expressed in magnificent pieces, wrought in the choicest blossoms, which were grouped about the base of the monument.

The receipt of these lavish floral tributes will be specially and gratefully acknowledged in every case where the source of the gift is known.

THE INSCRIPTIONS.

The inscription on the westerly front of the monument includes the name of her whose memory is thus signally honored, with the dates of birth and death, followed by the name of her surviving husband. Below, on the base, are these further lines:

> "Life Companion of Her Husband—Noble Helpmeet, Mother, Friend—Poet, Philanthropist, Patriot, Christian Gentlewoman."

On the easterly base are inscribed these fine lines, with which Dr. Healy closed his feeling, appreciative and impressive address:

> "Lay down earth's crosses, thrust its cares aside;
> Hope sitteth at the helm; bear on your oars.
> Lift up your banners, lo! the heavenly shores
> Beyond the tossing of the tide."

A detachment of Stanton Post, Grand Army of the Republic, in charge of Commander H. Z. Osborne, thirty-six men, turned aside for a brief time from other reverent duties to pay honor to the memory of her who was ever a true friend to the soldiers of the republic.

Bartlett-Logan Post, Grand Army of the Republic, also sent the following committee to represent it at the ceremonies: Commander S. A. Austin, Senior Vice-Commander T. J. Shea, Patriotic Instructor R. Heffelfinger, Past Commander C. F. Derby.

NOTE.

TECHNICAL DESCRIPTION.—The 10-feet-square base, weighing 14 tons, is in size, the limit of transportation on railway cars. The second and third bases are cut as a double base, in one piece. Upon these bases rests a die, upon which are carved triglyphs and mouldings, a wreath of ivy and laurel leaves; in the center of which is also carved the emblem of The Times, (of whose staff Mrs. Otis was so long an honored member,) viz.: a sword of justice, a pen and an acorn crossed together with oak leaves—all done in high relief. The die is covered by a pediment carved with egg and dart, bead and other mouldings. A moulded plinth completes the pedestal part. The whole is surmounted by a monolith 31 feet long, weighing 18 tons. The entire monument stands 41 feet 4 inches high; and in the points of symmetry, proportions and harmony, is recognized as a thing of beauty and of imposing dignity. The entire weight of the monument exceeds 40 tons, and the deep-sunk cement foundation weighs as much more.

The monument was designed and built by J. Pajeau & Son of Chicago, and Los Angeles, and is of Vermont granite, quarried at Barre. It was erected in place, in Hollywood Cemetery, under the personal supervision of the senior member of the firm, Mr. Joseph Pajeau of this city.

"CALIFORNIA WHERE SETS THE SUN."

This beautiful volume by Mrs. Otis was published by The Times-Mirror Company in the year following her death. Copies can be obtained by applying at, or writing to, the office.

Prices: Popular edition, $3; edition de luxe, $15. This information is given in response to inquiries received, and not because any considerable number of copies are left on hand available for purchase.

Mr. Broadhurst's vigorous money-melodrama, "The Dollar Mark," is again to be seen on the stage of its greatest triumph, at the Belasco theater.

"The Dollar Mark" is the play which broke all records one way in Los Angeles and nearly broke them the other way in New York.

Last night, noting the willow plumes and the thousand-dollar sparks of the poor barbarians in the audience, I could not but remember the sneering remark of a New York critic anent the play's long run here: "It did well in Los Angeles, of course, because it contains just enough clap-trap and red-fire sentiment to please their primitive Western tendencies."

Too bad about us. I'll bet we don't even know a street car when it runs over us.

Of course, having seen "The Price," I can never again put "The Dollar Mark" as far up in my estimation as it was before. The "give-me-your-hand-applause" speech does crop out in "The Dollar Mark." There is strong evidence that it was meant to be liked. And the author meant it so heartily that in many places he over-reached himself. It is his superb indifference to popularity, his sticking to the thread of his "Price" story with the inexorableness of Fate, which makes that play great.

However, I noticed exactly the same potential of enthusiasm last night as was exhibited at the very first performance of "The Dollar Mark" last year. The house was crowded, and the company, working like a set of cogs in a well-oiled machine, shot the successive "points" over with rifle-shot certainty.

Mr. Corrigan is seen in the "fat" part of Anthony Martin, which DeWitt Jennings created. Martin, if you remember, is the former copper operator who really believes a man should quit on a million or two and not try to hog it all. That may be all right for a copper operator, but of course no actor or newspaper man would ever retire with so small a sum. However, Martin in this instance powerfully abetted by the unctious Mr. Corrigan, makes good in fine style.

Frank Camp has the part of Carson Taylor, role originated and capitally played by David M. Hartford. Notwithstanding his handicap of memory, Mr. Camp responds with alacrity and fine result. He is forceful without being foolish, which is something that many a strenuous actor cannot say.

Brilliant Adele Farrington has the part of the manicure girl and supplies it with her well-known deft touches and philosophic sidelights.

Mr. Stone, Mr. Vivian, Mr. Ruggles, Mr. Scott, Miss Oakley and others retain in their original parts, and act, in general, with force and artistic discretion. Mr. Burton's splendid scenery is also to the fore.

Carlton Chase has a new series of laugh enticers, the most comical being "The Little Bull Outside"—quite undignified advice. For the ladies he has a new number—"I Wonder What Is the Matter with the Moon," closing his afternoon with the old-fashioned "Minstrel Boy."

The Kristom Trio in their selections from the gamut, opening with the "Miserere" from "Il Trovatore," rendered in a delightful manner, followed by a dainty bit of Italian composition, a Neapolitan street song, and closing with a new arrangement of "The

CONTEST OVER FISHING.

TRUCKEE, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is war on the Truckee River, the greatest trout fishing resort in the State. The Truckee Lumber Company decided recently to stop the public from fishing along the twelve miles of the stream bordering its lands, intending to sell this right to private clubs. And it has begun putting up signs warning trespassers to keep away.

The Tahoe Railway Company, whose line from Truckee to the lake runs along the river, is equally determined that the public shall fish in the river. And its employés are tearing down the trespass signs as fast as they are put up. The railway fears that the limitation of the fishing will hurt its business. Sportsmen are also making a vigorous protest against the lumber company's plans.

GEORGETOWN WANTS SEAT.

PLACERVILLE, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The capital of Eldorado county is threatened with the loss of the county seat since the burning of the courthouse a few days ago. Georgetown, twenty miles away, wants it, and is ready to offer a site for the new courthouse, with other liberal inducements.

The old site in Placerville is too small. Eldorado also thinks the county seat should be moved, but not to Georgetown. Eldorado is anxious for the honor herself.

This agitation has led to a movement in Placerville to meet the opposition with inducements of equal advantage. Placerville is the "Hangtown" famous in the early history of California. It is near there that gold was first discovered by Marshall.

S. S. S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER, ETC.

Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, etc. are simply the ulceration of skin tissues, caused by humors and acids in the blood. The circulation has become infected with impurities which are being constantly deposited into the pores and glands of the cuticle, and a continual state of inflammation and irritation is thus kept up. Just as long as these humors and acids remain in the circulation the skin affection will continue. The trouble may be temporarily soothed and covered over with external applications, but such treatment does not make the blood any purer, and can therefore be of no permanent benefit. To cure any skin disease it is necessary to purify the blood—remove the cause. S. S. S. Cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, pimples, eruptions, etc. because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation and drives out every humor, acid or impurity. It cools the feverish blood and allows it to furnish the skin with healthy nourishment, instead of fiery, acrid deposits. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, mild and pleasant in its action, it does not cure skin disease by forcing all the impurity to the surface, but stimulates the excretory members to carry it off through the natural avenues. If you have any skin affection you can not do better than purify your blood with S. S. S. It will assist nature in quickly restoring the smooth, even texture of the cuticle, and the cure will be permanent and lasting. Book on Skin Diseases free to all who write.

A Remarkable New Novel by the Author of 'THE INNER SHRINE'

The WILD OLIVE

Ready At Last In Book Form

THE WILD OLIVE has the same remarkable qualities which made the author's previous novel, The Inner Shrine, the most widely read and talked-of book of its year. As a serial in Harper's Magazine, THE WILD OLIVE has called forth an unusual number of letters written in terms of almost extravagant praise and delighted interest. The book, which is now ready, contains many diverting incidents of the story not permitted within the exigencies of serial space. The title is quoted from St. Paul—"And thou, being a wild olive-tree"—an allusion to the heroine's origin, which places her, a growth of nature, apart from the cultivated trees of the orchard—society. THE WILD OLIVE is a story in a new setting, a story that seizes the reader from the first chapter—a story of great vigor and charm. The scene opens in the Adirondack wilderness, with a fugitive from justice, young and a gentleman, running through the woods at night. Looking through a cottage window, he recognizes the judge who condemned him—innocent. A girl's form outside beckons him to follow. The story rushes on, carrying the youth into rehabilitated manhood and the girl to the height of emotional sacrifice and triumph.

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna can hope to get its beneficial effects, and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy, the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package, and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere; one size only. Regular price 50 cents per bottle. Get a bottle today to have in the house when needed.

THE POLITICAL WATCH TOWER

There is a quarrel among the L. R. bosses in Long Beach, and it all comes about by the bosses making more promises than they ever had any intention of keeping, or could have kept had they ever had any notion of so doing. After they gave their empty nomination for the Assembly in the Sixty-ninth district to E. A. Hinshaw, it became known that the nomination had also been promised to Percy Hight and Bruce Kenyon. So confident was Hight that the bosses intended to keep their promise to him, that he organized a club of about fifteen active young fellows, who were willing to assist him in his campaign regardless of the handicap of the Jeff Davis indorsement. Needless to say, Hight and his boosters are not working on the job just now, and Kenyon's views on the L. R. game are said to be entertaining and instructive.

But it is not alone at Long Beach that the L. R. movement is going to pieces because the people are awakening to the misrepresentations that have been made to help discredited politicians benefit themselves at the expense of the people and the Republican party. Failure upon failure has recently attended efforts to organize L. R. clubs, notably in different sections of this city, at Pomona and vicinity, Huntington Park, and in several sections in Orange county. It seems that the Republicans who had been misled into following Lissner are now realizing that they were fooled.

Reports of Johnson meetings are exaggerated to a laughable degree. In most places the "great rallies" don't amount to as much as the ordinary gathering that welcomes a street fakir in a country town. And it is well to remember that in most small towns any diversion, whether it be an L. R. fakir or a gent with "diamond rings" for five cents, is sure to get an audience. I have just received a marked copy of the Garden Grove News, published in that thriving Orange county town, which Highrum visited a few days ago. The editor confesses to an admiration, deep and profound, for the "principles" of the L. R. League, so that the following excerpt from his last issue may be found interesting:

Hiram Johnson's invasion of the town Monday was an extremely mild affair compared with the highly colored reports sent to Los Angeles papers regarding it. If the stories of great enthusiasm in other portions of the State where he has been bear the same relation to the truth as accounts of his Orange county tour printed in the Herald and Express, it may be assumed that the loud noise made in his behalf is intended merely to give a wrong impression and to frighten his opponents. Local supporters of his cause expressed keep disappointment at the size of the crowd or rather lack of it, here, and the same was true at other points in the county."

Phil Stanton has a new and neat little campaign card in circulation, which carries with it some interesting information. In addition to a picture of the popular Gubernatorial candidate, there appears on the front of the card this announcement: "The Man Who Does Things; The Man Roosevelt Praised, Philip A. Stanton, of Los Angeles county, Speaker of the California Assembly, Candidate for Republican Nomination for Governor, Primary Election, August 16."

On the reverse side appeared the following newspaper comments upon his candidacy for Governor:

"An Admirable Record of Excellent Public Service."—[Los Angeles Express.

"Showed Himself to be Fearless."—[Sacramento Star.

"Developed Independence That Bodes Evil For Raw Programme."—[Hollister Advance.

"True to His Pledges."—[Watsonville Pajaroman.

"One of the Great Men of the United States."—[Theodore Roosevelt, in Special Dispatch to Hearst Newspapers.

"Fairest, Squarest and Best Speaker California Ever Had."—[Sacramento Union.

"Was Author of Good Reform Measure."—[Santa Barbara Independent.

"Attracted Attention Throughout the Whole United States."—[Sacramento Star.

"Helped Make People's Bill."—[San Francisco Call.

T'dore Bell got a rap between the eyes at the convention that nominated the "Kid Ticket" for the Democrats Saturday last at Long Beach. His local bosses either forgot or were afraid to introduce a resolution indorsing T'dore's gubernatorial booklet. It was a beautiful opportunity for Napoleon Norton, but he didn't see the error of his ways until Joe Simons and Richmond Plant broke the news to him. Norton, however, seemed to be satisfied with the adoption of the resolution that expressed the opinion that no Democrat should announce his candidacy for United States Senator until after the November election. Only the bosses in the inner circle understood the reason for this resolution. Some few suspected that it was the scheme of Tom Gibbon to keep George Patton out of the race, because report has it that the latter was ready to blow in $50,000, and T. E. didn't care about being so rush with his own coin. Another view of it is that T'dore Bell appreciates the fact that he has no chance of being elected Governor, and is casting an anchor to the windward so that if there are enough renegade Republicans who will join with enough Democrats to elect the successor to Frank Flint, Bell will be prepared to take the job. T'dore is also fearful, rumor hath it, that Joe Mesmer of this city may be the man upon whom the Democrats may unite for Senator, and he regards Mesmer as the most formidable of all the men thus far mentioned for the place.

Interest in the Councilmanic fight is not very intense. It may be that it is because there are thirteen candidates in the race. What little attention has been attracted to the aspirations of the thirteen would-be sacrifices, has been due to the quarrel among the Goo-Goos over the claims of Messrs. Whiffen and Stewart that they were the indorsed candidates of the Lissner crew. Coulson made so much fuss over this alleged misrepresentation that he, too, has been given permission to make similar claim. The mere fact that none of these gentlemen have been formally indorsed by the organization makes no difference to the bosses.

However, notwithstanding Coulson's new brand, the Goo-Goo slate still bears only the names of Whiffen and Stewart. The primaries are scheduled for Thursday next, June 2, and the general election will take place June 30.

Simon F. Hill has resigned as president of the Original Jefferson Club, owing to his removal to San Francisco, where he will engage in the photographic business. At a meeting of the directors of the club, John S. McGroarty was elected Hill's successor.

Allen Anderson will resign his position as State Bank Commissioner July 1. There is a salary of $10,000 per annum attached to it.

A valuable election calendar has been issued by A. Carlisle & Co. of San Francisco. It presents a complete summary of the most important election events for the year, together with much data relating to duties imposed upon candidates under the new laws.

Judge John E. Raker is no longer chairman of the Democratic State Committee, he having resigned to make the race for Congress in the First District, and his successor being R. E. De Witt of Yreka. It is hard to explain just how Boss Bell finds his chairman. Raker came from the wilds of Modoc county, and for a time he supposed that it was necessary for him to wear a dress suit when presiding at the committee meetings. De Witt's place of residence may be in his favor.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY OLIVE GRAY.

I do not believe in regrets or lamentation, but I do think it is well, in the midst of all our hurry, at some time during the day which is set apart in memory of our dead, to think of them as they were to us in the time that is gone; to think, not mournfully, nor unhappily, but as we would send our thoughts out to the friends who have gone upon a pleasant journey. Some believe, you know, that our thoughts may help or hinder, in that intangible world; and if this were so, we would be the last to call after the departing friend anything but "God speed."

Wedding Superstitions.

If there is a time when superstition is apt to have its way, it is regarding the wedding. It takes a very strong mind to defy or be willing to experiment with the fixed ideas, regarding this important occasion. There is almost no one who has not some superstition, however much she may deny. Possibly it is only a gentle humoring of the half belief in this or that "saying," but I notice that the wedding is not the time chosen, as a rule, to set these "sayings" at defiance.

First, as to buying the wedding ring, it is said: To buy on Monday, a life of excitement; on Tuesday, content and freedom; on Wednesday, a partner gay and fond of pleasure; Thursday, you will gain whatever you wish; Friday, you will sow with toil but reap a good harvest; if on Saturday, you will always have occasion to rejoice.

As to the wedding day: Wed on Monday, always poor; wed on Tuesday, wed once more; wed on Wednesday, happy match; wed on Thursday, splendid catch; wed on Friday, poorly mated; wed on Saturday, better waited; wed on Sunday, Cupid's wooing; wed in the morning, quick undoing.

As to bridal lore: A white ribbon on the bride's trunk insures happiness for her; the wedding gown must not be commenced before the day is named; to have the bridal veil torn on the wedding day is extremely unlucky; to keep the route of the wedding journey a secret means good luck; to wear an article worn by the mother upon her wedding day insures many happy wedded years for the bride; and, of course, all know that the bride must wear "something old and something new, something borrowed, and something blue."

Sit Up Straight.

There is, undoubtedly, much display of character or its lack, in the manner of sitting, standing and walking. The person who lops from side to side, and sits in a heap, or drooping lady, is apt to be limp and "droopy" in character. She belongs, as a rule, to the class of persons who cling; those who wrap their tentacles around some one, expecting that person to bear their weight. They fasten first upon one person, then upon another, telling their troubles and exacting sympathy and assistance. The person who sits up straight, does not, generally, mean to bother others with her affairs. She belongs to the vertebrates; has a spinal column of her own, and holds it at such an angle that it will support her. She is as alert as she looks, and while her neighbors are lopping around and lamenting their troubles, she is accomplishing something worth while.

The same is true about standing and walking. The person who stands uprightly and walks well, commands attention and in that way, if in no other, has an advantage. I noticed recently, at a crowded counter, in one of the big stores, a woman who came up briskly, and something about her carriage and her air at once attracted the attention of a saleswoman, who proceded to wait upon her. "Well, I declare," said one of the "patient" waiters, "look at that. She gets waited on right off, and I've been here half an hour, I do believe. She must be some big bug." It was easy to read the story at a glance. Woman No. 1 had settled down upon one foot, and the salespeople thought she was waiting for her change or her package; but so alert was woman, No. 2 that she at once enlisted attention. There is a business-like air about the person who sits well, walks well, stands well; and it at least procures for her a good start toward success.

The Small Boy.

One of the Broadway stores has a window full of clothes for very small boys, and such pretty things they are, in a very boyish and practical way. There is no "Fauntleroyishness" about them; they are just plain good clothes, without frills, or furbelows. Wasn't it a blessing that "Buster" came along and put the befrilled young lord out of business? There's no telling what foolishness little boys might be wearing by now if the Brown gentleman had not made his advent when he did. As it is, the little boys of today look so sturdy and full of health that it is a pleasure to see them. I saw a pretty picture the other day on Broadway. It was a warm afternoon, and right on the most busy bit of sidewalk, between Third and Fourth streets, a tiny tot, about 2 years old, was trotting along with bare little chubby feet and a romper for his only garment. Every one turned and looked and smiled fondly, and the mother seemed to feel that her baby had a right to go along Broadway that way, if he chose; and I guess he had.

In the Open.

When a holiday comes, how eagerly the people in the stores and shops plan for a day in the open! To get out into the fields, or upon the mountains, or beside the sea, and enjoy the fresh, pure air, and the sense of freedom which can be found nowhere to compare with the out-of-doors! And it is a wholesome enjoyment, too. It blows away the cobwebs from the brain; clears the mind of selfish and jealous thoughts, and renews all the moral forces.

Have you ever thought, dear people of leisure and freedom, what it means to stay all day, day after day, indoors at some monotonous task, just in order to earn a living? It is, in fact, imprisonment, however we may try to disguise it. I would not decry work; for it is a boon and often the greatest of balms; but I sometimes wish that it were a little more evenly distributed.

But, when the holiday comes, none are so capable of enjoying it as are those who work. Out with the khaki clothes, the high boots and the broad sombrero, and away to the country for a walk, to the fastnesses of nature, where she renews our life and fills us with refreshment such as cities never know.

Notes from Fashion's Flute.

Neck ruching made from two contrasting colors is a fad of the hour.

Chantilly dyed in colors to match the remainder of the costume is very popular.

The mantilla, such as our grandmothers wore, is all the rage again.

Maline is more than ever popular, for millinery and for the breezy rabat, beneath the chin. It is sometimes used in several shades, or in contrasting colors, giving the popular two-toned effect.

The Dutch neck is not becoming to all, and this matter should be studied before adopting the fashion.

Simple, plain garments are best for little children, however able their parents may be to clothe them otherwise.

Millinery signs grow very brilliant; cerise on white or black is a favorite. A wonderful Napoleon hat of red Tagal straw, faced with black velvet, has a waving pompon of magnificent scarlet plumes.

Pumps have at last been superseded by the much-more artistic and comfortable "sailor ties." These are similar to the pumps, but have one large eyelet, through which is tied a loose, flapping bow of wide grosgrain ribbon.

The new ribbons this spring are most alluring. A very wide ribbon, probably intended primarily for sashes, comes with a fancy edge suggestive of the picot edge of a generation ago. The range of colors is unusually large.

There is just at present a rivalry between the pleated collarette that turns back from the round neck and gives the delightful appearance and the dignified jabot of the Directoire that so well fills in this space between the long revers.

The new skirts recently imported from Paris show the modern version of the pull-back. The simplest model in this style is gored to fit the figure in the center front only; the fullness being gathered to the belt line across the sides and back.

The popularity of the auto bonnets has been so great the past season that their sisters, the real old-fashioned poke bonnets, are being shown for spring wear. They are bedecked with ribbons, as well as with flowers, and all in all, are quite bewitching.

CALLS BLUFF.

REPAYS MONEY TO HER VICTIM.

ALLEGED POLITICAL INFLUENCE DOESN'T WORK.

Female Doctor at Long Beach Collects Fifty Dollars from Woman for Promised Position Which Is Not Secured and Complaint to Officials Brings Back Cash.

Declaring that alleged ability to get positions for women and girls in the City Hall and Courthouse through political influence is used as a means to separate the unsuspecting from their cash, Mrs. Charles A. Sheldrick of the Elk Apartments, No. 333 Clay street, appealed to Deputy Dist.-Atty. Hammon several days ago for assistance in recovering $50.

Mrs. Sheldrick said that she had paid Dr. A. Crawford Clemishire, a woman, residing at Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, the money on the promise that she would immediately procure a place for her in one of the public offices. Hammon sent a brief note to Dr. Clemishire. She immediately appeared at his office and is understood to have restored the $50 to Mrs. Sheldrick.

The complainant said that the physician told her that she had great influence with politicians and that she merely had to say the word and they would furnish employment for anyone she might recommend.

After having waited several weeks, Mrs. Sheldrick began to worry about the promised place. She says she communicated with Dr. Clemishire and was assured that everything would be arranged as soon as ex-Senator Del Valle could be reached. The former Senator is said to have denied that he knew anything about the transaction or any of a similar nature.

Hammon did not mention why he wished to have the physician call at his office when he summoned her to appear there.

"What are you going to do about this?" he asked her, when she entered.

"I'll pay the money," was her ready reply.

Mrs. Sheldrick was called and the two women were escorted to an empty office. They apparently transacted business with rapidity, for Mrs. Sheldrick appeared in a few moments and declared that the money had been refunded to her.

SPUR-TRACK FRANCHISES.

Boss Lissner's Scheme to Dictate to the Industries Opposed by Chamber of Mines.

The following was adopted by the directorate of the Chamber of Mines at its last meeting, in the recent action of the Board of Public Utilities with reference to spur-track franchises:

"Whereas, the Board of Public Utilities has recommended to the City Council that hereafter franchises for spur-tracks be granted for a term of but ten years instead of twenty-one years as heretofore, said franchises when granted to be revoked at the pleasure of the City Council; and

"Whereas, such legislation, if enacted, would, in the opinion of the directors of the Chamber of Mines and Oil, prove a serious obstacle to the development of our present commercial and industrial enterprises, and assuredly seriously retard and possibly prevent the establishment of new industrial plants, as no merchant or manufacturer, requiring spur-track facilities, would locate or invest a large amount of money where such a short period only could be granted for a spur-track franchise; and

"Whereas, the present law limiting the life of the franchise to twenty-one years has not worked any palpable injury to the public, and has never evoked any objection from any source whatever, but has always been regarded as a proper guarantee to the investor;

Therefore be it resolved by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Mines and Oil, That the Honorable City Council be hereby urged to maintain the existing law regarding the life of spur-track franchises.

FIREMEN ARE KEPT BUSY.

Blaze in Laundry Causes Five Hundred Dollars' Damage and Cots in Alley Burn.

A fire at No. 571 Central avenue, a wooden building occupied by a French laundry, broke out when Mrs. S. Bosu, wife of the proprietor, went out to do her marketing, leaving a fire under the boiler of the laundry. The building is a highly inflammable structure, but the quick work of firemen kept the loss from going over $500.

Later in the day the fire department was called to the alley in the rear of No. 324½ South Hill street for a fire caused by some one who carelessly threw a lighted cigar or match into a few old cots piled up there.

In addition to these fires, about nine grass fires, scattered pretty well all over the city, made the day a busy one for the firemen.

The big saw mill of the Chihauhua Lumber & Manufacturing Company at Cuesta Prieta, Chihuahua, Mex., burned Sunday night. It had just been completed in place of the mill burned five months ago, and it is believed the fire was incendiary. Loss, $100,000.

WILL CHANGE 'PHONE RATES.

Mayor's Veto Threatens the Present Plan.

Equalization of Prices Is Proposed Move.

Flimsy Excuses Are Made for Former Action.

Reconsideration of the rates fixed for the Sunset and Home telephone companies is a probable action of the Council at its session this morning. Ever since the Council, terrorized by threats of invoking the referendum and the recall, brushed aside the Lissner board's rates in a two hours' session, Saturday morning, influences have been active to get the members to view the situation in a different light.

It has been said that the Mayor intimated that he preferred the rates recommended by Lissner's board, and that intimation carried with it the probability of a veto on the last day of rate fixing, which is today. And a veto coming at the last minute might turn the Council topsy-turvy.

Explanations are being made for the Council that some of the members did not understand what they were doing when they established a $3 residence rate for the Sunset and a $2 residence rate for the Home company. No Councilman except Andrews has made any such explanation, and any one who did would be refuted by the stenographic record, which will disclose the protests of Lissner and President Cass of the Home company, and the rebuke that "Uncle Jerry" Andrews administered to the Good Government boss.

The Council not only knew what it was doing, but acted separately on the rates of each company, and these rates were read in detail by the clerk and discussed. Attention was called to the discriminatory rate by Lissner and why an equal rate, reducing the Sunset rate 50 cents a month and giving the Home an increase of the same amount—$2.50 for each—was urged.

RATE FULLY UNDERSTOOD.

The fixing of the two-party $2 rate for the Home company was proposed by Betkouski, after President Cass had explained the disadvantage his company has been under, and it was discussed by the Council.

The real reason the Council adhered to the old rates of both companies was the fear of the referendum and the recall, and also because there are many political bees buzzing around the members. Even Lissner's power as boss, feared as it is, could not overcome the fear of the charter freaks.

It is now proposed to equalize the rates for both companies for all classes of service. This is exactly what the Council tried to do a year ago when it increased the Home company from $2 to $2 for residence 'phones and on some other classes of service. This attempt, made after a careful calculation by City Auditor Mushet of the revenue necessary to adequately compensate the companies under the law, failed because the referendum was invoked and the ordinance defeated at the last city election.

The Mayor was asked yesterday what he intended to do with the rates as decided on by the Council Saturday.

"I do not know," he said. "Of course I know what action the Council took then; but it has not passed the ordinance and sent it to me, and until it does I will not be able to say what I shall do."

VETO HINT HAS EFFECT.

Nevertheless the hint of the veto is having its effect and there is a probability that the Council will equalize the rates at today's session. This has been deemed fair for two years past and has been the practice with all other public utilities—gas, light, and, to a large extent, water—though in the last the character of production has made different rates for different companies.

The telephone rates constituted the only feature of Lissner's direction of the Council that did not have unanimous support. Gregory alone favored the Lissner rates, on the ground that if the Home company was not allowed more revenue it would suffer confiscation of its property.

One Councilman says he misunderstood the rate fixing and will vote to change Saturday's decision. That member is "Uncle Jerry" Andrews.

"Things were done in a hurry," he said yesterday, "and I intended my vote to be for an equal rate for all classes of service. I still intend that it shall be so cast, but I am only one member of the Council."

Asked what method of equalization he would favor, he said: "I shall vote to reduce the Sunset rates to the same basis as those fixed for the Home company. The $3 rate for residence 'phones I will vote to reduce to $2 and equalize the rate on the two-party service."

Without the votes of Andrews and Gregory it will be impossible to pass the rates fixed Saturday over the Mayor's veto, because all six votes will be necessary and there are only seven members. It is also assured that if Andrews's idea prevails the Sunset company will immediately attack the rates in the courts and perhaps the Home company will follow the same course. Both pleaded that the rates, even as recommended by Lissner, were confiscatory, and Lissner declared a continuance of the Home rates will drive that company into bankruptcy.

BANNING.

BANNING, May 30.—That the change in management at the Malki Indian reservation here will bring about new policies is apparent. W. T. Sullivan, the superintendent, has joined in the movement to wipe out the fiesta habit among the Indians. Until recent years these celebrations were marked by crimes of grave character, and the Federal government has discouraged this form of "amusement" although not actually forbidding it. The movement of superintendents to put a quietus to the fiesta feature will be warmly commended by all who live near the reservations and understand the Indian problem from personal experience.

Rev. Jabez Blackhurst of the M. E. Church last evening delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the High School. The graduates are Lela Angeline Warren, Robert Urton Tudor, Edna Arnttie McLean, Eva Luele Young, George Fernando Weinland, Maymie Pauline Sweeters, Robena Ann Innes, Ina Rebecca Kalar.

SAN BERNARDINO.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 30.—A waiter, known as Tony Dedack, whose real name was Thomas Boring, committed suicide in Bear Valley Sunday morning by cutting his throat with a razor. He had been despondent for some time and went to the mountains in the hope that isolation and the pine forests would aid in banishing his melancholy.

Memorial services were held today in Lugo Park, where services were conducted by the Grand Army, about a monument temporarily erected to the memory of the unknown dead. Following the regular ritual the old veterans and women of the Relief Corps placed flowers on the monument. A firing squad under Capt. Smith of Co. K fired a volley. Dr. Eli McClish, pastor of the First Methodist Church, delivered an oration in the pavilion.

Judge Wilbur of Los Angeles will address the High School graduating class at the commencement exercises, June 22.

LINCOLN ON THE JOB.

Newly-Elected Mayor Refuses to Oust Relative of Martyred President.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, May 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mayor Fawcett, elected last month under the new commission government, has refused to oust John Lincoln, cousin of Abraham Lincoln, from his position as City Hall Engineer. Lincoln is Republican but was appointed three years ago by Mayor Wright, a Democrat, after a civil service examination. Fawcett and Lincoln are both members of Custer Post, Grand Army of the Republic.

The new commission government has filled dozens of positions with new men since taking office three weeks ago. Mayor Fawcett has appointed Grand Army men wherever they could fill the positions. He says that Lincoln will stay, though there have been numerous applicants for his job.

John Lincoln's grandfather and the father of Abraham Lincoln were brothers. John Lincoln was born in Andrews County, Missouri, and lived there until eleven years ago, when he moved here. He was Sheriff of Andrews County four years in the eighties and wears a medal of the Union Veteran's League, presented to him at Jefferson City. He enlisted at the beginning of the Civil War, serving until its close. He is dark, tall and angular, resembling President Lincoln in appearance.

DARK DOINGS.

COLORED BOYS HAVE A PLANT.

Cold Storage for Stolen Chicks and Game.

Gang of Young Marauders Is Caught at Last.

Patrolman Disguises Himself as Pullet Thief.

After having baffled police officers for more than a year and operated a storage plant for stolen chickens, rabbits, turkeys, and pigeons, in spite of organized pursuits, revolver fusillades and frequent arrests on suspicion, four colored boys who infested the district east of Central avenue and south of Fourteenth street were captured last night by Patrolman Watson, who disguised himself as a pullet thief.

The young marauders are understood to have a plant at No. 306 East Eighth street, where they store slaughtered live stock and raise young chicks, rabbits, and squabs, to an age where their sale will prove profitable. The four boys had a far-reaching black hand chicken vendetta which brought them a good income. They had a perfected system of robbing hen roosts which prevented the police from catching them in the act of gathereing their booty.

They would select a house in the day time and then attack the hen coop, pigeon cote, or rabbit warren, shortly after midnight. One boy would creep up to the back door of the house and listen for sounds inside, another would station himself in the shadow of some tree on the front street, and another would watch the back alley while a fourth would do the grabbing work. No watchman or policeman could come near them without warning given, and they showed remarkable sprinting ability when pursued.

When booked at the Central Police Station last night they gave their names and addresses as George Brashear, 17 years old, No. 1224 Birch street; George Beek, 15 years old, No. 1214 Birch street; Roy Embree, 17 years old, No. 1732 East Fifty-second street; and John McLaughlin, 17 years old, No. 1827 East Fifty-first street. Beek was taken to the Detention Home and the other boys were placed in the County Jail pending a hearing in the Juvenile Court.

Private watchmen have lain in wait for the gang and have pursued them through the streets at all hours of the night. On one occasion a watchman shot at them, another time a householder sent a volley in the direction of their fleeing forms, and a year ago Patrolman Watson fired his revolver at them when they ran half a mile, refusing to heed his orders to halt.

In a desperate effort to capture the gang, Watson was put in plain clothes and allowed to use his judgment about disguises. He watched Beek for several days and then obtained evidence enough to warrant his arresting the boy yesterday noon. After being closely questioned the prisoner confessed his guilt and told of the work of his three pals.

The patrolman put himself in touch with the other three thieves and then disguised himself as a darktown chicken grabber. He slouched down a dark alley last night with a sack on his back and passed the boy marauders when it was apparent that they were about to make a night's clean up. A few minutes later he surprised them and placed them under arrest with the assistance of Patrolman Russel.

One of the most recent operations of the gang was when they stole a gigantic black turkey-cock from a house on East Fifty-third street. The bird was valued highly by the owner, who exhibited it with pride as one of the marvels of the poultry world. A peculiar theft was when the gang took six black rabbits from No. 5300 Long Beach avenue and sold them to a game dealer who sells to connoisseur.

"Why did you take the black rabbits and leave all of the big white ones?" the arresting officer asked Beek.

"Well, sah, I reckon I'se kind'o pawshal to de black ones," answered the colored boy.

PUT UP MONEY FOR IRRIGATION.

MILLIONS OF ARID ACRES TO BE RECLAIMED.

Mexican Government Friendly to Foreign Enterprise, Granting Duty Immunity on Colonists' Supplies. Great Dams in Contemplation and Artesian Wells to Furnish Water.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, May 26.—With an available fund of ready cash in the sum of $3,000,000 gold, the Santana Irrigation Company, headed by Mayor Pimentel of the City of Mexico, is preparing to irrigate 2,000,000 acres of land in the State of Tamaulipas, extending along the south bank of the Rio Grande River for a distance of fourteen miles. The tract is bounded on the west by the Conchos River and on the east by the Gulf of Mexico. From these two streams will be drawn supplies sufficient to water the entire area and already there is built a reservoir of capacity sufficient for 360,000 acres. Settlers will come from the United States and Europe, the government having granted a subsidy of $3,000,000 to assist in development and building of irrigation plants. The Federal concession also grants immunity from duty on imports of live stock, seeds and implements and colonists will be allotted farms without cash payment, it being provided that they may liquidate for their holdings out of the profits from their crops. Sugar mills, supply houses and banks will be established and a railroad will be constructed to link the tract with the Matamoros branch of the National Railways of Mexico. Manufacturing will be given every encouragement.

Canadians of Victoria organized as the Canadian Colonization Company, owning a million acres of land in the State of Guerrero, have set apart a fund of $6,000,000 to build two big dams on the Petetlan River and the Sarenoso Arroyo, twenty miles of canals, a railroad from the estates to the port of Zihuatenanjo and extensive harbor improvements, including a large breakwater, at that point, all with the view to subjugation of the first tract of 50,000 acres. Later the entire parcel of a million acres will receive similarly flattering attention. Americans and Canadians are the prospective settlers.

For the canalization of the Nazas River and irrigation of the great Laguna cotton district, tributary to Torreon, the government is preparing to invest between seven and eight millions of dollars, gold, confident that the annual increase in crops will reach twenty to twenty-five millions, gold, in value. Government experts are carefully laying the plans, engineering investigations being in charge of Robert Gayol, who recently returned home from a two-years' trip around the world, having visited irrigation districts of the United States, Egypt and other countries. Present plans contemplate the building of a dam on Cajas Pintos, which will impound billions of gallons of water, at least enough for an entire year's supply. Possibly two other dams will be placed above Fernandez Cañon at a cost of about $7,000,000 gold. In addition to this government work Purcell & Co., whose Laguna lands yielded 20,000 bales of cotton last season, expect to build a $300,000 dam on the Nazas River to irrigate 15,000 acres. They will employ about 650 men in the undertaking.

Tired of waiting for the next move, due from the United States, Mexico has instructed Ambassador de la Barra to urge the Washington authorities to speed the starting of work on the $8,000,000 dam at Elephant Butte, New Mexico, for the equitable distribution of the Rio Grande waters along the international border. The two governments signed the treaty for construction at that point of a big storage reservoir three years ago and it is claimed that farmers along the boundary of West Texas, New Mexico and Mexico are all suffering for want of irrigation fluid.

The Rio Bravo Agricultural and Irrigation Company, capitalized at $150,000, gold, is seeking a Federal concession and subsidies for the irrigation of 24,700, and possibly 74,100 acres of land along the Rio Grande, between Mier and Reynosa, in the vicinity of Matamoros, opposite Brownsville, Tex. The country is admirably adapted to the raising of cotton and cane. If the government lends encouragement the projectors will build a modern city on the branch of the National Railways of Mexico between Matamoros and Monterey and will promote colonization from Texas, Oklahoma and other parts of the United States. Torreon is the headquarters of the company. A subsidy of $50 per irrigated hectare, equivalent to about $20.25 per acre, will be asked for and the promoters believe the irrigated land will produce $125 gold per acre per annum in sugar cane. Texas mills have agreed to pay $5 to $5.50 per ton for the cane, paying duty and all other expenses. There are three mills on this side the international boundary stream and three more will soon be built.

Many artesian wells for irrigation and other purposes are being sunk in Northern Mexico, especially in the State of Chihuahua, where Gen. Luis Terrazas, alone, has contracted for a hundred, fifteen of which are already flowing, and ex-Gov. Creel now Minister of Foreign Relations, has fifteen in operation. Wells now provided for will treble the pasturage capacity of Chihuahua, which lost $50,000,000 gold worth of stock in 1903 for lack of water accessible to the ranges. Many landowners of Durango, Guanajuato, Hidalgo, Mexico, Puebla, Queretaro and other States are following Chihuahua's suit.

We've Too Many Coats

These Prices Ought to Reduce Stock

The reason for this reduction is a most simple and sincere one—we have altogether too many coats in stock for this season of the year, and we don't propose to have such a situation obtain, if prices will sell them:

The coats concerned are late spring and early summer styles—full length, half length and the popular short coats which will be worn at beaches or in the mountain resorts this summer.

Handsome pongees are here, in natural color; fine coats for motoring and street wear; jaunty taffeta coats and smart unlined wool mixtures; some white serges may be had, too. Practically any color you fancy may be found in the lot—which comprises some two hundred and fifty garments—hardly any two alike.

DANGEROUS MAN.

CATCH BANDIT RED-HANDED.

Notorious Desperado Loots Jewelry Store.

Fights Fiercely Before He Is Overpowered.

Deputy Sheriff Is Choked by Accomplice.

Overpowered after a desperate fight with officers who came upon him while he was looting the jewelry store of Jacob Belgard, No. 415 South Spring street, shortly before midnight, Emanuel Sepulveda, notorious desperado who killed Deputy Sheriff Russel of Ventura eight years ago and who has served four terms in the penitentiary and one in Whittier Reform School during the last 15 years, was locked up in the Central Police Station last night to be held on a charge of burglary.

In effecting the capture of the noted outlaw, Sergeant August Hartmeyer was severely bitten and bruised. His wounds were treated at the Receiving Hospital. Deputy Sheriff Louis Hoffman was choked and bruised when he encountered Sepulveda's pal and "lookout" who was in front of the store. The accomplice escaped in the darkness when Hoffman rushed to Hartmeyer's assistance at a time when the robber was about to kill the officer with an automobile crank encased in cement and wrapped in chamois skin. This weapon was used to break in the plate glass window at the front of the store and it was so constructed that it made little noise when hurled through the glass.

When it became known that Sergt. Hartmeyer had captured the outlaw Sepulveda, a crowd of admiring citizens followed him to the Police Station, congratulating him on his pluck, and gazing awe-stuck at the bandit and burglar, whose name has been known throughout the State for ten years. The robber cursed and threatened the officers when under arrest, and made desperate efforts to fight his way free from the detective office when the manacles were removed there. He swears that he will never be taken to prison again alive.

LOOT IN POCKETS.

His conviction is assured because his pockets contained several hundred dollars worth of loot which he seized when he first entered the store, so that he could be sure of some booty if interrupted before he broke open the safe and cabinets.

Sergt. Hartmeyer was walking down Fourth street near Spring when an unknown citizen ran up to him and told him to come and capture a burglar who had just enetered a jewelry store. The officer started on the run and the citizen followed. When they reached the store they saw Sepulveda taking jewelry from the cases, and the stranger yelled for assistance as the sergeant ran into the store. At the same instant Deputy Sheriff Hoffman rounded the corner, and a heavy, dark-skinned man made a rush at him and gripped him by the throat.

With his throat held by the powerful assailant Hoffman was conscious of a desperate fight going on in the store, and heard some one crying out that a policeman was being killed. With a desperate effort he tore himself loose from the gripping fingers at his throat, and ran into the store just as Hartmeyer threw his opponent to the floor.

The two officers pounced upon Sepulveda and were able to get the handcuffs snapped after another hard fight. The citizen who gave notice of the robbery disappeared in the crowd which gathered, and the lookout who attacked Hoffman made his escape. He was last seen running east on Fourth street.

Fifteen years ago Sepulveda robbed a store in San Bernardino and was sent to Whittier. He served a few years until his majority, and came out to perpetrate a series of burglaries for which he was captured and convicted. He served two years, and then began his career of crime anew. He served two more terms in Folsom penitentiary, and was released about eight years ago. He then shot Deputy Sheriff Russell of Vetura when the officer surprised him in the act of robbing a store there. He was sent back to Folsom and has evidently recently been released.

TERROR TO MERCHANTS.

He made his name a terror to merchants in the small towns north of here when he operated twelve years ago as an understudy to Manuel Favala, a noted outlaw, who killed a watchman named McNaughton at Ventura. Favala was given a life sentence and Sepulveda took up his work and made himself as dangerous as his teacher.

Detective Talamantes has been a Nemesis of Sepulveda, but the latter has had remarkable luck with the law and in receiving light sentences for his crimes. Several years ago Talamantes and Deputy Sheriff McMartin of Ventura made a spectacular dash across the country to El Paso in pursuit of Sepulveda and brought him back to be tried on a burglary charge.

When the prisoner was confronted by the Mexican detective last night he tore at his fetters and tried to rush in and bite the old time foe. He reached such a state of rage that he came near fainting. He recovered sufficiently to give the officers another tussle and was not subdued even when he was thrown into one of the strongest cells in the felon's ward.

He is a little over 30 years of age and is said to have robbed more than a hundred stores and houses and has been in a dozen shooting scrapes.

It is believed that there are many warrants out for his arrest. A police dragnet is out for his accomplice, who is believed to be another desperado

COLLISION.

FIFTEEN PERSONS ARE HURT WHEN CARS COME TOGETHER.

Redondo Trolley Crashes Into Rear End of Venice Car, Which Is Darkened When Wheel Jumps Off the Wire Between Palms and Vineyard on Los Angeles Pacific Railway—None Reported Seriously Injured.

FIFTEEN persons were injured in a rear-end collision between a Venice short-line car and a Redondo car at Packington, between Palms and Vineyard, about 10:40 o'clock last night.

Miss May Barnes of No. 5[illegible] Michigan avenue, sustained a badly cut elbow and bruised arm, and was brought to the Receiving Hospital in this city for treatment.

Charles Willits of No. 124 South Main street, was shaken up and bruised, and was also attended to at the Receiving Hospital.

Four men, who live in the Alhambra Apartments, refused medical aid and went to their rooms.

That a serious accident was averted was due to the fact that the Redondo car was running at a slow rate of speed. On account of the heavy traffic from the beach, cars were sent out of Venice every few minutes after 9 o'clock. One of the cars was closely followed by a Redondo car.

At Packington the pole of the front car flew off the wire and while the darkened car was standing on the track the Redondo car came along and smashed into the rear.

The front of the Redondo car was wrecked and the shock and flying glass inflicted slight injuries on nearly all the passengers seated in the front part of the Redondo car. Some of them were taken back to Venice, where their injuries were attended to, and others came to this city.

Superintendent White of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway asserted that no one had been injured in the collision.

Traffic was delayed some time and passengers on cars that were held up by the smash-up said that a long time elapsed before the injured persons were attended to.

One of the passengers on the Redondo car limped about the Los Angeles-Pacific station in this city about two hours after the collision. He said he was standing on the front of the car and did not see anything on the track until the crash occurred. He asserted that there was no light visible ahead.

According to his statement, no passengers on the Venice car were injured. The employés of the road had nothing to say regarding the accident.

One woman on the Redondo car fainted from fright although she sustained no injury. The passengers on the back of the Redondo car did not realize what had happened until they heard the screams of the men and women on the front.

Passengers on cars that were only a few hundred yards away from the scene of the collision did not know exactly what had happened and came to the city believing that no one had been hurt.

STOCK SALE IS HELD.

Event of Importance to Dairymen Takes Place on Big Smith Ranch at Corcoran.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

CORCORAN, May 28.—An event of importance to dairymen took place here today, when the first annual auction sale of the George A. Smith Jersey Stock Ranch was held. Four and a half years ago this ranch was practically a desert, producing nothing but a scant growth of wild grasses during the brief rainy season. Today it ranks as the third largest Jersey ranch in the world, boasting 300 head of the finest registered Jersey stock, besides several hundred registered Poland China hogs, several thousand bronze turkeys, poultry, shire horses, etc. The marvelous results achieved by Mr. Smith here demonstrate emphatically the adaptability of the San Joaquin Valley for the raising of stock of all kinds. As the great bulk of these products find their way directly into the Los Angeles markets, the success of this industry is of vital importance to the people of Southern California, who look to this valley for butter and cream.

It is Mr. Smith's purpose to give California the largest registered Jersey stock ranch in the world. During the past year he has personally examined all the principal herds of Jersey cattle in the United States, and declares that California's climatic conditions are so favorable to the rearing of cattle that our stock is superior in every respect to the eastern stock.

Today's sale was conducted at the ranch two miles south of Corcoran, in a neat, covered pavilion, with the audience seated on either side of a court, into which the stock was brought under the auctioneer's hammer. The total of the day's sales amounted to $5200.

MULATTO GETS HIS ROLL.

Oil Driller Is Victim of Old Alley Game and Loses a Large Sum.

A roll of $380 in bills paid last night for an alleyway flirtation indulged in by R. A. Mays, an oil driller from Maricopa, who came to this city recently "for his health." The oil driller has been living at No. 557 Ceres avenue, from which place he sauntered forth late last night in search of fresh air and companionship.

As he passed an alley on Fifth street near Towne avenue he encountered a mulatto girl whose complexion was close enough to white so that it deceived Mays whose vision was slightly obscured by liquor. He made a few gallant remarks and was coaxed down the alley for a short distance when the dusky belle hinted that she feared the wrath of another admirer. The oil man and his catch were becoming closely acquainted and she had just reached out a dainty hand to encircle his wrist when a husky negro rushed upon them from the street and yelled that he had caught a man making love to his wife.

The girl fled shrieking, but in her flight is believed to have tossed the white man's roll to her alleged "hubby," who pretended to pursue until he reached the southern end of the alley, when he ran one way and the woman the other. Mays was dazed for an instant, but suddenly thought of his wallet and reached for it. It was gone. He shrieked, howled, swore and raved until near-by patrolmen arrived.

They heard his story and conveyed him to the Central Police Station. There he had left his rooms with $380 and the detectives were not inclined to doubt his story because they have heard frequent complaints of a couple answering the description of the money-making "husband and wife."

They are said to keep in hiding during the day and come out at night to operate in the vicinity of South San Pedro street.

A determined search will be made for the couple this morning.

The police of Newark, N. J., are searching for the owner of three diamond brooches valued at $1600, which were found in an old glove on a counter in a dry goods store several days ago. The glove was picked up by an employé and turned over to the proprietor of the store.

GLAD HE'S CAUGHT.

still cold, and I had them send me back for sixty days.

"Two years later a family let me stay in their house while they were away. I sold some of their china, and was sent to the reform school at Elmyra, N. Y., for nineteen months. From then on I lived square until this happened.

"I have been in the West for four years. I have worked on ranches, at roofing, and several other things. I was on the aqueduct, and when I quit to come here I had $137. I got a job on the Santa Fé, but couldn't stand the Japs. I lived carefully, but my money kept going. I tried to get work but could not find any. Then, I got a letter from a man who owns a ranch near Sacramento, and who I had worked for before, telling me to come. I didn't have the money. I just decided to go out and steal enough so that I could beat my way there. I expected to leave today.

DESPERATE, HE SAYS.

"I intended to commit these burglaries when I went out to Alhambra. I realized it wasn't right, but I was desperate. I used my room key to get in one place. Another place I pried up a window with a shovel. It was pretty tough when I came to that baby's bank. I hated to take it, but my need of money overcame my scruples. I only intended taking, at any of these places, what I would need to get to Sacramento. I knew if I could give the brakey a dollar and have something to live on I'd be all right.

"I was certainly surprised when I met that woman on the stairs, after I had climbed in through the window. I told her I must have been mistaken, saying a friend of mine had given me a key to his house. I might have been all right if I had known how to keep up the bluff, but I didn't. I simply ran.

"I am glad I was arrested. I might have turned into a real burglar some time and killed somebody. I am going to plead guilty and take what they give me. There is nothing to this crooked game. I am going to live square when I get out of the pen. I suppose they'll send me there."

Rummel says that he has no relatives and no close friends. He declares that he has no bad habits, whatsoever, unless drinking an occasional glass of beer might be classified as such.

LEASES FOR TEN YEARS.

Milwaukee Man Pays Aggregate Rental of Sixty Thousand for Local Apartment-House.

The Waterville Hotel at Seventh street and Maple avenue, has been leased to Otto Stinke of Milwaukee, for a term of ten years, the aggregate rental being $60,000. The purchase of the furniture involved an additional $9000. The property is owned by William M. Garland. The H. Jerome Toy-E. M. Whiton Hotel Brokerage Company acted as agents in the transaction.

The same concern reports the leasing of a new apartment house of 120 rooms, to be built on South Hope street, to W. M. McReynolds, of Grand Rapids, Mich., of a seventy-five-room house in the West Lake district, to Mrs. F. S. Rosecrants of Eauclair, Wis., and of the Potter Park Villa on Potter Park Place to Mrs. J. W. Bakeman.

CLUBMEN TAKE PART.

Sierra Madre Visitors Assist in the Memorial Day Services at Avalon.

AVALON, May 30.—Memorial Day services were held under the supervision of the Congregational Church members and the Avalon Freeholders' Improvement Association. After many flowers had been strewn on the waters from boats and from the pleasure pier, an impressive service was held. Five hundred persons, accompanied by the orchestra of the Sierra Madre Club of Los Angeles, blended their voices in song. Seated around the Stars and Stripes were several small children dressed in white. A salute of twenty-one guns was fired by the members of the South Coast Yacht Club. The speakers were Motley H. Flint of Los Angeles, Rev. M. A. Martin, J. M. Beck and A. A. Carraher, president of the F.I.A.

Twenty-five yachts of the South Coast Club left at noon today. One of the enlivening features of the visit was a banquet at the Metropole last evening, given by the crew of the yacht Genevieve to the crew of the Nixie, the latter having reached Avalon first after leaving San Pedro on Saturday.

STREET CAR VICTIM DIES.

P. Parkhurst, No. 907 East Fifth street, who was hit by a West Washington-street car at Fifth and Hill streets Saturday night, died yesterday afternoon at the County Hospital as a result of his injuries. He suffered a basal fracture of the skull and did not recover consciousness to tell how he came to be in the way of the car. The Coroner probably will hold an inquest tomorrow.

SAVED BY WIFE.

made himself agreeable at all times. For this she feels undying gratitude and loyalty, which she proved in one of the hardest tests ever put upon a wife.

Six months ago Robbins began to act in a peculiar manner and complained of frequent headaches. His father attributed these symptoms to injuries which his son had received when he was hewing out a career in the lumber camps and mining towns of British Columbia. Prior to his marriage the assayer won fame in the Northwest for daring deeds and two self-sacrificing acts of life saving. Once he plunged into a swirling mountain torrent and dragged out a drowning man and received bumps from logs, rocks and snags, from which he suffered for several months. Another time he rushed into a burning mine and braved the deadly fire damp to drag out fellow-workers. This feat caused him headaches in after years.

Whether it was a changed mental condition due to pressure on his skull, a nerve wrecking disease, insanity, or plain love, the assayer-lumberjack-lifesaver suddenly became infatuated with Miss Genevieve Lindsay of this city and ran away to Mexico with her.

She is the daughter of G. J. Lindsay, former superintendent of the E. K. Wood Lumber Company, who lives at No. 1706 Bridge street. She held a position as a stenographer for a concern which had offices in the same building in which Robbins had his headquarters with his father. The assayer saw her frequently in the elevator and they gradually got on speaking terms.

Then either insanity or love—if they are sometimes synonymous—caused him to do strange things. He proposed without telling her of his wife, who was living at No. 915 West Fifth street, and later persuaded the stenographer to "marry him." After the ceremony he went to the home of the "bride's" parents and passed a two-week honeymoon before pretending to take a long business trip. The long trip was from Boyle Heights to West Fifth street. After gladdening his wife by his presence and telling her about his business adventures while away, he went back to the Lindsay home and took his new acquisition on a trip to Mexico, where he intended to combine business with pleasure.

He called it "completing the honeymoon." He showed a remarkable nerve when he and wife No. 2 wrote letters and postals to the Lindsay family and signed them "Your Loving Son and Daughter, George and Wife." The supposed father-in-law stumbled on the strange state of affairs when he decided that it would be proper for him to get acquainted with his son-in-law's father. He called on Frank Robbins and learned his mistake after an argument on mistaken identity. He then started legal proceedings to punish the dashing assayer for bigamy. This was balked by the wife, a monied father, and the law of Mexico, as expounded by high-priced legal councel.

Frank Robbins said last night that the disptach which contains information that the erring couple will return from Mexico City to face charges in this city are absurd.

"I hope my boy will know enough to understand when he is well off. He can earn a good living in Mexico and it would be Quixotic for him to come back to Los Angeles. I do not condone his offense, but I trust I may be pardoned for wishing to keep him from suffering consequences for his mistake, which are out of proportion to his deserts," was the father's way of conveying his opinions.

Mrs. G. J. Lindsay said last night that her daughter has written frequently but has not mentioned any thought of returning to Los Angeles. "I don't see why she should, and I don't think she will," said the mother. Mrs. Lindsay also stated that Robbin's first wife has not helped properly in trying to bring him to justice. "She was very indifferent," she said.

BLIND VETERAN PURSUED.

Fire Discovered on His Property at Sawtelle Five Times in Three Weeks.

SAWTELLE, May 30.—August Roumanf, a blind veteran of the Civil War, has reason to believe that fate, in the form of fire, or an unknown enemy, is cruelly pursuing him. Last night, for the fifth time in three weeks, fire of mysterious origin either destroyed or threatened the destruction of his property. All of the fires were started in the same alley and near the same point. Each threatened his residence, and two of the conflagrations destroyed small outbuildings on his property.

The police are working industriously on the case, but have not been able to ascribe natural causes as being the origin of any of the blazes. So far as is known, the veteran has no enemies. It is the belief that the work may have been that of some demented incendiary, whose identity is not known.

In the first official issue of the organ of the Anti-Reelectionists Club, El Republicano, published Sunday at Monterey, Mex., Francisco Madero, a wealthy hacendado of Neueve Leon, announced himself as a candidate for President, and Dr. Francis W. SOLDIER DEAD.

inspired by higher motives. They fought not for power, as did the legions under the Roman eagles; they did not fight for glory, as did the soldiers of Napoleon. These men learned the dread arts of war in order to perpetuate a nation's existence. The enduring monument, the supreme memorial of the citizen-soldier is the United States of America."

Three cheers were given for the speaker and the service closed with the singing of "America" by the audience.

IN THE CEMETERIES.

PATHETIC BUGLE NOTES.

Bugler Thomas of Stanton Post No. 55 was overcome with emotion at Rosedale Cemetery yesterday morning. The exercises were closing, and softly over the heads of the multitude went floating the silvery notes, sadly, falteringly. Bugler Thomas was sounding "Taps," and as a sob will rise in the voice, choking speech, so the bugler seemed to sob, interrupting the mournful sound, once, twice. It was a pathetic ending to a solemnly beautiful service.

Memorial Days have come and gone, but none was more beautifully observed than yesterday in Rosedale. Men doffed their hats, and women and children inclined their heads as the members of Stanton Post marched from the entrance gates to the G.A.R. monument. The fifes shrilled, the "Dead March" and the drums rattled, and two by two the veterans marched with saddened thoughts for those who had died in battle or in hospital. And 5000 citizens gave their presence to the ceremonies, bringing flowers and raising their voices in song. Floral tributes were in greater profusion than ever before on a Memorial Day. No soldier's grave was neglected for lack of them. It was a grateful offering from a loyal people.

The services at the monument were simple but impressive. The ritual was read by Commander H. Z. Osborne. The blessing was by Chaplain W. M. Sapp. Comrade Will A. Knighten delivered the oration. He dwelt on the great work the boys in blue accomplished, the sufferings they endured, the sacrifices they made. It was the greatest war in the history of the world, in point of the number of men engaged, the battles fought and the years it lasted, he said. It was his desire that this work should never be forgotten or undone.

The firing squad from Rosecrans Camp No. 2, Sons of Veterans, was in command of Capt. G. O. Lockwood. A song service was conducted by Stanton Camp No. 16, Women's Relief Corps, in charge of Mrs. Kate Reed Field. Mrs. Lizzie Bell Cross had charge of the services in behalf of the Sons of Veterans and the Daughters of Veterans.

Several hundred school children, dressed in white, participated in a song service. At the conclusion of the exercises, the spectators joined in singing "America."

Impressive services at Evergreen Cemetery were conducted by Bartlett-Logan Post No. 8, assisted by the Sons of Veterans, Bartlett Lodge No. 7, Women's Relief Corps, Daughters of Veterans and 100 school children. The firing squad was in charge of Lieut. Irvine.

As at Rosedale Cemetery, the floral tributes were in profusion. The exercises were confined to the reading of the ritual by Commander S. A. Austin of Bartlett-Logan Post. The song service was elaborate.

The parade from the cemetery gate to the soldiers' monument was through a lane of school children. The little girls, in white, formed a double line, each child holding flowers in her hand which later were strewn upon a grave. There was a noble turn-out of the post, about 150 veterans being in line. The various camps were also well represented. The services at Evergreen were more largely attended than last year.

Commander Austin was assisted in the exercises by Senior Vice-Commander T. J. Shea and Junior Vice-Commander S. W. Kelsey. A touching feature was a solo, "The Vacant Chair," by Samuel Kutz.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS.

EXERCISES IN CENTRAL PARK.

Spanish War Veterans held their services around the monument in Central Park—the Seventh California monument reared to the memory of those who lost their lives in the War with Spain.

The organization formed at the armory and marched up Broadway to First street, south on Spring street to Fifth street, and then west. A squad of twenty-seven patrolmen who served in the Spanish-American War, was in the lead. They were followed by veteran officers. Next came the Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., under the command of Col. Schrieber. The veterans marched in the rear. They were clad as civilians, with the exception of the negroes, who wore their army caps. Fourteen members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, who were dressed in white and carried flags, welcomed the marchers at the entrance of the park.

Rev. G. A. Henry of the West Adams-street Methodist Church led in prayer. The address was delivered by G. Ray Horton.

AT OLD CITY CEMETERY.

EXERCISES BY CHILDREN.

Memorial services were held yesterday afternoon by the children of the California Street School, under Miss M. E. Bibson, in the old city cemetery back of the Los Angeles High School. The graves were marked by a detail from Bartlett Logan Post, and the children of the school furnished the flowers and decorated the graves. The children also sang patriotic songs and gave a flag drill.

Fruit Resources of Old Mexico Marvelous.

Honduras Bananas Grow to Perfection There.

Oranges, Grapes Thrive—Bee Culture Encouraged.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 20.—Several shiploads of banana plants will soon arrive in Mexico from Honduras, purchased by G. B. Mann of San Antonio, Tex., representing a plantation syndicate of Salt Lake City. Three years ago the same people imported from Honduras 750,000 plants, which were set out in Chiapas and Tabasco. One of the greatest plantations, on the Zanopa River, in the State of Tabasco, is increasing its acreage and arranging to add to its facilities a line of boats for American markets.

In that State the banana industry is only 2 years old, and already brings an annual revenue of $500,000 gold. In two years more the yearly income will have increased to $2,500,000. It is claimed that the Honduras bananas raised in Mexico are of as fine quality as any on earth, and are in greedy demand at markets of both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States.

The Tehuantepec isthmian region of Mexico, according to experts, is destined to outdo Central America in production of tropical fruits, having been proved as well adapted to the culture and having the advantage of water transportation facilities requiring only three days from plantation to Galveston, as against seven days from Central America to the Lone Star port. Fruit steamers can follow the Coatzacoalcos River from its Gulf of Mexico harbor for 150 miles inland, and barge service is possible for an additional 100 miles up that stream, which flows through the tropical fruit belt.

The isthmian country is also served by the Pan-American Railroad, recently purchased by David E. Thompson, retired American Ambassador, who has associated with him Paul Morton, former Secretary of the Navy. That line taps as fine a tropical fruit region as exists on the continent, and will soon give through rail connections from the United States all the way to Guatemala City by extension across the Suchiate River to the Ocos Railroad, and then forming a junction with the Guatemala Central.

ORANGES UNEXCELLED.

J. L. Spencer, a recognized authority, declares that the isthmus orange of Mexico is unsurpassed by the famous naval variety of California, and is superior to the Indian River product of Florida. As this is becoming known in the United States, and as it is learned that oranges grow almost without cultivation in the Tehuantepec country, many Americans are beginning to dicker for suitable tracts for orchards, and the result is a gradual advance in land values.

Oranges are being grown at immense profit, also, in the States of Veracrus, Tamaulipas and Jalapa and the industry is taking hold in favorable districts along the Pacific Coast. In many orchards among the orange trees are planted coffee trees and banana plants, as well as settings of pineapple, peaca, fig, walnut, pecan and numerous other varieties for experimental purposes.

The Government Agricultural Department has distributed over the republic a half-million grapevine shoots, experiments having proved that the grape may be made a valuable item in the country's resources.

Many farmers of Chihuahua are cultivating twice as many acres of potatoes this year as were allotted to that crop last year. For seven consecutive years that section has produced bumper potato crops, raised without irrigation, and equaling in quality the product of Greeley, Colo.

POTATO SUBSTITUTE.

Sweet yuca serving as a vegetable and eaten either raw or cooked is grown in many parts of Mexico, and is a fair substitute for potatoes. For hundreds of years the Indians have used yuca as a food, grinding it into meal for bread or starch. It is also an excellent food for cattle, hogs and poultry. To cultivate an acre of yuca costs about $25 gold per annum, and the production in starch is worth $200.

Mexican vanilla is the finest in the world. Through the one port of Veracruz $2,154,502 worth of it was shipped to the United States in the ten years ended with December of 1905. A slump followed the fall in prices in 1902, but this year there has been a perceptible revival of the industry in the State of Veracruz.

Cattlemen of the United States and Europe will coöperate with live-stock operators of Mexico in an International Stock Exposition, to be held in Mexico City in the last two weeks of next September—centennial months. Mexico's annual stock show usually takes place at the suburb of Coyoacan, in October, but this year it will be a part of the international function.

The government is importing from the United States and Europe large numbers of mulberry trees and silkworm larvae, for distribution in the States of Zacatecas, Durango, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas. Great success has followed experiments in sericulture in the State of Guanajuato. Extensive investigations are now being made in Chihuahua.

Federal employés are visiting various parts of the republic, giving instructions in bee culture. Bees were raised by the earliest Aztecs, and honey was a delicacy enjoyed by the Montezumas, but latterly the industry has been neglected.

SCORCHERS ARE FINED.

Ventura Marshal Arrests Two Angeleno Motor Racers at Seventy-five Miles Per Hour.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

VENTURA, May 30.—Of the fifty Los Angeles motor racers who left Napa for an endurance run to the southern metropolis, forty-eight got through Ventura without trouble. They led the other two, and kept within the speed limit along Main street. But E. L. Parmlee and G. A. Hafer were behind when this city was reached, and thought the fine streets would be a good place to speed on and catch up. They came up Main street this morning at not less than seventy-five miles an hour. People afoot and in carriages hugged the sides as closely as possible, and dogs and horses scampered out of the way. Marshal Russell had his automobile handy and headed the scorchers just above Chestnut street, and took them to the Mercer Garage. Parmlee did not like it a bit to be bothered by a country officer and made a wild break for liberty. He had his machine on the go while the discussion was on, and had even got a start and a mount when the officer grabbed his coattails and held on. Parmlee bluffed and shouted: "How dare you stop me? I'm a lawyer, and you'll sweat for this." "Come along," said Russell, who tightened his hold. And Parmlee went. He was taken to the court of Justice Ortega. Hafer, who had acted with discretion, was fined $5, while Parmlee was mulcted in the sum of $15, and lectured by the court for his friskiness. The men paid the fines and went on their way, and the town is $20 richer.

Mrs. J. E. Pierpont-Ginn, who is building the Pierpont Inn on the Gates beach tract in this city, has concluded to add still another addition.

GRAVES ARE DECKED.

Memorial Day was fittingly observed in this city today, the G.A.R., W.R.C. and school children, with citizens generally, taking part. The business houses and banks were closed. In the forenoon the G.A.R. and W.R.C., with an abundance of flowers, gathered at the I.O.O.F. Hall and marched to the cemeteries. At Fir and Main streets they were joined by the school children, several hundred strong. At the cemeteries the only services were the decorating of the graves. In the afternoon the people generally gathered at I.O.O.F. Hall, where a set programme was rendered. Merle Rogers presided, while Prof. F. A. Wagner delivered the oration. The service was opened by the reading of the ritual by Cushing Post, song by W. R. Gibson, Gettysburg address by Robert Barlow, song by the grammar school quartette, recitation by Lillian Dudley, "America" by the audience, closed with taps by M. E. Isham, and the benediction by Rev. Dains.

The total number of school children in the county is 4111, as against 4137 last year, a slight loss. There are great changes in the several districts. There are gains in Bardsdale, Camulos, Center, Colonia, Conejo, Fillmore, Hueneme, Las Posas, Matilija, Mill, Nordhoff, Ojai, Punta Gorda, Roverside, San Antonio, San Cayetano, Santa Clara, Santa Paula, Santa Susana, Santa Ynez, Seape, Simi, Temescal and Torrey. The other districts of the county show losses. The greatest gainer is Santa Paula, which increased its number from 500 to 571. Fillmore jumped from 118 to 161, and Nordhoff from 163 to 171. Both Ventura and Oxnard showed material losses. Santa Paula, by its gain in the matter of population, is now running Oxnard for second place on the county, and has let the contract for a second grammar school building, to cost $18,000.

Principal Wagner of the local High School has secured Dr. Charles Edward Locke of Los Angeles to deliver the address to the graduating class of the High School for 1910.

At the session last evening of the Native Daughters' parlor of this city four new members were initiated. They are Misses Dus Hare, Nettie Daly, Bertha Barnard and Margaret Silva.

WILL BUILD HOTEL.

Santa Paula Business Men Subscribe Twenty-five Thousand Dollars Structure.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

SANTA PAULA, May 30.—A number of business men interested in the erection of a modern hotel to accommodate the growing needs of the town, met in the City Hall Saturday evening. The full amount desired, $25,000, has been subscribed and Messrs. C. C. Teague, Carlyle Thorpe and J. C. Leeavens were appointed an incorporation committee. Other committees on location, plans, etc., were appointed and the erection of the building is now assured.

Memorial Day was suitably observed with exercises in the Presbyterian church under the auspices of the G. A. R. and Daughters of the Revolution. Rev. H. C. Buell gave the address. After the services the sixth grade pupils of the grammar school accompanied the Veterans to the cemetery, where appropriate exercises were held.

Plans for a handsome eight-room grammar school of the misson type have been adopted by the school trustees. The building will be complete and modern.

The official returns of the school census shows an encouraging increase over last year. It is now 571, while last year showed but 500.

PARADE SHORT BUT NOTABLE.

CHILDREN JOIN THE VETERANS IN THE PROCESSION.

Decoration Day Faithfully Observed in Crown City—Sneak Thieves Busy in Office Building—Mrs. Westlake Says She Knew Her Husband Was Unfaithful to Her.

Office of The Times, No. 24 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, May 31.—This city yesterday honored the memory of the brave men who saved the Union.

The gray-haired veterans, garbed again in blue, "fell in" behind the drum corps and captured Pasadena. On account of the thinning of the ranks the parade was short but it was as striking as ever. Children carried great bouquets and wreaths and garlands to decorate the graves of those in whose honor the United States government has caused one day in each year to be set aside.

Soon after breakfast the veterans met and formed on East Colorado street. They were preceded by a company of militia, a detail from the Sons of Veterans and Spanish War Veterans, accompanied by the Crown City Band. Godfrey Post, G.A.R., was headed by its own drum corps. In the line of march were hundreds of school children each carrying a tiny flag and getting a realistic lesson in true patriotism.

The morning was consumed with appropriate exercises at Library Park. Rallying around the great stone monument erected by loyal citizens in honor of the "Boys in Blue" who followed the flag through the great War of the Rebellion and again through the Spanish War, the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps did honor to the soldiers who filled unmarked and unknown graves.

The members of the post went through the regular ritualistic exercises, and after listening to a recitation of the memorable speech of Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg and singing several soul-inspiring war songs adjourned until lunch.

The afternoon was spent in decorating the graves of the patriots with flowers.

The evening services were held at the First Methodist Church. The address by Comrade J. S. Pitman was a beautiful tribute to the memory of the soldiers. Post Commander Robert Eason also spoke. Chauncey Chenoweth sang two solos, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" and "The Vacant Chair."

While a number of people remained in the city to participate in the Decoration Day exercises, hundreds went to the mountains. Pasadenans crowded the fishing resorts along the San Gabriel River, from Azusa to Iron springs. There were a dozen different picnics at Eastlake Park and Pasadena people were mingled in the crowds of all of them. Others went to Long Beach, Santa Monica and Venice. The Mt. Washington tennis game also took hundreds of the society people away from home.

SNEAK THIEVES BUSY.

The city is again infested with sneak thieves. Early yesterday morning, before the janitors came on duty, many offices in the Chamber of Commere building were entered. Desks were torn open and papers scattered about. The store of Wadsworth on the ground floor was also entered.

Entrance to the building was obtained through a back door and from the main halls the rest was easy for the burglars. They simply used a small piece of tin which was slipped behind the door stops. In this manner the latch was pushed back and the doors opened.

Early Saturday morning every office in the Richardson building, which is on the opposite side of East Colorado street, was entered and several small articles taken. Many small stores on East Colorado street have been recently broken into.

NOT UNEXPECTED.

The body of Burr Westlake, who shot himself through the heart at San Diego early Sunday morning, after a visit to Miss Bertha Schaets, reached here last night. It was met at the train by the sad wife and child, and the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Westlake. Reynolds & Van Nuys took the corpse to the family home, a pretty little bungalow at No. 190 Elizabeth street, where it will remain until this afternoon. The funeral will be private.

Mrs. Westlake, who is a woman of excellent reputation, says she learned on several occasions that her husband was unfaithful to her, but she remained steadfast to him. She says she was cognizant of his duplicity in connection with San Diego visits, and was, in a measure, prepared for the shock, although she did not expect it so soon.

Mrs. Fannie Gertrude Lewis, a native of Connecticut, died at her home on East Colorado street yesterday morning. She lived in Pasadena with her husband and family for four years, and had a large circle of friends. Her children are H. W. Elwyn, Harold P. Lewis and Mrs. J. Gutkmecht. The funeral service will be held at the chapel of Turner & Stevens Company Thursday afternoon.

WILL SINK WELLS.

Azusa Irrigating Company Plans to Increase Water Supply and Covina District Will Benefit.

COVINA, May 30.—Announcement is made that the Azusa Irrigating Company, watering a large portion of the Irwindale district, is to sink additional wells in that vicinity to augment the gravity flow from the cañon ditches. This affects a large area in the Covina school district. Besides the immediate installment of one well at Irwindale at a cost of $10,000, it is intimated by President W. R. Powell of the company that thousands of dollars are to be expended during the coming year.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVED.

Under the live oak trees in Oakdale Cemetery the veterans of the Civil War from the cities of Covina, Glendora and Azusa gathered today to do honor to their heroic dead. The programme was impressively carried out about the monument to the unknown dead, and garlands and wreaths were strewn by the soldiers on the twenty-five graves where lie their comrades. The exercises were under the direction of the auxiliary society of ladies, with Mrs. B. R. Stowell of Charter Oak as chairman. Prayer was offered by Rev. Paul G. Stevens of Covina. "Tenting On the Old Camp Ground" was sung by Messrs. H. N. Wells, Andrew McAllen and Henry L. Marshall and the gathering also joined in singing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Mrs. Ellen Goodel of Glendora read an appropriate number, and the flag service was given by Mrs. Pearl G. Heinrich. Capt. N. D. Mussey of Covina, who is at the head of the veteran association in the valley, read the G.A.R. ritual service.

CHOLO LABORERS FIGHT.

Two cholo laborers disturbed the Sabbath at La Puente yesterday by an altercation in the main street, which landed one of them in the County Hospital with serious knife wounds, and the other in an incapacitated condition at his own home. The men used knives freely, and did not quit the fight until both were weak from loss of blood. A hurry call was sent to Dr. J. D. Reed of Covina, who dressed the wounds and sent the one most dangerously wounded to the hospital, where it was reported that he will die. Their names were not learned.

STOPS FLIGHT.

BIPLANE BANGS AGAINST POST.

TRIAL NEAR LONG BEACH ENDS DISASTROUSLY.

Launch Athena Strikes Jetty at Ocean Entrance, Is Wrecked, and Crew Is Rescued — Twenty-five Hundred Persons Attend Memorial Day Exercises in Auditorium.

LONG BEACH, May 30.—In the presence of a group of ten or fifteen friends, Bernard Birnie of Pasadena this morning attempted the trial flight of the aeroplane on which he has been working for several weeks. The plane after being given a preliminary tuning up lifted itself easily from the ground, but after gilding about thirty feet, struck a post and damaged part of the framework so badly that the test ended and the machine was towed back to the barn on the Cordell ranch northwest of Long Beach, where Birnie built it. He thinks it will be two weeks before another test can be made.

The craft is a biplane thirty feet wide and forty-five feet long from head to tail made with pressed steel ribs, an original idea of the young man. The cloth was woven in Philadelphia on his father's looms. The engine, which is a fifty horse power five-cylinder Macomber rotary, weighs but ninety pounds. The entire cost of the plane was $3000.

LAUNCH IS WRECKED.

The launch Athena, Capt. Carpenter, while starting out of the harbor on a deep-sea fishing trip this morning, struck the west jetty at the ocean entrance and was wrecked. The launch went over on its side and the four occupants had to jump for their lives and swim to the jetty. Capt. Dodge went to the rescue with the launch Cerritos and picked up the wrecked crew, and then pulled the Athena off the rocks. She is so badly damaged, however, that she will probably prove a total loss. The Athena was built at Catalina.

W. D. Cason, for several years a deputy constable, has resigned and ends his official duties under Constable Wilson tomorrow. W. H. Faber will serve in Justice Underwood's court until next week when O. C. Mitchell will succeed him.

Hotel Napoli at Naples will change hands tomorrow, R. H. Stevens having sold his interests to two Chicago hotel women. Stevens goes to Los Angeles to take charge of Hotel Netherlands.

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES.

Memorial Day exercises were more than ordinarily interesting and impressive, the advancing age of the old veterans being evident to their friends who watched the parade as it passed down Pine avenue. The G.A.R. Post led, followed by the W.R.C. and Ladies of the G.A.R. Then came the Sons of Veterans, the Spanish War Veterans and in the rear several hundred school children, of the third and fourth grades. All carried flowers, part of which were placed on the monument in the park erected for the unknown dead, and the balance strewn upon the ocean out at the end of the pier in memory of the sailor dead. Returning to the auditorium where an audience of 2500 had assembled, where the regular exercises of the day were observed. They opened with selections by the municipal band, followed by an invocation by Chaplain T. W. Lincoln and an address by Commander Hyde. Lincoln's address at Gettysburg was read by Adjt. Milner and Mrs. Wiseman sang "The Star Spangled Banner." The memorial address was delivered by Rev. O. H. L. Mason, who took for his theme "Forces of Nation Building." The ceremonies closed with a song by Mrs. Princess Long in two sections, "The Deathless Army" and "Old Glory," showing the feeling of unity between North and South. This afternoon the local cemeteries were visited and the graves of dead comrades decorated.

DEDICATION POSTPONED.

Owing to the inability of Dr. Matthews of Seattle to be here before July, the dedication of the new Presbyterian Church, which was to have occurred next Sunday, has been postponed until that time. Dr. Matthews will deliver the dedicatory sermon. Meanwhile the church will be used for services.

C. J. Carlson, a merchant tailor of Los Angeles, who has a small ranch on the Perris Road, owned a fine calf which he had in pasture for fattening purposes. This morning he strolled out to see calf, but found only the "innards." Some thief had entered during the night, killed the animal, cleaned it on the spot and carted it away. A tow sack, brought probably to wrap the calf in, was left behind, the body being too large for it.

OFFERS PARK ACREAGE.

Hughes, who offered to the school district a tract of twenty acres in Jackson Park for a Polytechnic site, today filed with the City Clerk an offer to donate ten acres of farm lot No. 20 for park purposes, provided the city buys the twenty acres adjoining for the same purpose and agrees to extend the city boundary lines to include all of Signal Hill.

The harbor tug Reliance was successfully launched today at the Western Boat Works on the inner harbor. Capt. OLD OCEAN'S MOOD.

The display of old ocean's moods proved interesting today. During the morning and all of last night heavy ground swells prevailed and high breakers pounded the beach with tremendous force. The spray dashed up and over the upper deck of the wharf.

Mrs. Celia Connor, wife of H. G. Connor of Pomona, died this morning on East second street. Mrs. Connor was 38 years of age and came here two months ago for her health. The body will be taken to Pomona for burial.

Physicians are puzzled over the case of Earnest Walker, aged 9, who is confined to his bed with a peculiar illness. The lad is an electrical enthusiast and the cellar of his home at No. 241 Elm avenue is full of wires, connecting bells, buzzers, telephones and small electric lights. The physicians think that in some way a current passed through the boy's body, causing a derangement of the stomach, but which they hope will be only temporary.

PAY HONOR TO DEAD COMRADES.

MEMORIAL DAY CELEBRATION IS IMPRESSIVE.

Veterans at Soldiers' Home Manifest Fealty to Memory of Departed Heroes—Women and Children Assist in Solemn Services at the Hillside Cemetery.

SOLDIERS' HOME, May 30.—Memorial Day was observed at this Home today with every manifestation on the part of veterans, of fealty to the memory of their departed comrades. In this they were joined by citizens from neighboring towns and by women and children of Sawtelle. Flowers were placed by loving hands upon the graves of 2585 of the nation's heroes, who sleep their last sleep in the Home's beautiful hillside cemetery.

Formation of the line under direction of Marshal of the Day Capt. C. F. Startzman, was perfect. The otherwise sombre long line of aged veterans in blue was lighted up by the women's auxiliaries, and the girls and boys of Sawtelle's public school. The latter, numbering seventy-two, made a charming picture in the parade. At their head was Prof. H. P. Webb, principal; while the school banner was carried by winsome Miss Esther Whitson, proudly supported as streamer bearers by two little tots named Fern Brenenstall and Leonora Hill.

The banner of John A. Martin Post, W.R.C., was borne by pretty Miss Bella Hinsdale, attended by little Vera Stuart and Ethel Williams.

A striking picture was that of "California," as represented by Mrs. Effie E. Miller, who, like her two tiny aides in bearing the banner, Flora Brunton and Irene Hildebrandt, was gowned in the golden yellow of the poppy.

Belle Williams, daughter of the Post, marched proudly at the head of John A. Martin Post, G.A.R., with the tassels of its banner borne by little Gladys Helm and Florence Riley.

An attractive feature was that of a squad of school boys, attired in the uniform of the United States navy, who looked ready to defend their lovely commander, Miss Susie Page, who was appareled in navy blue, and bore the flag of the navy.

The procession moved promptly at 8:45 a.m., in this order of march: Marshal of the day and aides, Home band, Lieut. Greissinger leader; governor, staff and guests—among the latter being former Governor of California, Col. H. H. Markham, and former surgeon of this Home, Dr. H. E. Hasse; "Columbia," represented by Mrs. Emma See of Sawtelle, in costume; John A. Martin Post W.R.C., No. 41, at the head of which, its president, Mrs. Georgiana Smith; Appomattox Circle, No. 23, Ladies of G.A.R., under command of Mrs. Emma J. Stuart, president; John A. Martin Post G.A.R., No. 153; Uncle Sam Post, W.R.C., No. 45; Uncle Sam Post, No. 177, G.A.R.; Hamilton S. Hawkins Camp, United Spanish War Veterans; children of Sawtelle public school. Following these came the several companies of members, commanded, respectively, by Capts. Smith, Underwood, Robinson, Wells, Creigh, Buck, Mantins, Whyte, Gibbons, Reynolds and Duncan.

AT THE CEMETERY.

Ceremonies at the cemetery consisted in the placing of flags by veterans at the head of each grave. While services were being conducted at the monument to the "unknown dead," children and young girls were engaged in decorating the graves.

That was the most touching sight of all. Could the heroes over whose graves they hovered have come to consciousness, they could readily have imagined that a cluster of angels had gathered to bid them welcome to paradise.

Upon returning to camp, guests and visitors, numbering more than 600, were provided with dinner, at tables which were embowered in vines, in Curtain's Grove.

Exercises in the afternoon, which took place in Memorial Hall, were of a most entertaining character. Long before the hour of beginning, 2 o'clock, every seat was occupied and those coming later could not find even standing room nearer than several feet outside of the opened doors. The stage had been decorated by ladies of the officers' families. The colors were simply red and green, but they made a pretty setting for the thirty or more young school girls, who, under direction of their teacher, Mrs. Lillie McClellan, rendered some vocal music.

Seated on an elevated semi-circle to the rear of the stage, they were a striking contrast to the line of officers and speakers who occupied seats below them on the stage. The exercises were in this order: After selection by the Home band, "America," led by Mrs. Dickens and Mrs. Hester, was sung by the audience, followed by a prayer by Rev. Father O'Rourke of Santa Monica; remarks by Capt. J. D. Fredericks; "Columbia," by thirty young girls; oration by Maj. John A. Donnell; recitation, "The Last Grand Army Man," by Capt. W. C. Gibbons; vocal solo, by Mrs. Emma See. After the reading of Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address," by James W. Chaffee. An original song, "Queen of the Nations," by Mrs. M. E. Dickens, was received with enthusiasm. John Daly recited an original poem, "Comrades Passed Away," which was followed by "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by the audience, standing, and benediction by Chaplain G. W. Wilson.

Martin King, an aged veteran, was introduced during the exercises, bearing in his hand a flag which he states he carried during the entire War of the Rebellion.

Following are names of the young ladies who scattered flowers on the graves in the morning, and who took part in the vocal exercises in the afternoon: Fay Forbes, Agnes Gibson, Esther Whitson, Edna Whitson, Vesta Esther Whitson, Edna Whitson, Vesta Eagler, Henrietta Larson, Myrtle Larson, Grace Pruden, Pauline Field, Lois Nutting, Zella Waddell, Rose Carasco, Gladys Waterbury, Gladys Turmuire, Ruth Larson, Nellie Clavelot, Ruth Allen, Eunice Jackson, Fern Brenenstall, Lottie Smalley, Elizabeth Grumler, Mildred Haas, Grace Patrick, Lupe Carasco, Flora Brunton, Ethel Harpin, Alice Williams, Arah Small, Laverne Stowells.

ANGLERS ARE REWARDED.

Over Three Hundred Halibut and Several Thousand Other Fish Caught at Redondo Beach.

REDONDO BEACH, May 30.—All fishing records were broken here today. From the three wharves 353 halibut were taken by anglers, in addition to several thousand mackerel and over a ton of large sardines. Several yellowtail added to the day's sport. The largest halibut weighed twenty-two and one-half pounds. The waters around the wharves have been alive with sardines the past few days, which accounts for the presence of so many large fish. Last evening the yellowtail started running and about twenty were landed. The largest tipped the scales at twenty-nine and one-half pounds.

The commencement of the Redondo Union High School will be held Thursday evening, June 16.

GIRLS IN LINE OF MARCH.

Dressed in White and Carrying Flags They Make Pretty Picture at San Pedro.

SAN PEDRO, May 30.—Memorial Day was fittingly celebrated here. On Sunday afternoon veterans of Harbor Post No. 185 G.A.R. and Women's Relief Corps No. 100, decorated the graves of soldiers at Harbor View Cemetery and memorial services were held on Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church. This morning members of the post and corps, accompanied by 100 small girls dressed in white and carrying American flags, marched from the Fifth street school to the Plaza, where an oration was delivered by Dr. Grant Karr, assistant superintendent of schools.

Following the programme at the Plaza the parade marched to the Fifth street wharf where the children and veterans strewed flowers upon the waters of the bay in honor of the sailor dead. This afternoon the veterans went to Wilmington cemetery, where services were held in honor of their departed comrades, whose graves were profusely decorated with flowers.

SIERRA MADRE.

SIERRA MADRE, May 30.—So heavy was the travel over the Pacific Electric Railway during the last three days, with pleasure seekers going up the Mount Wilson trail and to the cañons surrounding the town, that two and three car trailers were used to haul the crowds. Many complaints have been voiced of boisterous conduct by noisy crowds on the late cars.

Charles Hall Perry, musician and composer, has been appointed City Recorder. He served as a Justice of the Peace for many years in Illinois. He is also an expert accountant, acted as the census enumerator here and has just finished compiling the statistics of the city.

CAPTURES THE ISLAND.

Sierra Madre Club Takes Complete Possession of Catalina Island and Is Handed Key.

AVALON, May 29.—The first annual outing of the Sierra Madre Club brought to Catalina Island the largest crowd of visitors that has ever been entertained here during the month of May. The two boats yesterday and the one arriving this noon were crowded to the rails. The handsome big dancing pavilion which has been enlarged and remodeled since last season, was dedicated by the Sierra Madre Club's ball last night.

The Sierra Madre Club has taken complete possession of the island. Today they chartered all the fishing launches, occupied the golf links, and finally ran over into the bay to swim out for a visit on the yachts.

A score of yachts from the South Coast Yacht Club, drifted lazily in last night. The members of the organization had been invited to the Sierra Madre Club ball but they were becalmed in the lee of the island and most of them arrived too late.

The Sierra Madre Club excursion has been an outing but not a real vacation. The hour of retiring slipped far over toward the hour set for the departure of the tuna fleet and sleep and rest have been at a premium. During an intermission at the dance, J. M. Beck, representative of the Banning Company and the Freeholder Association, presented the club with a large key, sufficiently ponderous to unlock the harbor as well as the town. The key was accepted by Sidney Norman for the club and has been in general use ever since it was delivered to President Bob Montgomery The party is all staying over for Memorial Day on the island.

It was not until early this morning that the last boat of the South Coast Yacht Club dropped anchor. A southerly wind caused the yachtsmen considerable trouble. But few of them were successful in making the harbor and the auxiliary yachts worked several hours as tow-boats. In port are yacht Winsome, Capt. Hay, temporary flagship of Commodore R. C. P. Smith; Royal, Vice-Commodore D. H. Laubenheimer; Genevieve, Capt. Cecil Borden; Enchantress, Capt. Patterson; Grey Fox, Capt. Perry; Minerva, Capt. A. L. Best; Nixie, Capt. Edwards; Mischief I, Capt. W. Woods; Mapha, Capt. M. Adams; Shadow, Capt. Boshyshell; Wave, Capt. Gibson; Nellie, Capt. J. Fellows; Edna, Capt. Hubbel.

Experience is the safe standard by which judgment may be valued, and it is unwise and expensive to embrace the statements of medical companies. It is impossible for a medical company to attend college. Companies have no diploma or license to practice medicine in California or any other State. Medical companies usually are named after a doctor. A portrait whose personality and identity are indefinite, is selected and published as the legitimate specialist of the office. Hired substitutes, ordinary doctors with questionable ability, give consultation, examination and treatment.

SAN DIEGO.

INFATUATION DROVE HIM MAD.

SUICIDE WHILE INSANE, JURY'S VERDICT ON WESTLAKE.

Woman for Whom Pasadena Man Was Willing to Commit Bigamy and Whose Refusal to Wed Him Led Him to Take His Own Life, Has Abundant Physical Charms.

SAN DIEGO, May 30.—"Suicide while in a fit of insanity" was the verdict of the Coroner's jury which conducted an inquest this morning over the remains of Burr Westlake, who shot himself yesterday morning at the home of Miss Bertha Schaetz when she refused to marry him. Westlake, according to the evidence at the inquest, was married, his widow and two children living at Pasadena, to which place the remains were shipped this afternoon for interment.

Harry Sale testified that he is to marry Miss Bertha Schaetz within two weeks. Both he and she testified that they were not aware that Westlake was a married man. There was no post-mortem. The acting Coroner is criticised for this, but he acted upon the advice of the District Attorney. Sale testified that he accompanied Miss Schaetz to the theater Saturday night, Miss Schaetz testified there was no one in the room when Westlake shot himself. The girl's mother and a roomer named Andrew McKay were other witnesses before the jury.

Bertha Schaetz, with whom Burr Westlake was so infatuated that he was willing to commit bigamy and finally ended his life, is a woman whose physical charms would attract attention anywhere. She is 21 years old, and has resided in San Diego for a number of years. Her mother conducts a rooming-house in a highly respectable neighborhood. The daughter is a blonde, with an abundance of golden hair, and it is said has been sought by numerous suitors. She refuses to believe that Westlake was a married man. In conversation she said: "Why, it is impossible that he could be married. I am sure Mr. Westlake was not married. He often told me he had a brother who is married and has four children, but they live in the East. He said he lived with his father and mother in Pasadena. He was not the kind of man who would pass himself off as single if he had a wife and children. I met Mr. Westlake about two years ago. For a number of years he had been afflicted with asthma, and lately had been troubled with insomnia. I corresponded with him and he urged me to write oftener, saying my letters gave him so much cheer and comfort. Three months ago I refused to marry him. Since then he has insisted on visiting me and urging me to marry him."

WALSH MAKES FLIGHTS.

Charles F. Walsh, a local aviator, made two successful flights in a biplane at the Imperial Beach aviation camp. His best effort was a sail around the half-mile course at a height of thirty feet. Previous to that he had attained 600 feet at a height of fifteen feet. Recently he equipped his machine with a new propeiler, bought in the East, which showed more than 2100 revolutions. In both flights Walsh shut off his engine while in the air and glided to the ground.

MEMORIAL OBSERVANCE.

Thousands of persons went to Mt. Hope Cemetery today to participate in or to witness the ceremonies of decorating graves of departed soldiers and friends. On a platform and beneath a canopy of green boughs and many-colored flowers the exercises were conducted, in keeping with the ritual of the Grand Army of the Republic. A memorial eulogy was delivered by Judge E. H. Lamme. It was stated by Grand Army men that never before has there been such an abundance of flowers. A greater variety and quantity were placed at the disposal of the committee, showing that the spirit of the day is progressing rather than retrograding.

WRECKED CAREER ENDED.

Herman Cruz, once a violin player of wide reputation, died in the Police Station early this morning, having been locked up for drunkenness last night.

Twenty years ago Cruz came to this country with a Bohemian band. When it went back to Europe he remained and married into a wealthy family in Syracuse, N. Y. Becoming estranged from his wife, he drifted to San Francisco, where he became very dissipated and his chief musical work was in cafés. He came to San Diego ten years ago. A stroke of paralysis ended his career as a musician. For years he had subsisted on charity.

Machine Drops Into Dry Bed of Waterway Near Escondido, Is Badly Damaged and Fire Starts—Wooden Span Ignites, But Bucket Brigade Is Effective.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ESCONDIDO, May 30.—With but one head lamp burning on his four-cylinder Jackson automobile, L. C. Bishop of Los Angeles, president of the Bishop Paper Sack and Box Company, accompanied by Mrs. L. A. Mullins, also of Los Angeles, plunged over the side of a bridge near San Marcos last night, making a drop of about six feet. Neither occupant of the car was hurt.

The left forward wheel was wrecked and the front axle badly sprung. The car took fire and in a few minutes all the woodwork was burned. The escape of Bishop and Mrs. Mullins is considered remarkable.

The car struck on its side and did not roll. Had it turned turtle both might have been burned to death. The accident happened at 10:30 o'clock on a straight piece of the main automobile road, a quarter of a mile east of San Marcos and five miles west of Escondido. The machine was headed south. The bridge is a wooden structure with a length of about six feet and a roadway of about eighteen feet and was equipped with a railing at either side. The machine left the highway when approaching the bridge, and plunged into the sandy bottom of the dry stream bed.

The nearest house was some distance away and Bishop and the woman was powerless to put out the fire, which is reported to have started while they were away looking for help. Three young men in a rig found the couple, who had lost their way. What little woodwork was still burning was put out by hand extinguishers from the San Marcos store, but not until the bridge was in flames. The bridge was subdued by a bucket brigade, with water from an abandoned well near the scene.

Bishop and his companion failing to find other automobile friends in Escondido, remained here for the night devoting today to getting the wrecked car to the San Marcos station of the Santa Fé for shipment tomorrow morning for Los Angeles.

SERVICES WELL ATTENDED.

Memorial Day services under the direction of the post and corps of the Grand Army of the Republic were held this morning in the Congregational Church, the address being by Samuel W. Bell of San Diego, a veteran of the Civil War. The Memorial Sunday services were held in the Methodist Church, the sermon being by Rev. J. E. Cope, pastor of the church, the Escondido Band acted as escorts for the rand Army post and corps at the exercises of both days.

The funeral of J. L. Randall of Santa Paula, who died here on Saturday at the home of his aunt, Mrs. W. A. Bert, was held yesterday, being in charge of the Escondido lodge of Odd Fellows. At Santa Paula, to which place the body was shipped today, Mr. Randall was a member of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and Rebekah lodges. Born in 1882, the deceased was a native of Kansas. He had lived with Mr. and Mrs. Bert for eighteen years.

A special musical service was held last evening at the Congregational Church, at which a feature was an address by Mrs. D. L. Withington of Honolulu, on "The Music of the Hawaiian."

CLUB IS REVIVED.

Golf Played at El Modena After Lapse of Eight Years—Santa Ana Memorial Services.

SANTA ANA, May 30.—Today was opening day for the Santiago Golf Club, which has been revived after being out of existence eight years. The links and clubhouse east of El Modena, near the Santiago cañon road, have been put in shape for the summer. James Irvine of the Irvine Company grants the use of the grounds free. Bogey for the course is 36. The best score since the club reorganized is 42, made by F. B. Browning of Tustin. Today was a picnic day at the links. Members and their friends carried lunches and spread them on the clubhouse porch.

GRAVES DECORATED.

Decoration Day was observed here not only by the Grand Army of the Republic and its affiliated organizations, but by the public generally. At the Santa Ana Cemetery this morning many scores of graves were covered with flowers. Civil War Veterans and their friends and families gathered at 9:30 o'clock. Rev. H. Koepsel, an old soldier, led in prayer. Recitations, the singing of "America," the firing of a salute for the dead and the decoration of the graves made up the programme at the cemetery. School children assisted in the decorating.

This afternoon a parade of the G.A.R. and other organizations occurred on Fourth street. Maj. L. L. Vestal, Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., was marshal of the day. The memorial address was delivered at the Grand Operahouse by Attorney W. H. Thomas.

ONE HUNDRED GRAND ARMY MEN IN PARADE.

Appropriate Memorial Service Is Held in Operahouse and Woman's Relief Corps Serves Dinner to Veterans, Sons of Veterans and Their Wives at Riverside.

RIVERSIDE, May 30.—Nearly 100 Grand Army veterans were in line, as the guard of honor, in the Memorial Day parade that marched to Evergreen Cemetery this morning to strew flowers on the graves of the soldiers buried there. In the line of march were also several hundred school cadets, in khaki suits, besides large representations of the patriotic and fraternal orders and city officials.

Following the exercises at the cemetery, an appropriate Memorial Day service was held at the Loring Operahouse. The programme opened with a tableau illustrating the restoration of the Union. Rev. Horace Porter, pastor of the First Congregational Church, gave the Memorial Day address. Remarks were made by Judge F. E. Densmore and Post Commander E. W. Holmes, and musical numbers were furnished by the Riverside Military Band, the High School Glee Club and Harry Weil.

At noon the Woman's Relief Corps served dinner to the members of the Grand Army and the Sons of Veterans and their wives, with 400 at the tables. War stories and camp fire reminiscences were exchanged informally, in place of a set programme of after-dinner toasts.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Members of the local Grand Army and Woman's Relief Corps were the honored guests at a memorial service at Calvary Presbyterian Church yesterday morning. A sermon appropriate to the day was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. A. Hunter.

The vacation of the Superior Court is to begin July 11 and continue for two months, closing September 9. During vacation, the probate calendar will be called July 20 and August 20.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION.

The Woman's Clubhouse was the scene of a brilliant reception given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. N. P. J. Button and Mrs. E. O. Rickard. Invitations were issued to 275 guests. The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. John Meharg, Mrs. George N. Reynolds, Mrs. C. W. Holmes, Mrs. Louise B. Oatman, Mrs. George F. Holt, Mrs. Mae Johnson Kohler, Mrs. W. F. Taylor and Mrs. H. A. Atwood. The guests were received at the door by Mrs. W. B. Payton, Mrs. Thomas Griffith and Dr. Louise Harvey Clarke. Assisting in a general way were Mrs. T. T. Porteous, Mrs. J. H. D. Cox, Mrs. Gaylor Rouse, Mrs. Harwood Robbins, Mrs. T. T. Leeds, Mrs. C. H. Lewis, Miss Genevieve Aberdeen and Miss Frances Strang. Quantities of Scotch broom, coreopsis, Shasta daisies and centaurias were used in the floral decorations, carrying out a yellow and white color effect.

THROWN DOWN EMBANKMENT.

Two Colton Women Injured Following Runaway Caused by Intoxicated Joy Riders.

COLTON, May 30.—Mrs. E. F. Sylvannis and Mrs. J. P. Cottrell were painfully injured in a runaway this morning on Colton avenue, near the Riverside bridge. The former owns the West Side Hotel and Mrs. Cottrell lives on F street. They went to Riverside to decorate graves. When returning, an auto containing four young men, frightened their horse which ran away. The women were thrown over an embankment. Dr. R. C. Hoye went immediately to their assistance and took them by auto to their homes. The young men, instead of stopping to ascertain the damage done, put on greater speed. The joy riders had loaded their machine with booze from one of the local saloons and it is said had drunk enough to grow reckless. The carriage in which the women were riding was demolished.

All the various churches of the city observed Decoration Day yesterday. At one church a poem was read by Rev. David Loofbourron, written by C. A. McDonald of this city.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, May 30.—Announcement is made that the marriage of Miss Gertrude Sims of Los Angeles, and Miles Homer Wesner, will be solemnized June 7. The wedding, which will be a quiet one, owing to a recent death in the bride's family, will take place at 8 p.m., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Laura Sims of Los Angeles. After July 1 the couple will be at home to their friends, at the Bundy Hot Springs Hotel, in Elsinore, of which Mr. Wesner is a half owner.

Rev. M. R. Walton spoke yesterday morning at the M. E. Church, at union services, on "The World's Progress Toward Universal Peace." The church was decorated with flags and bunting and the G.A.R. and Sons of Veterans attended.

A landmark was destroyed by fire yesterday when, the original Madison Cheney ranch-house, on the Denny place, was burned.

C. L. Sutherland of Hotel Del Rey, Corona, took charge of the Lakeview Inn, Sunday.

Mrs. M. A. Gardner and son, Amos, and M. C. Cambern, left this morning for the former's beautiful country place, near Milwaukee, Wis., where they will spend three months.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Defenbaugh and son, Roland, who made Elsinore their home for the past few years, have returned to Streator, Ill., to reside. Mrs. Defepbaugh is a sister of Mrs. O. W Amsbury and recently sold their half interest in the Bundy Hotel to M. H. Wesner.

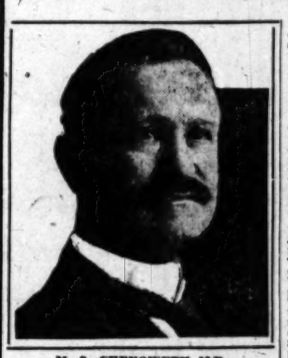
ONE TREATMENT CURES

Piles, Fistula, Hernia and Varicose Veins



M. S. CHENOWETH M.D.
THE MASTER SPECIALIST.

The photograph which I publish above is one taken of me in May, 1910, and is a perfect likeness. I do not hide under a false name, nor publish a false picture, nor make a false statement of any kind. I personally conduct my own office, see my patients, and treat them personally from the time they come to me until I discharge them as cured. I have no incompetent assistant to treat my patients after their first visit. It is important for the patient to know these facts, for no matter how much a specialist may know he cannot delegate this knowledge to any one, nor can any other doctor do things exactly as he does. This has been my experience, and I do not persuit anyone but myself to treat my patients at any time, for I feel that the man who comes to me for treatment is entitled and should receive my personal attention and should not be experimented upon. A mere statement by me or any other specialist that I am, or he is, the greatest specialist of the age does not mean anything if it is not backed up by years of experience, and this experience must be the right kind of experience. Fifty years of experience, if it was not the right kind of experience, would not be of any value to a doctor, and less value to a patient, for if you do a thing wrong, or with no success, the number of times you do it only makes you a greater menace to those who are suffering and who unfortunately come to you for advice and treatment. Do not take for granted the self-praise of any specialist, but investigate for yourself and satisfy yourself that he is all he claims to be. Do this before you begin treatment, and not after, when it is too late, and the harm has been done. Learn the truth first, and save yourself the bitter disappointment that surely will come to you, after you have been humbugged by so-called specialists and left in a condition far worse than when you began your treatment.

WHO IS DR. CHENOWETH?

I am the oldest licensed and longest established specialist in California. I am a graduate of one of the largest Medical Colleges in the United States. I was physician in outdoor clinic, St. John's Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., 1888-1889, and railway surgeon on Harriman lines of Colorado for four years. Member of American Medical Society six years, and the author and publisher of medical works of recognized authority. My years of experience, the right kind of experience, together with the cures I have effected, has earned for me the title, The Master Specialist.

A WORD OF ADVICE.

Before beginning treatment elsewhere take my friendly advice and ask the doctor to tell you of his qualifications to cure you, and then be sure he shows you the proofs of his ability. Mere talk means nothing; promises and guarantees without ability behind them are of no value to you or any one else. After you are satisfied and begin your treatment it is up to you to see the promises are carried out. If you should be unfortunate enough to select the wrong doctor and find out in time, come to me and I will be glad to do all that can be done for you.

I will cheerfully donate $1000 to any charity if any statement in this announcement is not absolutely true.

I have yet to see the case I cannot cure in one treatment. It may seem strange to you that I am able to cure these cases in one treatment, while so many other doctors treat them for days weeks and months and even then without effecting a cure. My large and special experience along these lines has fitted me to do this work without resorting to experiment, and the hundreds of cures I have effected are the best proof of my ability to do just as I claim. I know just what is to be done in each case, and lose no time in doing it. You do not suffer any pain or loss time, and can keep right on attending to your business without the slightest inconvenience. My cures are not only for the time being, but I guarantee them to be permanent.

Just think what it means to you. Think of the time and worry you save. Just one treatment and a permanent cure is effected. It's the greatest thing in the world. To the man who has been calling on his doctor for weeks and months and has not been cured I make a special appeal to lose no time in calling on me. To each caller I cheerfully explain my method of curing Piles, Fistula and Hernia. It is so simple, so positive, so easily demonstrated that you will gladly take my treatment, fully convinced that I will permanently cure you.

PILES.

Piles are common among all classes and ages of men and women. They are indirectly caused by a defect in nutrition and constipation. If anything tends to make life a burden it's a well developed case of Piles. The whole system is thrown out of working order, and the pleasures of life are denied to the sufferer. My method cures the most obstinate cases in one treatment. I do not use a knife; there is no cutting, no pain of any kind; no after inconvenience, but immediate relief and a permanent cure. Most of my cases have come to me after other specialists and drug store doctors have failed, and I have yet to treat a case I did not cure.

FISTULA.

There is no more annoying and dreaded disease of the rectum than Fistula. It requires the strictest observance of almost impossible hygienic laws to maintain cleanliness and may result fatally if neglected. One treatment and the worst case of Fistula is cured. No knife; no bleeding; no pain; no after misery; just a permanent cure.

HERNIA.

Hernia or Rupture. This is a condition which does not permit neglect. You cannot afford to be used as an experiment, and you will be unless you choose the right specialist. Neglect of Rupture has proved fatal to many; neglect may cause strangulation, and if this occurs surgical relief is the only means of saving life, and in most cases proves fatal. My treatment cures immediately. You leave my office a well man. I do not use the knife; there is no pain, no detention from pleasure or occupation. Absolutely no danger. You come to my office wearing a truss; you go away your truss behind; there is no further use for it; your Rupture is cured.

VARICOSE VEINS.

Varicose veins do more to destroy human vitality than many other diseases put together. They sap up the strength of the body. You come to my office with your varicose veins, and you leave me an absolutely well man. One treatment is all that is necessary. Not weeks nor months of endless doctoring, but one single visit. I permanently cure you without the loss of time, no pain whatever and no after trouble.

CONSTIPATION.

Constipation is the mother of most of these diseases. The clogging up of the bowels is the beginning, then comes depression, and indisposition to do anything; headache, backache and all other aches. Drug store remedies may give temporary relief, but why take medicine all your life just to get relief when my treatment cures constipation forever? Neglect gives birth to Piles, Fistula and so many other diseases that it is hard to tell of them all. My treatment permanently cures. It is a blessing to suffering mankind.

I guarantee to cure these diseases just as I say I do, or refund every dollar paid to me. If I fail, the fault is mine, not yours. Why should you pay? I have no home treatment; I do not treat by mail. All patients must come to the office for treatment.

Free Consultation and Advice

I offer not only FREE Consultation and Advice, but of every case that comes to me I will make a Careful Examination and Diagnosis without charge. Afflicted persons should not neglect this opportunity to get an expert opinion about their trouble. My offices are open all day from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sundays from 10 to 12.

WILL WELCOME NEW CUT-OFF.

Phoenix Heat No Damper on Hot Time.

Valley Water Users Want Rights Adjusted.

Drought Kills Crops, But Pimas Have Work.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) May 28.—This city long ago acknowledged its summertime torridity and has consistently refused to celebrate anything that occurred between the first of May and October. Even the glorious Fourth is given the scantest of recognition. It is possible that this rule will be broken in recognition of the opening of a new transportation line between this city and Los Angeles. The Parker cut-off is to be opened for business June 12. It is expected that a large number of Los Angeles business men will come by the first train and there may be public exercises in which the local populace will be led by the Board of Trade. It is remembered, however, that there was no demonstration over the arrival of the city's first railroad, the Maricopa and Phoenix, which reached here July 4, 1887. It is considered also that railroad openings are becoming quite common. The Buckeye branch of the Southern Pacific is to be completed by July 15 and next summer is expected the Southern Pacific connection through the Box Cañon of the Gila.

Heretofore the Southern Pacific has reached its Phoenix depot on a single track, through an alleyway for half a mile. The company is now laying an additional track along this last half mile, tearing away a number of houses on a purchased strip of land.

June 1 the principal Southern Pacific connection with Los Angeles will leave Phoenix at 8 o'clock p. m., a half hour later, shortening the time to that extent. The train carries through Pullmans daily.

The Salt River Valley Water Users' Association, having settled the irrigation priorities of its members and secured against drought by the Roosevelt dam on Salt River, now is becoming interested in late appropriations of irrigating water from the Verde, where new farms are being watered with the flow that by law should be allowed to continue down to the local canals. As the Verde farms are in another county, the adjustment of rights may be troublesome. The normal flow of the Salt and Verde just now is less than 20,000 inches, while its understood that the upper Verde canals are carrying more than 10,000 inches for the irrigation of a relatively small acreage. Were it not for the water stored at Roosevelt, this valley now would be in sad plight. The Roosevelt project already has been demonstrated a success.

Crops on the Pima reservation along the Gila River are a failure this season because of drought and there will be a relative condition of destitution among the Indians lightened by the fact that employment can be secured by about all of them who care to work. The Buckeye Railroad has called for 200 Indian laborers, while the beet fields will need many more. The census of the Maricopas and Pimas has found 4600 of them, figures rather above the prior estimates. The lack of river flow for irrigation will soon be of slight importance, for the government is boring a large number of wells, from which as much as 10,000 acres may have irrigation. The power used will be electricity, from Roosevelt.

A novel plan has been evolved by settlers in the Queen Creek section, west of Florence, where dry farming has not proven wholly satisfying. Wells are to be bored in the Gila bottoms, near Florence, and water pumped therefrom into a canal that will conduct the flow to the land, eighteen miles distant.

The following named have been selected to head the several departments of the Territorial Fair this fall. Mining, Epes Randolph, with James Goodwin of Tempe, as manager; Horses and mules, W. W. Cook; cattle, A. C. McQueen, Mesa; swine, Will Kay; sheep, J. C. Mudersbach; apiary, J. P. Ivy; women's, Mrs. Jas. H. McClintock; educational, Mrs. W. W. McNeff, dairy, August Hegelund; agricultural, A. A. Johns, Prescott, and Luther Green, Solomonville; automobile, G. P. Bullard.

About $3000 damage was done Thursday by the burning of a warehouse in the southeastern part of the city, the property of the Arizona Eastern Railroad Company, which also lost several old cars, used by a section gang.

The war against citrus scale in this valley has reached nearly a stage of bloodshed. Last Monday, under direction of Territorial Entomologist A. W. Morrill, a gang of men entered the orange grove of J. H. Fleming, north of Phoenix, and uprooted and carried away for burning about 10,000 young orange trees. Fleming will sue for $10,000 damages.

Captain J. L. B. Alexander states that he is working upon a project to building a seven-story hotel upon property owned by him at the corner of Adams street and Second avenue. The building is to be fireproof, containing 200 rooms and costing $350,000. Work is still being prosecuted on the gathering of a fund for replacing the burned Hotel Adams, while another hotel proposition is being pushed for a structure on West Washington street.

A local company has located 640 acres of land near Winkelman, whereon all the elements of cement can be readily secured and is considering a plan for the purchase for removal thereto of the government cement mill at Roosevelt.

A shipment of feathers from 150 adult birds on the Chandler ostrich farm at Mesa has just been made to a Pasadena firm.

The Overland Telephone Co., now has 566 miles of long distance line in Arizona, competing with the Bell system, and has 300 miles more surveyed.

Iron Springs, a mountain resort near Prescott, wholly owned and occupied by Phoenix people, will be opened June 1. It has a summer population of from 700 to 900.

Graduation exercises of the Normal School of Arizona will be held in Tempe June 9. Mayor L. B. Christy of Phoenix, a member of the Normal board, will deliver the commencement address. The graduates are twenty-two in number.

July 6 a special train will leave Phoenix, bound through for Detroit by the southern route, filled with Arizona Elks, who go to the annual convention of their order. The Elks will be uniformed, much as they were in Los Angeles last summer and preparations have begun already for spreading the fame of Arizona hospitality.

Rock strongly impregnated with petroleum has been found eighteen miles north of Swansea, where the country for miles square has been staked off in claims. Most of the ground has been taken up by officials of the Clara Consolidated Mining Co., who were given early information of the find by the discoverers, Jack Higgins and T. J. Powell.

A dispute between the Ray Consolidated and the London-Gila Mining and Power Co. over ownership of fifty acres of land on the Gila River near Winkelman has been settled out of court, the London-Gila Company retaining possession of the tract.

Chief Executive Mentioned to Lay Corner-Stone of Pioneers' Home as Feature of Fourth of July Celebration—Democrat Organ Plays Last Tune—Drinking Water Bad.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) May 29.—An item of the largest importance to Prescott was that which told of the throwing open for settlement of 606,608 acres of land in north-central Arizona, land which had been withdrawn nine years ago. These lands will become subject to settlement August 9, but entries for them will not be received at the Phoenix Land Office till September 8. The land was withdrawn primarily for the protection of the watersheds of the Verde and Agua Fria rivers and most of the area lies in the valleys of those two streams. The greater part is tributary to this city. A rush to the land is expected. It lies in four tracts and their boundaries embrace many farms that were settled upon and improved before the withdrawal order in 1901.

Work has been begun upon the foundations of the Arizona Pioneers' Home, in the outskirts of Prescott and it is now proposed that the corner-stone of the building shall be laid by Governor Sloan, as one feature of the celebration that is being arranged for July 4. It has been known for months that Major A. J. Doran was to be superintendent. He has been advised by the Board of Control that his duties and salary will begin June 1. He is a pioneer himself, entering Arizona in 1856, leaving it since for periods of not over a few weeks. He has repeatedly been honored by election to the Legislature, in which he has served as President of the Council during several sessions. This Pioneers' Home, in the outskirts of Prescott, larity in Arizona and the rooms are to be furnished by different sections of the territory without cost to the administration. James Haas of Mohave Co. has offered turquoise, in the rough and finished, enough for the building of a fireplace.

The suspension of the Daily Courier takes from the Democrats their principal organ in northern Arizona. The paper has been a notably newsy one, ably edited and with much enterprise, though at the cost of sinking about $5000 in its operation over income during the past year. It was edited by Stanley H. Watson and its business was in the hands of G. Naylor Rogers, formerly of Los Angeles. One of its main supporters was Reese M. Ling, a local attorney reputed to be a candidate for a Senatorship in the event of Statehood. The end came in odd shape, Ling levying an attachment for $2130 alleged to be due Watson for services. The greater part of the plant belongs to E. A. Rogers, from whom it was leased. Rogers had conducted the Courier for about twenty-five years, succeeding the noted John Marion as editor. Whether Rogers will take over the paper again or whether the Democrats will contribute a rejuvenation fund remains to be seen.

A start has been made at this end on the Prescott-Phoenix Territorial road, the Johnson-Shea Company of Los Angeles having the contract for the first thirteen miles.

The Secretary of the Interior has granted a right of way for the Humboldt and Verde Valley Railroad, which is designed to give transportation to one of the richest farming sections of Arizona, southeast of Prescott.

Del Thurber, the old Arizonan who killed a dozen of his horses and burros near Poland last week and then shot himself through the head above the ear, is recovering and may regain full possession of his faculties, despite the fact that a half ounce of brain matter was destroyed by the bullet.

James Moberly of Tempe, employed on a cattle train, lost an arm under the car wheels last Wednesday at Bellemont.

A bulletin of Superintendent Gibson of the Santa Fé warns all employés against drinking the city water at Winslow, declaring that it has been found to contain typhoid germs.

Dr. W. E. Day has received word that a bill has passed the Senate appropriating to him $1600 for services among the Hualpai Indians during a smallpox epidemic in 1883-4.

Mrs. J. C. Snow, after thirty-six years of continuous residence near Prescott, has gone to Los Angeles, there to visit with relatives. It is her first vacation since her arrival in Arizona.

NEW STUDIES IN NATURAL HISTORY.

The Glowworm Beetle.

M. J. H. Fabre, the famous French entomologist, has recently been studying the glowworm. M. Fabre finds that both male and female are luminous, although in the former the light is much feebler. Even the eggs and larvae are faintly luminous. The light is produced on the last three segments of the abdomen.

It may perhaps be worth while pointing out that the glowworm is not a worm, but an insect belonging to the great order of beetles, the Coleoptera. The mistaken name no doubt arises from the fact that the female is grublike in form, without either wings or elytra, and so singularly unlike a typical beetle. The male, however possesses both and flies swiftly. Luminosity among insects indeed is chiefly found in the beetle order. The Mexican fireflies (Pyrophorus,) for example, are beetles. Some of them give sufficient light to read by. Waterton sometimes used them in this way to write up his diary when wandering in the South American forests.

In adult life the glowworm is a vegetarian, feeding on tender leaves of plants, but while a grub it is carnivorous, feeding on snails and slugs. The light of the glowworm and fireflies has been called phosphorescent and attributed to phosphorus. One investigator, Jousset de Bellesme, has stated his conviction that it is phosphoretted hydrogen gas stored up in the cellular tissues and in communication with the nervous and repiratory systems.

M. Fabre, however, finds that phosphorus does not enter into the composition of the luminous substance of the glowworm. Under the microscope it is seen to be a sort of white plaster covering the epidermis and full of branching tubes. These, according to M. Fabre, supply the plaster with oxygen and so render it luminous. Thus the light is caused by the oxidation of something the nature of which the great naturalist has not yet been able to determine.

According to M. Fabre's observation the light is caused by the supply of oxygen which is under the control of the animal's breathing apparatus. Thus the glowworm can start, increase or extinguish the light at will. It has often indeed been observed to diminish or extinguish its light when approached. Gilbert White has an interesting note on this point. Observing two which had been brought into the garden, he found that they put out their lamps between 11 and 12 and shone no more for the rest of the night. It would appear, then, that whatever the nature of the luminous substance, this is only active when supplied with oxygen by the animal.

However produced, it is said that the light of firefly and glowworm is the most economical known. Economical—that is, in the sense that the greater part of the energy expended in producing it really appears as light. In the very best artificial system of lighting yet invented only a small percentage of the energy expended on its production is turned into light, the rest appearing as heat and other invisible vibrations.—[London Globe.

Owls Can See in Daylight.

Many persons have the impression that owls do not see in daylight, but this is a mistake. It may be possible that some species, such as the little barn or screech owl, cannot see much during the day, but, with most varieties it is evident they can see pretty well and are always on the lookout for danger.

The writer recalls an incident when a friend who was mounting a number of large birds, such as hawks and owls, learned that a great horned owl was in the habit of roosting in daylight on a certain high dead tree trunk that stood in a rather lonely spot in a piece of timber.

Desirous of obtaining this fine specimen for his collection, he took his long-range rifle, and going to that portion of the wood, he advanced within what he considered was a safe distance. He took what he supposed was careful aim and fired, but he was disappointed to see the owl fly away, leaving a bunch of feathers floating in the opposite direction. He had just touched it sufficiently to dislodge some of its plumage and frighten it.

The next day he went to the timber again and the owl had returned again. To fully determine whether the creature could really see, he left his rifle by a tree and walked near the old dead tree trunk, but the owl never moved. Thinking it either blinded by the bright light of day or asleep, he returned to the weapon and began to look for a good point from which to get a shot at the coveted prize.

As soon as he came within range with his rifle over his shoulder the bird again left the tree.

It was very evident the wise old owl knew too well the death-dealing power of that weapon and had made up his mind to take no chances. This was ample proof that an owl can see in daytime as well as in the night.—[Forest and Stream.

In the Disguise of

A Household Friend

Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate is a household friend in thousands of Los Angeles homes and is always warmly welcomed.

Thinking that by calling their imitation products by the name Ground Chocolate, they would receive an equally cordial reception, certain manufacturers have adopted this method of geting by your door.

But the disguise was too crude.

Only the name was alike without any of the well known features which have made our product so popular.

You can be sure of Ground Chocolate only by reading the label on the can and see that it bears the name of Ghirardelli. That's the genuine.
